ACTON AGAIN DEFEATS GUELPH

In the Game of the Big Four League Here on Saturday

The ball game between Guelph and Acton on Saturday proved to be one of the best games played in the Big Four League this season, Acton winning by a score of 4 to 2. The game was played in one hour and ten minutes.

Quite a crowd of people witnessed the game, among which were many ladies, much to the satisfaction of the Acton base ball management, who promised at the beginning of the season through these columns to put a stop to all rowdyism and make it safe for any lady to attend their games.

Acton won in the first innings by driving the ball safely for several hits. A wild throw to first by Guelph netting them four runs which was enough to win the game, as Guelph was lucky in securing two runs in the eighth innings on two hits, one a misjudged ball in the outfield.

The umpiring was the best seen in the park this season, and many requests have been made to try and secure such men to umpire all league all games played here and thus avoid such complications as arose on the field the Saturday proceeding, when the umpire's decisions were so erratic as to cause the crowd to stray out on the field with loud protest for a fair dosh delaying the game, much to the discomfort of the people in the grand stand.

The score on Saturday was as follows:

Guelph	A.B.	R.	H.	P.O.	A.	E.
Hamill, c.	4	0	0	8	1	0

REV. G. W. BARKER'S FAREWELL

"Think God's Thoughts; As a Man Thinketh in His Heart So Is He"

FAREWELL GATHERING TUESDAY EVENING

During the four years of his ministry, as pastor of the Methodist Church here, Rev. G. W. Barker has always favored his congregation with bright helpful sermons, fresh in thought, fervent in spirit, and careful in the exposition of the passages of scripture selected. His closing sermons last Sunday were also of this character and were equal in all respects to any of his pastorate. They were superior perhaps in point of eloquence and impressive appeal. Both morning and evening he prefaced his discourse with the remark that he had not selected any doleful subject, calculated to rouse the emotions owing to the severance of the tie of pastor and people. His thought was to continue the work he had faithfully endeavored to do during the four years of his ministry here.

Large congregations gathered at both services, but at the evening service the audience was unusually large, and was an exceedingly cordial tribute of the people, considering the extreme heat which prevailed.

The text of the morning sermon was based upon Ps. 119; 11; "Thy word have I hid in my heart, that I might not sin against Thee." One thought, he said, pervades this Psalm with its 176 verses, the excellence, the beauty and power of God's law. There is music in its monotony, subtle and varied. The eleventh verse is one of the most beautiful in its reflective power. Not the thought of sin, but the danger of being separated from God was the Psalmist's thought. The only way by which we can enter the holy of holies is to have God enshrined in our hearts. When a man has God's word stored in his heart he is able to see God. His strength comes not alone from his environment, but from his inward knowledge of the truth. We need to have God's word hid in our hearts for times of pain and afflictions. It is often the only help and refuge and comfort and sympathy we have.

The text of the evening discourse was Phil. 4; 8; "Finally brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." The value of a man's worth is the measure of the things in his mind and heart. As a man thinketh in his heart so is he. Thoughts are omnipotent when they have been given right of way in man's mind. How fruitful are the thoughts of man? They lift us to God or send us into the realms of woe. How important that our thinking should be along right lines. We have been given by God Almighty a will which must say what our thoughts shall be. They must be under the control of our will. "Young men and women," said the preacher in tender appeal, "let me speak to you in great earnestness to-night. If you sow a thought you reap a habit, your habits form your character, and your character makes your destiny. The thoughts of Jesus Christ are planted in the human heart through God's great transformation. Thinking God's thoughts we become God-like, beautiful in character, noble in our conduct. Living with Christ we think Christ's thoughts and become Christ-like. It is given to you and to me to write in human hearts, God's thoughts, and live lives noble pure and helpful to our fellowman."

In his closing words Mr. Barker said: "I have now reached one of the most difficult experiences in my ministry, that of saying farewell. We have spent four happy, busy years with you and we have learned to love you. Acton has been our home and we have had a happy time in your midst. We have given you our very best. We have not spared ourselves. We have gone into your homes in your times of rejoicing and we have rejoiced with you; we have been with you in sorrow and have sorrowed with you. We thank you most cordially for your great kindnesses and shall bear away from Acton very tender memories. I think with much pleasure of the kindness manifested towards us by other congregations of the town. It has been most cordial. I reflect also upon the great kindness of the young men of the town toward me. They have invariably been kind, considerate and gentlemanly toward me. My ministry has not been all I would have had it. I have realized my failures more keenly than you can have done, and have often left the pulpit depressed and discouraged with my effort, but I had given you the best that was in me.

Rev. Mr. Barker announced that on sunday next Rev. Dr. Antliff, the new pastor of the Church, would be in the pulpit and that he would also be present at the week-night prayer meeting on Friday evening to get acquainted with the congregation. For Dr. Antliff he bespoke the same love and affection that had been his, and he paid a high tribute to the many excellent qualities of the man who is to follow him in the work here.

Engineering Board of Quebec Bridge Call on Experts.

Ottawa, June 29.—The engineering board of the Quebec Bridge has not been able to agree as to whether the present piers will be sufficient to carry the new structure. The piers were built to carry a bridge weighing thirty-five thousand tons and the new structure will weight fifty thousand tons.

The statute under which the commission was appointed to prepare bridge plans provides that, in any case where the engineers fail to agree in opinion on any point, the advice of two additional engineers shall be obtained. Henry Holgate, C.E., of Montreal, and Alfred Noble, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania tunnel at New York, have accepted an invitation to give an opinion whether the present piers are sufficient, whether the span should be shortened by building additional piers further out in the river, or whether the bridge should be erected on a new site.
