Methodist Communion Service.
The Quarterly Sacramental Services held in the Methodist Church last Sunday were very impressive and interesting. The Love Feast at 10 a.m. was well attended. At the evening service Rev. Dr. Antillif gave a very helpful discourse on the origin, mode and importance of the observance of the Lord's Supper, and the place it holds as a sacrament of the Christian Church.

A Little Girl's Surprise Party.
Alma Gillette, the 18-month-old daughter of Harry Gillette, while playing on the veranda at home on Boardwalk Avenue, at Monday evening, fell from the railing to the ground, about three feet below, and struck her forehead on a board containing a rusty nail. A long jagged wound was torn in her forehead requiring seven stitches. The poor little tot has suffered a good deal from the wound.

Enjoying Herself at Plymouth.
A letter from Miss Mamie Maunus, dated July 30th, says she and her travelling companion, Miss Ward, of St. Thomas, arrived at Plymouth two days before, after a delightful voyage. They intend to remain with friends at Plymouth for a time, and will then proceed to the British Isles. They had already visited the Isle of Wight and the spot from which the Pilgrim Fathers embarked for America. Plymbridge and the Dartmoor are points of interest which have also been visited.

Miss Crawford, who by the way claims Cheltenham as her birthplace, and was the daughter of the late Rev. Dr. John Crawford, Baptist minister there, is an enthusiastic missionary.

The story of her work with the Indians, and the splendid success achieved, are like a romance, but underlying it all there is evidence of indefatigable, consecrated and patient effort, an much self-denial. The messages brought relating to her many experiences, the performance of her work as a teacher, vary were ably rehearsed and full of fire.

She showed that there had been old-fashioned conversations among the Indians of the tribe with whom she had labored, and that real old-fashioned results followed. She believes in keeping to the old theology and "wants none of new trash."

Miss Crawford has been working under the American Woman's Board, the local Mission Society, and the Canadian Board.
