ON THE GIVING OF ADVICE

You will remon, ber the old, commdrum about what is it that everybody gives and nobody takes. Of course, ita advice. When a newspaper advises a merchant or a manufacturer to put brand on his goods and to keep that brand or trade name constantly before the eye of the newspaper reader, the person to whom the advice is given naturally asks what right have you to advise me? You're a prejudiced witnose, you are talking from your own all night long. self-interest. Perhaps there is something in that, too. But here is the advice of a gentleman far removed from any position | wherein he might be accused of having is a good thing. I always believed in selfish onds to serve. First, the ad- it, but not on the towpath." vice, then the author:

The commercial world is just emerging from the cloudy skies o the past twelve months, and new avenues of trade are being sought out by every wide-awake business man-Amidst it all the one road which the history of thousands of successos demonstrate as safe and sure to travel, Is that of newspaper publicity, properly done.-The Globe.

JUST LIKE GOD

A mother was talking to her little girl of the love of God to us. She repeated the beautiful verse, "For God so loved the world that He gave Ille only begotten Bon that whosoover bolloveth in Him shall not perish, but have overlasting life," and said, "Isn't it wonderful dear, that God should love us so much as that ?" To her surprise the child replied, "No, mannia, I don't think it wonderful." The mother said, "Why, daughter, don't you know that God's love is wonderful?" "I think it would be wonderful if it were any one else," said the child, "but it's just like God."-The Delinea-
