A LITTLE BEHEMOTH

Never a day is lost, dear.
At night you can truly say You've done me kindly deed, Or smoothed some rugged way.
Never a day is dark, dear, Where the sunshine of home may call.
And when the sweet home voices May answer when you call.
Never a day is sad, dear,
If it brings a set of fun.
A kind man makes me dear,
And a thought of work well done.
The Young Folks.

SPARKLES

"That bright cat!" "What's the matter girl?"
"Oh, the cat went to sleep on my new hat, and I wore her down-town and back."

A lady took a little six-year-old to call upon her physician. The doctor said the little girl upon his knee and said: "I think you had better come and see me."

"Why I can't," said the little one, because I'm my papa's little girl."
"But you have lived with your papa six years, now you can come and live with my six years," urged the doctor.
The little girl looked at him plying ly."

"That isn't the way they do it," she said decidedly, "when they gets 'em they keep 'em."

Maudie's father objected to the man she wanted to marry, and she objected to the man he wanted her to marry, but finally they agreed on a third party."

"And so she's going to marry the compromised?"
"No; the man objects."

Little Ruth is the five-year-old daughter of a Methodist minister, living one of the large city churches. One evening, she climbed upon her father's knee, and her mother coaxing way, had him to buy her a doll.

"But Ruth, objecting her father,
"I haven't the money."

"Well," replied the child quickly, "why can't you take up another special collection."

BOME ADVERTISING POINTERS

Advertising does not cost the advertiser anything. He gets his money back in his increased trade. It is really the non-advertising country merchant who pays for the advertising of the mail order houses, for he loses the business that avails the trade of the departmental store.

Examine the advertising of any mail order house, and you will find the three following points strongly featured in it:

1. The advertising is regular. In the newspapers and general magazines in which space is used, the appeal is a continuous issue-after-issue basis. Similarly with the catalogues and circulars, a regular mailing list is used and a continuous stream of literature sent out.

2. Large space is used. Full-page space is the general rule of the mail order house—seldom does it run below a half-page. The same liberal policy is evident in their catalogues and circulars, advertising also.

Prices are always given. A departmental store never wastes space with the reproduction of its business card.—Printer and Publisher.

DISEGOTED

The negro elevator boy in an uptown apartment had been sent by an eight-floor tenant to get a watch for who had dropped out of the window. "Is this what you wanted, master?" he asked, as he handed over the pieces.
And he added, as he glibly accepted the expected tip: "Was it in dot dis-sociated condition when you drapt it, ma'am?"

SPARE TIME

Students in psychology at Harvard are reporting a new willfulness of Prof.
William James. Professor James, it appears, nags this comment on a rich idle sophomore from New York: "What time he can spare from the attention of his person he devotes to the neglect of his duties."

Invest 25 cents in a box of Davis' Menthol Salve ("The D. & L.") and be prepared for a hundred ailments, which may not be dangerous but are very annoying and painful, like neuralgia, carache, sprains, burns, bruises, insect stings, cuts, piles, etc. It is a household remedy always useful for some trouble, and should be kept in the family medicine closet.

FRESH DISCOVERY OF AN OLD TRUTH
Helen's enjoyment of the party given in honor of Dr. Miles' birthday was nearly spoiled by the ill-tempered outbreaks of a very pretty and well-behaved little girl who was among her guests.

A police officer appeared, however, in a plain and rather ugly child, who proved herself a veritable little angel of tact and good-will.

After her playmates were gone, Helen talked it all over very seriously with her mother. She summed it up in this piece of philosophical wisdom:
"Well, I've found out one thing, momma. Folk's don't always match folk's outside."—Woman's Home

WHY GRANDMA FAILED

Katherine's grandmother generally brought her a piece of candy or a nut when she returned from school. Once, however, she forgot, and Katherine never thinking that she could be forgotten, asked, "Wasn't there anything loose, grandma?" The Delin-

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

Mr. Fred. Biggs, Kingston, Ont., writes: "I was originally run down by blood weakness of colds, and I had to go so weak I would be compelled to stay in bed for weeks at a time. I could not be pale and tired; never once thought I was sick. I took Burdock Blood Bitters, and to my great surprise, a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I did not have one bottle when I began to use it, but I had to use six bottles. I gained ten pounds in two weeks. When I began to take it I only weighed fifty-three pounds. It is now my daily drink. I am never expected to be strong again, will tell every sufferer of your wonderful medicine."

NOWHERE ELSE

This new inhalator was making his first judicial appearance. There had been an addition that day to Little Helen's family of dolls, and an infectious follower. Pleased with his reception, she announced with pride that the doll was a birthday present.

"And how old are you, my dear?" inquired the clergymen kindly.

"Five years old," was the reply.

"Ah, then you haven't lived long in this world," was the rejoinder.

"I've lived here all my life," the protested gravely.—Woman's Home
