OUR CHRISTMAS NUMBER

It is with a good deal of satisfaction that we present our special Christmas number with the regular edition this morning. It is the third number of the kind ever issued from the office, and we feel certain, will be given a cordial reception by our regular readers and the public generally. Its contents are artistic, thoroughly interesting and representative, breathe forth very vividly the Christmas spirit, show in beautifully executed engravings some of the most pleasant scenes points of Canada, and points and persons of interest in our own town. A feature which will appreciate very fully what the manufacturers are carefully working is the splendid representation of the manufacturers, tradesmen, men and merchants, whose advertisements appear on the various pages. The announcements are interesting in themselves and will be studied with profit. It was the generous and general support of our loyal business community which rendered possible the presentation of such an attractive Christmas number.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Board of Education has passed a resolution that for the future the rate regulating the salaries of the public school teachers, except the principal, shall be that they begin at $400 per year and advance $25 each year until the maximum of $500 is reached.

Mayor Deacon, of Milton, has announced that he will not accept any position in the council of that town for the year 1911. His official duties demand all his time. Mr. Deacon's withdrawal from municipal affairs in the county town will be a distinct loss to that municipality. He has been a most faithful, and energetic representative of Milton's best interests, and has preserved the dignity of the important office with distinction.

The annual crop report of the Nova Scotia Government has been issued. It states that with the exception of fruit, all crops have been exceptionally good, and the latter have been among the most prosperous in the history of the agriculture of the province. The hay crop shows an increase of twenty-five per cent. over last year. Oats show a similar increase, while the yields of wheat and barley were at least twenty per cent. greater. The department states that fruit crops have been a signal failure and the export trade has been seriously affected. Instead of a crop of 800,000 barrels of apples as was the case last year, there will be only 225,000 barrels available this year for home and foreign consumption.

"A community of autonomous self-governing, yet allied, nations, is in the making in Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India, wherein the Golden Rule of Righteousness will be the law of the jungle, in realization of Tommey's 'Federation of the World.' These are the slogan of the times interpreted in an eloquent editorial which adorns the first page of reading matter in the handsome 1910 Christmas number of 'The Farmer's Advocate and Home Magazine.' Answering the question, what shall preserve this galaxy of nations from the decay and dissolution that overtook powerful states in the past, the writer, reading the plain warnings of history, concludes, 'Would Canada flower and reproduce herself in national greatness, this sublime achievement will not be by arms, nor battles, nor railways nor waterways, nor keels, nor colonies, nor sales, nor prosperity, but by Men—the product of a slow church, regenerated schools and Christian homes—Men who know their duties and sustain their rights. The vastness of her problems, the rigor of her environment and the complexity of her people stimulate the travail of self-sacrifice and high endeavor, out of which a nation destined to live gloriously has been born.'

Matters are unusually quiet in municipal circles. It seems to be a foregone conclusion that the members of the present Council will be re-elected. Such a course would surely be commendable. The members of the present Council are all alert business men interested in the progress and careful and economical administration of the affairs of the municipality. They have, however, during the year, been continually and strenuously interested in the matters committed to their care, and have faithfully attended the regular, special and committee meetings, often sacrificing business and social interests and personal convenience. Reeve Hyndes and Mr. Bell with their lengthened municipal experience, have judiciously guided municipal business, and the new members have each shown an aptitude for the business coming before them which has been commendable. The members are all better qualified to-day than they were a year ago for the administration of the affairs pertaining to the city's government, and it will be wisdom on the part of the ratepayers to pay them the compliment of re-election by acclamation. The P.U.C. can be pleased, therefore, in nominating as the candidate for 1911:

REEVES—George Hyndes.

COUNCILLORS—Alex. Bell, A. T. Brown, Murray McDonald and W. M. Cooper.

ABLE SERMONS BY DR. MOORE
His Home Church Gave the General
Secretary of Simplicity and Moral Reformation a Cordial Welcome.

FIRST PUBLIC WORK IN HIS NEW OFFICE

Rev. T. Albert Moore, D. D., General Secretary of Simplicity and Moral Reformation of the Methodist Church, spent Sunday and Monday in his old home, and delivered his first sermon since coming into his new office, on Sunday, in the church here, which was the spiritual home of his father, and his own spiritual birthplace.

The old adage that "A prophet is not without honor save in his old home" has never been true of Rev. Dr. Moore, for he has always been cordially welcomed to his home, i.e., his old friends and associates have always been proud of his progress and achievement, and the welcome was no less cordial if possible than the occasion than "in the past." Many expressions of congratulation upon his election to his new position, one of the highest and most important in the church which he has faithfully served as one of its founders for thirty-one years, and for a long period as one of the first officials of its governing body.

Dr. Moore preached ably and eloquently sermons, addressed the Sunday School in the afternoon, and delivered a very acceptable address at the banquet on Monday evening.

The sermon in the morning was a most earnest call to the church to a persistent and dedicated evangelism with the object of bettering all conditions in life. "Behold, I send unto you prophets, and wise men, and scribes, ye walk in the light of the Lord."

The prophecy of Isaiah, he said, was a cry to the people to the living of a better life; to a higher relationship, to a greater power with God, and over the nations of the world.

The nation was suffering from the refusal of God's way, God's will and God's law. It failed, not because of lack of resources, opportunity or power, but because of disobedience.

This prophet enjoined the people to walk in the light of the Lord, and partake of the spiritual joy of the way of the Lord, the mental uplift, the physical blessings and the material enrichment.

He called upon us to activity in taking a onward step, reaching out after others, a cleaning of the church and a walking in the better way.

The results of walking in the light of the Lord brought the children of Israel, and will always bring all people, into the way of peace, the way of power and the way of purifying.

In the evening the text was, "Jesus went about through all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom." Matt. 4: 23.

In the introduction he pointed out that although the Jews had ceased to be a nation, and were governed from Rome, yet Jesus came declaring the great tidings of the coming Kingdom.

The gospel is for the nation, as well as for the individual. This is the one hundredth reference, tonational life and the kingdom in the four gospels.

The platform of principles for His kingdom is outlined in the sermon on the mount, and finds its most practical expression in the beatitudes, the golden rule, and the Lord's prayer.

Christ's rule must ultimately be universal. He will bring all nations and people into subjection. Sometimes when sin flouts its shame it livens up this locality considerably.

The G. T. R. have completed the widening of the crossing here. They have also erected new fences to hold the snow on the hill leading up to the crossing. This will greatly improve this crossing which is considered a very dangerous place.

The sermon on Monday night at the Methodist Church was a success in every respect.
