AND J.L. ENGLEHART CAME AT A TIME OF BIG EXODUS.

The Man Who Is Now at the Head of Ontario's ... Public Hailway Cama From the United States In the Early Eightles-Is a Man of Private Means and Loves His Work and His Employes.

It was in the eighties, when all the talk was of Camulians trokking to. the United States, that peveral Americans of greater foresight reversed the process and came to Canada. only such outstanding figures as the late Exra B. Eddy of Hull, Quo., and the late Hiram Walker of Walkerville, who built up husinesses which are known practically throughout the Empire, but also such railway magnates as Bir William Van Horne, Bir Thomas Shaughnessy and Mr. C. M. Hays. To this honorable roll belongs by right the name of Jacob Lowis Englohart, chairman of the Temiakaming & Northern Ontario Railway Commission, and vice-president of the Imperial Oil Co., Ltd.-a man who represents a type of worthy, useful, soil made and splendid citizenship nontoo frequently-met-with in-Canada. Mr. Englehart was born in Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 2, 1847, his parent; being John Joel Englohart and Hunnah Richards Englebart. His schooldays were brief, for he left Cloveland in 1860, at the age of thirteen years. and went to New York, where he entered the Pine street offices of Bonn born, Drafoo & Co., an oil-exporting firm, as clerk and rose by his own of forts to be a partner in the concern. In 1870 Mr. Englehart came to Ontario to investigate the oil fields, and, perceiving their possibilities, he decided upon the establishment of the first refining works for export in Ontario. While retaining his New York connection. he sounded the firm of J. L. Englehart & Co. at London. After six hart sold out, and was on the point of returning to the United States, when he purchased the works of the Carbon Oil Co., and moved them to Petrolis, where the principal oil wells mt of the town. In 1881 the Imperial-Oil Co. was established, Mr. Englecoming vice-president, a posttion which he still holds. The compeny was reorganized in 1801, and the refineries removed to Sarnia.

After definitely deciding to remain in Canada, he had assumed British citizenship, and chose Conservatism as his political faith. He took part in many election contests, but sought no political honors. When the Whitney Government assumed power Mr. Endehart's prominence us a successful usiness man and his intimate knowl edge of railway affairs marked him out for preferment when the Touls-Commission was being reor-On his return from Europe n 1906 he was appointed to membership on the commission, and when' Mr. Cecil B. Smith resigned the chair-manship soon after, Mr. Englehart was regarded as his logical successor for this important post. The salient' characteristics of Mr. Englehart are his simultaneous grasp of the broadest aspect and the most minute detail of any subject, and his unfailing courtesy and affability. The visitor to the offices of the commission Andsitte hand cary of access. urbane of manner, debonair of person, and unvaryingly genial and obliging. member of the Government who drops in, a railway magnate come to confer topon momentous mattars a newspaperman in search of information, or the humblest employe of the road with grievance or a request—all alike are made to feel welcome and at ease. In the conduct of the affairs of the Temiskaming Railway Mr. Englehart has adopted what might be call ed the paternal, not to say the pa-triarchal, method. The employes of the road are made to feel that they are not only active partners, but members of one big family. In addition, Mr. Englehart keeps close watch upon the work of all employes, and the man whose monthly report makes a good showing is liable to receive a personal lutter of commendation _ for _ excellent ...work done, with a hint that the faithful and efficient performance of duty will not be forgotten.

Possessing abundant means of his own, the $5,000 salary which he reseives as chairman of the commission is but a bagatelle to Mr. Englehart. His pleasure has wever been in acnumulating money, but in using it wisely. His services to the people of Ontario are given freely, not for the monetary return which he receives, but for the pleasure he takes in demonstrating the possibilities of success in Government ownership and operation of a great public utility.

THE LATEST HEALTH PAD

People must go to bed earlier and get up earlier in the morning. The doctors are insisting upon that. They claim that 90 per cent. of the people of this country are ruining their race for the future by refusing to get up before 7 o'clock in the morning. They should get up at that hour at least. if not earlier, and take a two mile walk or ride on a bloycle or horse. and one doctor says there is no use pleading poverty against that because none are so mor they cannot walk. Then they will have appetites for breakfast, and botter health. But they must get the children to bed by o'clock at night and retire themselves as early as 11. always tired mough to go right to sleep.
