It Takes a Clever Modiste to Make Dresses of Fashion, Beauty and Grace

None but an expert could fashion garments of such character and distinction. Beauty and grace of line appears in every one of them. It requires skill and long experience to create from simple cotton textures

Some are plain enough for morning wear, others sufficiently elaborate for dress occasions, but all display new and attractive features. Materials represent quality as well as beauty. Duplicating these gowns, either ready made or by purchasing the materials and having them made up, would prove a well nigh impossible task, at the prices we quote. If you are looking for dainty, useful wash frocks, and don't mind saving on their cost, you are bound to be interested in this display of smart, new models that we have priced so moderately. --
