BRIEFS

The rock of adversity generally has a little eye on the side.

The more faults a man has, the more he believes in himself.

To-morrow's burdens always prove too much for today's back.

It's a sad day when a man lets his interests determine his principles.

The fool and his money are what viscount keep the rest of us from starving to death.

He who has health has hope, and he who has hope has everything.—Aristotle

When an old bachelor marries his woman acquaintances all wonder that he didn't do it sooner and his man friends wonder how he happened to get caught.

In the good old days when "Wicks" and "Larlin" went together, a teacher's preparation did not necessarily include a course in a university or normal school.

To county examiner in one of the states of the Mississippi valley once asked a young man what special preparation he had made for teaching.

The candidate answered, "I've dug my latrine, sold my mare, and now I'm ready to go to it."

"I will give you $10 if you will put me wise to one problem," interrupted the client impatiently.

"What was it that my wife told me to bring home for dinner tonight?"

INDRE SYSTEM THAN KNOWLEDGE

A successful Chicago man of the self-made variety, having purchased a fine library by the foot, was showing it with some pride to a friend of literary attainments.

The self-made man ran his business on the "Bible" to set people upon the horse, and will tone, renovate and purify the liver.

Occupying a prominent place in the "Travel" case, the friend noticed a very handsome volume with the title in gold letters on the back, "Alice in Wonderland."

THE HIPPOPOTAMUS

It is still very much in evidence in the African wilds.

Huge, untidily least as he is, of movement and without special means of defence, or a superabundance of the intelligence, the hippopotamus has yet held his own against his human foes during the last half-century.
