ROCKWOOD

News has reached here of the safe arrival of Miss Frances Garbush at Buenos Aires, South America, and her marriage as follows:

A very pretty wedding was celebrated in Buenos Aires, Argentine Republic, on Thursday, June 22nd, when Frances Penelope, eldest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Garbush, of Cayuga, Ont., formerly of Rockwood, became the bride of Dr. H. H. Barker, of Buenos Aires, formerly of Hurford, Ont., and graduate of the University of Buffalo, also of New York State University. The ceremony was performed by Rev. N. N. Bauman, of the American Methodist Episcopal Church.

The bride looked very sweet and pretty in her travelling suit of blue with hat to match, and wearing a corsage bouquet of lilacs of the valley and a handsome diamond brooch, the gifts of the groom. After the ceremony a delectable wedding breakfast was partaken of at Garbush's, where the rooms were most gorgeously decorated in white, festooned with vines and beautiful white roses, chrysanthemums and carnations.

In the centre of the bride's table was a large basket of white roses and ferns. After the usual toasts had been proposed and duly received the congratulations of all present before proceeding to Oliver, one of the many charming resorts along the banks of the River Plata where their honeymoon was spent. The presents were numerous and costly and included a solid silver tea service.
