New Fall Suits for Men

All the requirements of good taste are met by this Fall showing of Men's Suits under Twenty Dollars. We say that advisedly, knowing that it wouldn't be good taste to economize on a purchase—if the quality were not indisputably dependable; or the suit not in the season's best style or approved pattern and color; or if the workmanship fell short of the high standard mark you'd set for your own tailor; or the fitting were anything other than faultless. All the requirements of good taste are met by this splendid assemblage of high grade yet not costly suits.

Suits at $10-Cut in three-button, single-bresst-ed style. Made up in both tweeds and worsteds, mixed greys, browns and greens. The tailoring is what you would expect in high grade clothing; showing well built shoulders and neat long lapels. Trousers full and made to hang neatly.
