THE FRESH-AIR BROTHERS

Sing a song of Sleeping-Porch, a fourth of each one locked him up until he had entirely recovered. On the second day of his captivity, he sat in his cell thrifty beyond words, the minister came from a village merry-making to give him consolation and good advice.

They sat down side by side and the double read the parables of the Prodigal Son. The prisoner seemed to hang on the words. He nudged up close on the chair, leaning forward until his face was almost to the minister's face. "Please read it through again," he said when the double had finished the chapter and started to close the Good Book. Touched by this further sign of penitence, the minister read it over.

"Oh me, poor man," he said when he was done, "what was it held you so close—as it is the lesson of the Scripture or was it the words?"

"No, old man," said the prisoner, "it was your grand speech."

WHEN DO YOU KNOW
Hedge—"You never know what you can do till you try."
Waggs—"That's wrong. You never know what you can do till you succeed."
Braggs—"Well perhaps that's better."
Weggs—"And then you're wrong. You never know what you can do when you succeed. You only know what you have been able to do."

NATURAL CONSEQUENCE
"Are you dining anywhere on Wednesday, Spongelight?"
"No, old man, I'm not. Do you?"
"Then you'll be awfully hungry on Thursday, won't you?"

NATURE STOPS
When the Kidneys Give out
Do you feel that you simply can't go any farther—that you must have rest for that lame and aching back—relief from that constant deadening feeling—freedom from those stabbing, darting pains? It is nature's warning that the kidneys are giving out and that you need the help of Boggs' Kidney Pills, the guaranteed kidney remedy. In every machine there is one part that works the hardest and gives out first. The kidneys work night and day, and naturally a life of unusual activity doubles the duties of the kidneys and in time the strain tells. The kidneys give out and nature cries, "Stop." Boggs' Kidney Pills are sold by all dealers, drug stores and full months, devoting his summer vacation to life-saving. The record of this work has been forwarded to the Carnegie Hero Fund, and it is regarded as probable that he will receive a medal.

BRIEFS
The lazy man considers all toil slavery.
The word always looks brighter from a smile.
You can't butter it when you have to swallow pride.
When you trip up, fall forward, and get further along.
People who take too much liberty take it all at once.
Women are vain, but men are much more so with far less reason.
Many a man is in great feat that he will get all that is coming to him.
Many a champion who has conquered himself is uneasy in this world.
Many inherit weak lungs, and as a disease usually assails the weakest exposed to attacks of cold and pneumonia.
Bickie's Anti-Consumptive Syrup will be found a preventive and a protection, strengthening the organs so that they are not so liable to derangement from exposure or abrupt atmospheric changes. Bickie's Syrup is cheap and good.

HAD THE ADVANTAGE
Two Irishmen were digging a sewer. One was a big, tall, strong man, about 6 feet 4 inches in height, and the other was a little, puny man, about 4 feet 6 inches. The former came along to see how the work was progressing, and noticed that one of them was doing more work than the other. So he called down to the big fellow and says: "Look here, now it is that little Micky Doggan, who is only half as big as you, is doing twice as much work as you." Glancing down at Micky, Fat replied: "And why shouldn't he, ain't he nearer to it?"

NOT ONE WITHOUT THE OTHER
We must not anticipate success without difficulties, but on the other hand, we must not look for difficulties without success. The first mistake is that of over-confidence, and second, and more serious, is the fatal blindness of pessimism. Expect obstacles, in the nature of the case, but look over and beyond them to ultimate success.

ITS GOOD QUALITIES
Aspiring Vocalist—Professor, do you think I will ever be able to do anything with my voice?
Pursuing Teacher—Well, it might come in handy in case of fire or shipwreck.

A KING'S WORK
The young King of Belgium is ardently devoted to scientific achievement. He has just completed a radio-telegraph system, fitted up by himself at his own expense at the royal palace, for the purpose of conducting experiments. He has devised a means for locating the exact distance between terrestrial stars. All that is necessary to send a wireless message, say from Brussels to France, and not the exact hour of transmission and receipt of the transmission. As the passage of the Cartesian waves are practically instantaneous, the difference in time gives the distance in latitude. The King intends to do his utmost to furnish to the world complete maps of the Congo region in Africa.

THE MAIN ATTRACTION

The town drunkard of a small Scotch community went on an evening walk and the village authorities locked him up until he had entirely recovered. On the second day of his captivity, he sat in his cell thrifty beyond words, the minister came from a village merry-making to give him consolation and good advice.

They sat down side by side and the double read the parables of the Prodigal Son. The prisoner seemed to hang on the words. He nudged up close on the chair, leaning forward until his face was almost to the minister's face. "Please read it through again," he said when the double had finished the chapter and started to close the Good Book. Touched by this further sign of penitence, the minister read it over.

"Oh me, poor man," he said when he was done, "what was it held you so close—as it is the lesson of the Scripture or was it the words?"

"No, old man," said the prisoner, "it was your grand speech."

SUFFERED TERRIBLE PAINS OF INDIGESTION.

MILBURN'S LAX-LIVER PILLS
CURED HER.
Mrs. Wm. H. MacFerson, Mount Vernon, N.Y., writes: "For more than a year I suffered with all the terrible pains of indigestion, and my life was one of the greatest misery. It did not seem to make any difference whether I ate or not, the pains were always there, accompanied by a severe bloating and belching of wind. I did not even get relief at night, and my misery I tried many remedies said to cure indigestion, but they did me no good. At last I was told of your pills and I would always be afflicted in this way. At this time my brother came home on a visit and urged me to try Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills, and got me a few vials. By the time I had taken one vial I began to feel better, and could eat with some relief. I was greatly cheered, and continued taking the pills until all traces of the trouble had disappeared, and I could once more eat all kinds of food without the slightest inconvenience. Their virtue as a family medicine, I have no hesitation in recommending them."

"Dr. Miles' Nervine Completely Cured Our Little Boy of Fits."

A family can suffer no greater affliction than to have a child subject to fits or epilepsy. Many a father or mother would give their all to restore such a child to health.

"I am heartily glad to tell you of our little boy who was completely cured of fits. He commenced having them at 10 years of age and had four or five years. I tried three doctors and one specialist but all of them said he could not be cured, but Dr. Miles' Nervine cured him. He is now hale, hearty and gay. It has been three years since he had the last fit. I shall give Dr. Miles' Nervine to my children. I will give you my name and my address if you will send me your medicine in return." M. B. HOGUE, Windfall, Ind.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

"That Trying Telephone"

Several evenings ago a young man reported to a telephone office and rang up the sweetheart at her residence. "Is that you?" "Yes, George dear," came the reply. "Are you alone?" "Yes, darling." "I wish I was there." "I wish so, too." "If I were there do you know what I would do with you, darling?" "No, George, I do not." And then somehow the lines got mixed and this is what she heard: "Well, I'd pull her ears back till she opened her mouth, and then I'd put a lump of lead in it. If that didn't answer I'd give her a sound thrashing. Now they never speak as they pass by, and the man who was talking to me earlier about a hairy man says that anyone who would advise a man to put his arms around the neck of an obnoxious woman should be hung to the nearest lamp-post."
