DROWNED AT OKOTOKS
Frank, the son of D. J. Moore, aged nineteen, a student at the High School here and a son of D. J. Moore, of Calgary, was drowned last night in the mill pond here. Deceased was talking with a chum named Alex. Connell, of Gladys, and being unable to swim, got beyond his depth and drowned. Connell did everything possible to save his friend, and after his ineffectual efforts, gave the alarm.

Among those who came yesterday to the pond in the hope of getting the body, was without result. The water was then run out of the pond and the body recovered. Coroner Murray and Dr. Arnold made every effort to resuscitate deceased but without avail.

W. R. Morrison's automobile was then sent to Calgary to bring out the dead boy's father, who arrived here at an early hour this morning. Deceased was very popular here. His family lived at Okotoks until recently, and when they removed to Calgary left the son here to continue his studies. He was a clever student and a splendid football player. The school is closed today on account of the accident.—Calgary Herald.

O. T. R. Smashup at Tansley
The O. T. R. passenger train from Hamilton to Georgetown ran off the track on Tuesday afternoon. Not much damage was done but the passengers were delayed about four hours. Mrs. W. Laird and Mrs. N. P. Moore, who were attending the District meeting of the Women's Institute at Burlington, were on the train with relatives. Removing to Georgetown.

Mr. D. A. Orr, who purchased the general store business of W. Garbig several months ago, is removing this week to Stouffville. The clearing out of the store, which has been accumulating for a number of years, will give the public a confidence in the character of a new stock that may be put in this store.

Anton Holds the Honor
The Globe published in its magazine section recently the portrait of Mr. J. K. Morrison, Hanham, who has been continuously postmaster there since 1856, and states that he is probably the oldest postmaster in Canada. Our esteemed postmaster, Mr. Jas. Matthews, can show a longer record. His appointment dates from 1855.

Another Book House
Mr. Ben. Green has purchased the right cast books on the Warren property on Mill Street and will remove it to his lot at the corner of Riga and Agnes Streets and veneer with brick. This house was erected by Mr. P. S. Armstrong, now of Nebraska, about forty years ago. It will show less of the wear and tear when Mr. Green gets through with it.

Discipline Convention at Grand Valley
The convention of the Ontario Association of Disciples closed at Grand Valley last week after a very interesting session. The officers for the year were elected as follows: President Rev. Amos Towell, B. A., Guelph; Vice-President, Rev. J. D. Stephens, Poplar Hill; Recording Secretary, Rev. Y. G. O. W. Parsons, Grand Valley; Treasurer, Mr. C. A. Fleming, Owen Sound; Corresponding Secretary, Mr. C. E. Burton; J. Ward, Mr. H. B. Butcher, Toronto; Dr. T. J. Page, Toronto; Mr. James Whitbread, Walkerton; Mr. D. A. McMillan, West Lorne; Rev. R. K. Kemm, St. Thomas, and officers. The convention decided to invite the International gathering of this communion to meet at Toronto next year. About 5,000 delegates attend that body.

The Methodist Church Sheds
The work of reshingling and improving the Methodist Church sheds has now been completed and the premises are now in excellent condition. About $1,000 was expended in shingling, painting, laying cement flooring and other improvements. For thirty years these sheds have been open for the use of the general public. The trustees feel that they have a duty to do in making these sheds more comfortable and more useful. They will exercise reasonable care against damage. Slip the repairs were made one careless farmer with a team drove against one of the sheds, splitting the new face board.

Home Wedding at Revere House
The marriage of Miss Jean Hynde, youngest daughter of Leove and Mrs. Geo. Hynde, Acton, to Mr. Nelson H. Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. H. Gordon, Revere, was celebrated on Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mill Street. The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her father. She wore a gown of gold colored satin with tulle of white and pearl trimmings, and carried a shower bouquet of peonies and lilies of the valley tied with chiffon streamers. The wedding march was played by Miss Lillian Williams, organist at the church, and during the signing of the register, Miss Margaret Gordon, sister of the groom, sang very sweetly. The groom's gift to the bride was a piano. Many beautiful gifts were bestowed, including handkerchiefs from the bride's parents and the staff of Messrs. Boardman & Co. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Gordon left for Toronto and other places. The bride travelled in a special railroad suit of tan with tulle and lace. Among the guests present were: Mr. Clarence Gordon, Winnipeg, Mr. and Mrs. E. Pascoe, Toronto, and Mr. E. Ferguson, Toronto.

Death of Superintendent Taylor
Acton lost a very worthy citizen when Superintendent Taylor passed away at the General Hospital, Guelph, on Tuesday morning. His death was due to lead poisoning contracted in a paint mill in Victoria, B. C., where he was on a prospecting trip a year ago last spring for a few months. He was ill there for several weeks but recovered and returned home in June and was in good health until Christmas. The lead poison, however, to have got into his system and for the past five months he has never felt well. Mr. Taylor was born at Rockdale, Lanarkshire, England, 33 years ago. In 1890 he married Ruth Hannah, daughter of Edward Tweedale, of Rockdale, but who is now an esteemed resident of Acton. Three children blessed their home, but only George, who is seven years old, survives. Mr. Taylor came to Acton nine years ago last April and has been employed with the Acton Tanning Company most of the time since. He was a very happy home, and he proved himself a very worthy citizen. Early in life he became a Christian and when 21 years of age was licensed a local preacher in the Methodist Church, which position he held with acceptance until his death. He was an official member of the Methodist Church, Acton, was President of the King's Ordinance Bible Class and Assistant Secretary of the Sunday School. He was a charter member of Acton Branch of the Sons of England, and held the office of President of the Society at the time of his decease. The funeral service will be held this afternoon at three o'clock from the residence on Church Street and the remains will be laid away in Fairview Cemetery beside his baby boy which died seven years ago.
