SOME OBSERVATIONS

Hon. Robt. Rogers, Minister of Publie Works, whatever his reputation in the House of Commons as a "gag-marter," seems to be regarded in Acton as a lenjent boss, inasmuch as he does not appear to demand too much work for too little wages.

It does seem a pity that the Municipal Council could not apply more of the cemetery revenue to the cleaning of the flor gravel drives in the grounds. They are at present in a deplorable condition with weeds and grass, and no reasonable person could expect the present paretaker to properly attend to them with his other multifarious duties on hand.

Strenueus Chivalry. It is complaned that modern conditions are killing "the chivalry of the middle ages." But mediaeval tales and romances show what that chivalry really was. Wife besting was a common incident on the part of those knights and gentlemen whose gallantry was a more convention. The Obevaller de la Tour-Landry in his book of counsels, to his daughters tells them the story of a woman who used to contradict ber husband in public. One day, after exposiulating in vain, be knocked her down, then kicked her face and broke her nose. "And so," comments the good chevaller, "she was disfirured for life, and thus, through ber ill nose spoiled, which was a great misfortune to her." But not a word is said about the husband's brutality. Nice Discrimination. That bet two grandmothers did not bold quite the same place to her esteem
