TAKE TIME TO LIVE

Take time to live : The world has much to give Of faith and hope and love ! Of faith that life is good, That buman brotherhood Shall so Illusion prove: Of hope, that future years Hhall bring the best, in spite Of those whose darkened night Would stir our doubte and fears Of love that makes of life, With all its grief, a song : A friend, of conquering wrong;

A symphony, of strife. Take time to live, Nor to valo mammon give Thy truitful years. Take time to live : The world has much to give Of wwest content; of Joy A duty bravely done : Of bope, that every sun

Shall bring more fair employ, Take time to live. For life has much to give. Despite the cynic's some That all's forever wrong. There's much that calls for song To fate lend not thine ear. Take time to live ; The world has much to give.

Soon he was arrayed in now hat, new suit, new overcost. The stranger paid for all. Jimmy started out of the store. He was so bewilded that If several gobline had put in an appearance, he would have joined them in their fairyland fortivities.

"Just wait a minute," said the stranger. Jimmy waited. If the stranger had said, 'Go and roll in the duet of the street," Jimmy would have done it.

The stranger went down into his pockets and closed his dealings with Jimmy by giving him a five-dollar gold. piece and a gold nugget worth about five dollars.

Then Jimmy thanked the stranger. and went to tall his companions about the man to whom he showed the Hotel Butler "for nothing."

The stranger was a Klondiker, with thousand dollars. It pays to be polite. If you don't think 'eo, ask Jimmy

Every young star, such as our sun, attracts and gathers to itself quantities of impalpable counte dust which it encounters on its journey through space. Therefore every youthful beavenly. body is increasing in size. But on the other hand every old and wornout star reverses the process and instead of gathering in new aupplies discharges its accomulations. In the end the old atar is utterly disintegrated and disolved back into primeval dust which reassembles somewhere on the outskirts of space where a new star is organized. This process of tearing down old worlds and rebuilding new ones goes on perpetually. E ALL ADVERTISE. A man advertises his character by his deeds, his wisdom by his words or by his silence. A merchant's store, stock and windows speak either well or ill of his business. So when a man says "No, I do not advertise," he knows not what he says. What he really means is that he does not publish printed advertisements.

Some proclaim this as though it were a virtue-yet spend much effort and invest much money in advertising their business through mediums other than the printed word. They may make their wares fit for a king-yet hesitate to introduce them to Brown or Smith. This is inconsistency. - Advertisers' Bulletin.
