A SONG OF THE COTTON FIELDS

Yonder on de green slope—shelter in de pines,
Hummin' bird a-hummin' 'roun' de vi'lets on de vines;
Sunflower at de gate
Wid his torch a-burnin' late,
En he light me 'long de big road whar de lil' chillun wait.

How de ca'n an cotton
Sing across de wheat;
Night time is res' time—
Res' at home is sweet!

I up ter meet de mornin', 'fo' de light break overhead
Or de larky is gittin' restless; en I kotch de sun in bed;
I call 'em: "Work ter do!
I mus' run de furrow true;
De grass would ketch de cotton ef I sleep as late as you?"

Singin' in de co'n fiel',
'Crost de cotton white;
Day time is work-time—
Res'll come wid night.

Mister Rabbit see me comin', en I tell 'im: "Howdy-do?
Is you feelin' well dis mawnin? Is yo' fambly stirrin' too?
You got rabbit-foots a heap
Fer ter he'p me sow en reap!"
But he mighty hard er hearin' en I lef' 'im fas' asleep!

Sowin' en reapin'—
Singin' in de sun;
Sweater is de sleepin'
W'en de work well done!

All day I heah de chillun, es happy es kin be;
En dey mammy light de fire, an she bake de bread for me;
En no han' is raise ter take it
'Cep' she bless it 'fo' she brake it;
En it's sweeter—oh, it's sweeter kase I sow de seed dat make it!

Sowin' en reapin'
Happy all de day;
De home lights bright an shinin'
But my heart, it knows de way!

So I workin' in de sunshine, I singin' in de storm;
De co'n 'll feed de chillun, an de cotton keep 'em warm.
Mister Rabbit, suh, good night—
De crow done took his flight,
An' I singin' on de home-road whar de lamps is shinin' bright!

"MUSIC HATH CHARMS"

A class of colored boys in a New York mission had a new teacher, a slim, pretty negro girl. They had hooted a good many teachers out of the school, and the new mistress of the ferule looked so easy to defeat that when she took her place behind the desk the boys laughed derisively. But they had met their match. The New York Sun tells how she conquered them.

She stood quietly by her desk as a chorus of catcalls made the room roar.

"I thought you might want me to sing for you," she said. She had a pretty voice and had taken singing lessons.

"Huh! Think yuh kin sing?" jeered one of the boys.

"I know I can."

This confidence silenced them for a moment.

Then they yelled, "Go on and sing Patti!"

"Not while you act like hoodlums. Music would be wasted on you."

That piqued them. One of them started a tune. The others joined, and the result was like a chorus of angels.

"That was good, boys."

"Kin you do better?"

"Yes. You need some lessons."

"Well, go on an' show us."

"Will you keep still?"

"Yaas'm."

She went over to the organ. The boys rolled their eyes and winked. They would keep their promise and be silent while she sang, but after that—!

The teacher began a plantation song. After the first note the wriggling urchins settled down. The superintendent who had been listening anxiously in the next room, wiped her eye as the song came to a close. The boys were as still as the stars.

The singer went on from one plantation to another. Finally she drifted into a familiar gospel hymn. A voice took up the refrain. She turned her head and nodded. Then the chorus swelled.

After the last note the teacher closed the organ and went to the desk.

"I'll hear the class in reading now."

There was no objections, not a sound except a low voice in the front muttering, "You certainly kin sing!"

"That's what I told you," said the teacher coolly.

A Pill that has Benefitted Thousands.—Known far and near as a sure remedy in the treatment of indigestion and all derangements of the stomach, liver and kidneys, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills have brought relief to thousands when other specifics have failed. Innumerable testimonials can be produced to establish the truth of this assertion. Once tried they will be found superior to all other pills in the treatment of the ailments for which they are prescribed.

HOW IT FELT

A worthy old gentleman who had never wandered far from his native township before, went to Boston one day in response to an invitation to visit a relative.

The Bostonian, in showing his friend about town, took him to the top of a tall office building. They took a look at the marvellous landscape spread out before them and prepared to descend. They entered the elevator. It began its swift journey downward.

"Don't be frightened, Uncle Silas," said the younger man as his visitor grasped his arm, shut his eyes and held on for dear life. "There is no danger."

"I wasn't afraid, George," gasped Uncle Silas, after they had stepped out of the elevator, "but I left my stomach up there!"

A Prime Dressing for Wounds.—In some factories and workshops carbolic acid is kept for use in cauterizing wounds and cuts sustained by the workmen. Far better to keep on hand a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It is just as quick in action and does not scar the skin or burn the flesh. There is no other Oil that has its curative qualities.

Ask your Druggist or Grocer to show you the new plan for killing all the flies in your house or store in one night, and have neither flies nor fly killers about in the daytime.

Pierpont Morgan's Fairy Palace.

Pierpont Morgan's wonderful house in Prince's Gate differed little on the outside from its neighbors, merely two houses rolled into one, but its interior suggested nothing so much as the fairy palace of Aladdin. In the hall a spring was pressed and part of one of the walls "fell away" in the approved style. You walked down into a basement, which at first sight resembled nothing so much as one of the lower decks on a large liner. Ranged along the walls were what appeared to be a number of safes, but they were really doors opening into small rooms, lits each of which a particular portion of Mr. Morgan's collection had been brought. There were rooms for English silver, for porcelain and for half a dozen other objets d'art. No one who was ever fortunate enough to be shown round by Mr. Morgan himself can forget the experience.—London Bystander.

There is no more effective vermifuge on the market than Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only clear the stomach and bowels of worms, but will prove a very serviceable medicine for children in regulating the infantile system and maintaining it in a healthy condition. There is nothing in their composition that will injure the most delicate stomach, when directions are followed, and they can be given to children in the full assurance that they will utterly destroy all worms.

Second thoughts may be best—if they arrive on time.

If one be troubled with corns and warts, he will find in Holloway's Corn Cure an application that will entirely relieve suffering.

HAD A TERRIBLE ATTACK OF DIARRHŒA.

Became Very Weak.

Diarrhœa, especially if allowed to run any length of time, causes great weakness, and the only thing to do is to check it on its first appearance. You will find that a few doses of DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY will do this quickly and effectively.

MRS. JACOB SMITH, Manor, Sask., writes:—"I am pleased to express my gratitude for your remedy. In my case, I had a terrible attack of diarrhœa. Just about every three minutes, I would have a passage, and it would keep this up for a week at a time, causing the passing of bloody water. I was so pained and weak, I could not do anything.

"Seeing your DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY recommended, I tried it and it thoroughly cured me. It is the only medicine for this complaint I will now have."

"DR. FOWLER'S" has been on the market for over sixty-five years, and is, without a doubt, the best remedy known for the cure of Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Pain in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, and all Bowel Complaints.

When you ask for "DR. FOWLER'S" see that you are not handed one of the many substitutes for this old reliable remedy.

HOW THIS WOMAN FOUND HEALTH

Would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for All Rest of Medicine in the World.

Utica, Ohio.—"I suffered everything from a female weakness after baby came. I had numb spells and was dizzy, had black spots before my eyes, my back ached and I was so weak I could hardly stand up. My face was yellow, even my fingernails were colorless and I had displacement. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am stout, well and healthy. I can do all my own work and can walk to town and back and not get tired. I would not give your Vegetable Compound for all the rest of the medicines in the world. I tried doctor's medicines and they did me no good."—Mrs. MARY EARLEWINE, R. F. D. No. 8, Utica, Ohio.

Another Case.

Nebo, Ill.—"I was bothered for ten years with female troubles and the doctors did not help me. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and every month I had to spend a few days in bed. I read so many letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound curing female troubles that I got a bottle of it. It did me more good than anything else I ever took and now it has cured me. I feel better than I have for years and tell everybody what the Compound has done for me. I believe I would not be living to-day but for that."—Mrs. HETTIE GREENSTREET, Nebo, Illinois.

Don't traduce your enemies. It won't help you any—and then you may want to use them to-morrow.

A Pill that is Prized.—There have been many pills put upon the market and pressed upon public attention, but none has endured so long or met with so much favor as Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Widespread use of them has attested their great value, and they need no further advertisement than this. Having firmly established themselves in public esteem, they now rank without a peer in the list of standard vegetable preparations.

If Your Back Hurts You YOUR KIDNEYS ARE RESPONSIBLE.

MR. JOHN BEGGS, Whitewood, Sask., writes:—"I am sending you this testimonial out of pure gratitude, as I am not a believer in patent medicines, but I got so run down, that I became quite willing to give anything a trial. I paid a visit to our local druggist, and told him I was suffering intense agony with my back. He told me I had kidney trouble, and handed me a box of DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, saying it was the best thing he could possibly give me. I tried them, and the effect was certainly marvelous. They are worth $10 a box of anybody's money, and I would not be without a box by me. I certainly owe my present condition to DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS."

The Art of Reading Letters.

My dear old grandfather, who wrote all his own letters in a hand which, down to the day of his death, was almost plain enough for a blind man to read, taught me never to attempt to answer a letter without placing it before me and reviewing it scrupulously, paragraph by paragraph. Hundreds of times have I devoutly blessed his memory for that lesson in the common sense of correspondence. Whenever lured by the pellmell spirit of the age I stray from his precepts I rue it, and I can feel the flush of shame overspread my face as I follow a first letter of response with a second, rendered necessary by the belated discovery of a point left uncovered. The old copybook legend, "Haste breeds carelessness," is as true as it was in the days when good penmanship and good morals went hand in hand in the training of youth. If slambang and hurly burly have given its coup de grace to the once gentle art of writing letters, is not that all the more reason why, before it is too late, we should rescue the half dead art of reading them?—Atlantic.

An Old Game.

"Has your wife found a house that suits her?"

"Yes; but don't say anything about it. Just now she's in bluffing the landlord that she won't take it unless he redecorates the parlor and three bedrooms."—Detroit Free Press.

Journalism in Russia.

"The style of Russian journalism," says Stephen Graham, in "Changing Russia," "is most refreshing. The brevity of the sentence and the paragraph has been developed to the absolute. I opened Rátirikon one day to find heading the first article on the first page: 'Spit in my eye, reader! Spit right in my eye!'

"There is nothing in English or American journalism equal to that. But such a sentence is not exceptional. It sets the tone of the paper, and Satirikon is read by every one, from the student to the grand duke. Every one who would not miss something essential in the Russian soul should look at Satirikon. * * * It is horrible, but it is instructive. It is even powerful and refreshing if you can enter into its spirit without losing your own. It is forceful, brutal, cynical, Rabelaisian. * * * Despite its monstrous pictures and its style, which permits all things, it is yet a fondly journal. There is nothing in it that the Russian woman finds objectionable."

Daniel O'Connell's Blarney.

Daniel O'Connell, says the British Weekly, spoke once to over 100,000 persons at an open air meeting in Birmingham. In those days women worked in the mines, and two or three rows of grimy, stalwart damsels, black and robust, with a blackness and robustness hardly ever seen now, formed themselves in front of them.

O'Connell rose and began, "Surrounded, as I am, by the fair, the gentle and the good"— Up went the grimy arms, and the grimy throats roared applause.

The fair, the gentle and the good cheered every sentence after that, and as they almost alone in the vast audience could hear what was said, their cheering was of some importance, because when they applauded the people behind applauded, and so on, till the outermost ring was reached, which rendered its tribute to the concluding sentence of the speech some time after it was over.

Merry Moving Time in Quebec.

May day is scarcely a merry one in the province of Quebec. Yearly leases prevail and expire April 30, so that the 1st of May is removal day. In Montreal and other large centers of the province many quaint scenes are to be witnessed, and it is said that you will see more furniture knocking about the streets May 1 than you ever saw in any second hand dealer's emporium. Many peculiar customs have come into being through this habit of the Quebec Canadians of flitting or removing at the same time. One of the most remarkable is that for the first three days of the month houses are held in common—that is to say, if the people into whose house you are moving have been unable to get away before your arrival you may all live together until May 3, when you can compel your predecessors to make their final exit.—London Spectator.

Good Pay For Hermits.

Hermits were a century or more back regarded as a picturesque feature of country houses. Samuel Rogers records that "Archibald Hamilton, afterward Duke of Hamilton, advertised for a hermit as an ornament to his pleasure grounds, and it was stipulated that the said hermit should have his beard shaved but once a year, and that only partially." Mark Powyss, the squire of Marchan, in Lancashire, offered £50 a year for life to any man willing to live as a hermit on his estate for seven years. He was to be well supplied with provisions and books and other comforts and in return had to abstain from straying beyond his hermitage and from cutting his hair, beard or nails. The offer was accepted by a man who abode by the conditions for four years and then threw up the job.—London Chronicle.

Care of the Teeth.

The teeth should be washed in tepid water inside, as well as outside with a fairly stiff toothbrush in the morning and the last thing at night. This helps greatly to preserve them, as the primary cause of dental decay is the decomposition of particles of food left between the teeth after a meal. Washing with a stiff brush dislodges these particles and rinsing the mouth freely afterward with some warm disinfectant mouth wash completely removes them.

He Perpetrated It.

The Doctor—The janitor of the building where I live says his father and grandfather made their living by working at similar jobs in the old country. The Professor (slightly irritated)—Well, what do you want me to say—that he follows in the footsteps of his predecessors?—Chicago Tribune.

Ad Vertysen—We want a man who knows both how to keep his mouth closed and how to stave off the curious. Applicant—I think I would suit you. I used to be clerk in an information bureau.—London Punch.

Reason Versus Passion.

Edmund Burke said, "Taking the whole view of life, it is more safe to live under the jurisdiction of severe but steady reason than under the empire of indulgent but capricious passion."

An Exception.

Briggs—They say that two heads are better than one. Griggs—That's all a mistake. Both my wife and I want to be head of the house, and it doesn't work at all.—Boston Transcript.

MRS. J. CARROL, Mount View, Ont., writes:—"I am an elderly woman now, and about two years ago I became faint, was subject to hot flushes, palpitation of the heart and shortness of breath. I went to a doctor but seemed to remain the same, until one of my neighbors recommended MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS. I gladly followed the advice, and am to-day a strong, robust woman, and I thank MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS for my present state of health, and have recommended them to all who I have learned of suffering from heart trouble."

Throwing Kisses in the Dark

"IF what doth it avail a city to be among the best ever as a home, a site for a manufacturing industry, or as a place of resort and recreation," says the bright editorial man of the Manchester (N. That's the way to feel about a good fishin' hole, but not about the town in which you live—and get your bread and butter."

Advertising is coming into its own in New England because our business men see that it is needed. They are seeing, with William Jennings Bryan, that a man who is throwing kisses at a girl in the dark may know what he is doing, but no one else does.
