Report contests were brought on in place towns and townships and in every mo of them the by-law was sustained by substantial unjurities. In Nowmarket, where it was reported the by-law would eponted, the citizens piled up a majority of 263 against roped. In Midland majority of 2005 was given. Acton continues to onjoy (1) the rather unenviable distinction of being the only municipality to repeal Local Option in five years. Not many of us are proud of the distinction ofther.

The three-little requirement caused the lefeat of the measure in eight places which polled good majorities against liquor liconsos. These were Picton, Ridgetown, Caledonia, Hagreraville, Carawall township, Lavant township, Holph and Hepworth townships.

Only throo places where votes takon gave majorities against the by-law Himcoo, Bradford and Itala. Borretary Buenec, of the Rominion Allianco, says: "Public opinion against the liquor traffic is increasing every day. With this comes the more insistent demand that the Government should do one or two things: (1) Enact more probblitton. Delogate more power to the people to get problittion for themselves. I am hopeful that at the next Legislature remedial cannot conceive that the people's representatives could most together and fairly consider the present cituation without taking some action to clear the way for the further advance to temperatice in

The rise in the price of grain, together with the corresponding fillip to grain production represents, without doubt, the mosoutstanding feature of the direction which has been given to agricultural activity. We need, perhaps above all things obe sane, level judgment in the conduct of our arricultural affairs during the coming year. It is to be expected that grain production will be largely increased. The raw teroducts of the soil are, and will be

The high price of feed, on one hand, and Despite the urgency of the appeals made relatively low prices for market stock, on liamentary Secretary of the Admiralty, this was inevitable, but will these could who in referring to the number of young tions continue? Feel grain will, without men, without dependents, who have failed doubt, he high in price, but it must nover to collist said : "If they think they are go- he overlooked that the country can main, which it can produce. To wasto this, for the take of the grain which can be grown would, under the present circumstances, be oriminal neglect. It is clear, then, that the country should conserve its breeding stock. If grain is to be grown for sale it is recommended that plans should be carefully thought out as to the manner which the greatest quantity of rough fodder may become available for feeding Christman Day. The Dr. had reached his purposes and as to the means by which this otherwise wasto product, together may be utilized to the best nossible advantage. In other words climinate waste. Do it by feeding live stock.

The present low prices for stock cannot last long. A careful roview of the world situation makes it clear that there will be a altortage next year. Europe is becoming seriously dopleted to both breeding six feeding stock. The United States, for ten months of the current year, at its leading markets is short 748,045 cattle, 209,000 shoop and 1,804,030 hogs. Canada has, as hefore stated, heavily liquidated her breeding animals and, while it may nosally maintain its quots next year of cattle and sheep, it is doubtful if more than seventy-five per cent, of the number of sogs will find their way to market in 1015, as compared with the current year. It is, therefore, a time for livestock men to stay with their trade. The present tendency is of course all the other way. A safe liarvest a likely to be respect by those who have stock for sale next year. Even hankers und business men are of this opinion. One word of advice is to be given. Avoid marketing so for na it is at all possible to do so during the period of October fifteenth o Bosember filteently. This is time of the year when everybody else has stock for sale. It is a period when packers know that they can fill their collars with charts most. Those are the months when the surplus of the whole country finds its way to the packing centres. It is invariably the period of low prices, uncertain markets and disappointing returns to the producers. Breed, therefore, to Invo your stock available for sale at some other time of the your. Take care to provide sufficient winter fend that you may not be forced to well when the cold weather comes. Allow all, comerve your breading stock.

Power of Suggestion of Great Help In Curing Hick.

The power of auguestion in helping sick men to recover their health has played its part in folk-medicine at loust since the beginning of history, according to Dr. Abram Lipsky. Even the Apsyrians practiced II. "Refentific psychotherapy has unloubtedly taken this bint of reinforcbug verbal auggestion with a trivial netion from popular practice. The device is perhaps best known in popular medicine as applied to the cure of warts. You strike the wart downwards three times with the knot of a reed as you make your autosuggestion, or you rub it seven times with the third tinger of the left hand in the direction in which the aun mover; or you wet your forefinger with saliva and stroke the wart in the direction of a passing funeral; or you touch each wart with pebble, place the plobbles in a has and lose them-the ander getting the warts; or you tie as many knots in hair as you have warts and throw the hair away; or you stepl a place of baces, rub the wart and ally the bacon under the bark of an ash tree thus causing the warts to disappear crouk, to count your warts, when they will pass over to him. "Let it not be supposed that the foregoing remedies are merely prescriptions, but not cures. Innumerable experiments have been made with them by persons who sincerely believed in their officacy, and the evidence of their success is as abundant as that of the success of more academic methods-and those enumerated do not begin to exhaust the list-shows that the particular differences between them are of no consequence, but that any device based employed to utilize the control which the mind, ander certain circumstances, may exercise over the soralled vegetative processes of the human system.

"That the most powerful suggesttion may fall of its object is, of course, perfectly well known. A case is reported of a German peasant, unpleasantly endowed with too many warts, who stood on his head in a newly-made grave. To a superstitious yokel this was an extremely powerful suggestion, but the warts the weird have great suggestive poency, and honce drugs culled at unearthly hours, during unusual conjunctions of the moon and planets on St. John's Evo or St. Agnes' Eve have unusual curative proportios." Dr. Lipsky says that the practice of medicine even to-day is an art based largely upon the empirical laies learned from the experience of cine, he says, has in the past adopted into its pharmacopoels a grout many of the "simples" cherished by ed their innumerable bints as to the value of psychotherapy, and is now beginning to turn to this neglected wisdom, to make use of apiritual 'simples," and to learn what curaftive powers reside in the soul.

Mole Superstitions. According to tradition, if you have s mole on your chin you may expect to be wealthy, while if you have it under your arm it promises you wealth and honor as well. A mole on the ankle indicates courage. On the left temple a mole indicates that you will find friends among the great on the right temple it warns you of knee means that he may expect to marry a rich woman. A mole on the nock promises wealth. If you have a be a great traveler. A mole on the throat indicates health and wealth.
