EDITORIAL NOTES

IN ANSWER to remarks from certain high railway authorities in Canada that the building of new transcontinental railways in this country has been premature, the William Mackenzie pointed out in a recent interview to the press that the conditions that render railways necessary have expanded more than in proportion to the extension of railway mileage. In 1896 there were 16,270 miles of railway and in 1913 29,344 miles or less than half. During that time Canada's foreign trade more than quadrupled, the aggregate earnings of Canadian railways increased five times and the tonnage carried increased well over four times, from 24,000,000 tons to 104,000,000. Not only this, but the earnings per mile increased from $1.13 to $2.50.

THE PRESS from the throne delivered by His Excellency the Governor-General at the opening of Parliament last Thursday had these significant and very timely sentences: "During the months which have elapsed since the outbreak of war, the people of Canada have given us proud and convincing evidence of their first loyalty to our King and their profound devotion to the institutions of the British Empire. The earnest and resolute spirit of patriotism which animates the whole Dominion has evoked a magnificent response to the call for service beyond the seas. The strong unity of purpose which inspires His Majesty's Dominion gives to the first assurance that the cause for which this war has been undertaken will be maintained to an honorable and successful issue."

THE GERMANS have evidently believed in leading in safe quarters. General Alfred von Koller, declares: "We are full of the finest confidence in our navy, but we know that a sea battle means death or victory, and that a defeated fleet cannot be replaced in the course of the war, even if it lasts for years. We must, therefore, under all conditions be cautious in our procedure and allow ourselves to be incited to a duel which might eventuate in our defeat." This boasted fleet is manifestly determined to run no risks of contact with Great Britain's great navy forces. In view of this position the heralded threat of blockade of the coast of Great Britain and Ireland after the 1st inst., will be regarded very generally as "a scrap of paper."

IT IS BELIEVED by some well-informed military circles that peace is not far away. The grounds for this conclusion, so devoutly to be wished by all, is that it is generally reported that Germany and Austria-Hungary are now detaching the terms of peace. They are, in fact, persuaded that, no matter what may be their unpeddled force, ultimate success is impossible. Italy, Roumania and probably Greece are about to join the Allies and the rest of the world is on the verge of the world's peace. Peace will be somewhat delayed, if the Allies are resolved to crush and humiliate Germany. Those who desire only the assurance of peace in the future will favor action which would prolong the war for months and perhaps years. Germany will not soon forget the lesson of this war, that in Western Europe at all events, the family of nations will not permit one to expand by conquest of the weak. The world will remember that the solution which now defers but is not merely an effort of sympathy with Belgium, but of self defense and self preservation. Diplomacy will also learn from this war that the world will not permit a self preservation from arraying a superior force against an aggressor. In that and in the exhaustion of the combatants, there is reason for a well-founded hope of continued peace during our time, if not forever.

MR. N. W. HOWLAND, K.C., leader of the Opposition, has given a course of lectures in Ontario and the maritime provinces delivering addresses upon the war and urging upon Canadians a greater realization of the responsibility of this country in connection with the present European struggle. The following comments on these addresses are interesting: The Canadian War, a non-partisan paper published in Toronto, says editorially: "It is hard to judge to say that Mr. Howland, in his speeches, shows more realization of what we are up against than any other political leader who has recently spoken. His speech at Hamilton in which he appealed for more and more recruits and called for unfatigued campaigns for them is similar to what they have had and still have in the Old Land, displayed more statesmanship and patriotism, and more of the sense of unity and of the promise of victory than anything that has been uttered in Ontario for many days. His responsibility for retaining the unity is so vitally greater than that of every man, each in his own sphere." The Hamilton Herald, independent, said: "Mr. Howland's speech on Saturday was not merely a fervent patriotic plea but it was a real call to the Empire in the present war and the obligations of Canadian men of military age to volunteer their services. Such speeches as that of Mr. Howland are needed to arouse our young men to the needs of the situation and to the realization of their own obligations."

Knox Church Splendid Anniversary Services

Dr. A. J. MacGillivray, D. D., of Guelph, Preached Eloquent Sermons to Large Congregations

A TEA-MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

Successful, was the one prominent thought applicable to Knox Church's anniversary services last Sunday and Monday evening. From the point of discussion, of messages and of financial realization the result of this annual endeavor was gratifying. Surmounting the pulpit was an array of beautiful cut flowers and potted plants which greatly enhanced the beauty of the church.

Dr. A. J. MacGillivray, D. D., of Guelph, was the popular preacher at both services.

KNOX CHURCH, ACTON

Dr. MacGillivray is a large man, physically and intellectually, presenting a commanding appearance, especially in an interesting and interesting bearing. His sermons morning and evening were read texts.

The choir rendered excellent music throughout both services and their anthems were listened to with attentive appreciation by all. The solo quartet selections by Messrs. Willoughby, Cockburn, North and Mann were also one of the attractive musical features of the service.

In consequence of a precedent in regard to the number of years the service of the Knox Church was withdrawn in the morning. Rev. Samuel Howarth, the Baptist pastor, assisted in the service. In the evening at the invitation of the same spirit of fraternity, the Methodist service was withdrawn and the congregation and their pastor, Rev. C. D. Draper, attended.

In the morning Dr. MacGillivray chose as the text of this discourse Matt. 24: 6, "To what purpose is this waste?" In a splendidly descriptive style he presented the different traits of character evidenced in the principals of the narrative, Mary and Martha in particular. Then, taking as his theme, the world's conception of waste, he showed the contrast between this view and the Christian view of waste. He pointed out that waste is not only a loss of material, but a loss of time, energy, and opportunity. He emphasized that the Christian's duty is to use his resources wisely and to avoid waste in all his activities.

Light was doubtless used as an example because of the great light which flooded the temple courts in which Christ spoke. The large candlestick was one of the great features of the temple. It was then shown that what this light was the pillar of light was to the journeying children of Israel, so was the promised Messiah to be to the world.

Briefly he dealt with some of the other so-called lights. Confucius was a great teacher, but while he had millions of followers, he died of a broken heart because his teaching was not generally accepted. Confucius left China because of the rejection of his moral and national ideal. The present much-heralded awakening of China is directly traceable to the contact of this great spirit with Christianity.

Mohammed was a man who claimed to have seen a book before the throne of God. This book he had re-written. It contained many great moral truths and noble principles. But this book—the Koran—was written by the personal impurity of its leading expounder and disciples and so could not survive.

So Declared Our Municipal Legislators in Session on Monday Evening

MUNICIPAL OFFICER APPOINTED

Council met in regular session in the Council Chamber on Monday evening. Members were in attendance as follows: Reeve Hynds in the chair; Councillors McDonald, Bell and Bailey.

Finance Chairman McDonald presented the Finance Committee's report regarding the following accounts he paid:

General Account
Acton Free Press, printing Audit-Reports	$2.10
Electric Plant	3.01
Hydro Power Commission, supplies	32.11
Gas, Hyman, supplies	3.01
Acton Free Press, printing	3.40
Total	$40.63

The by-law to appoint the Municipal Officer for another year was given three readings and passed. No name but that of the present officer, Mr. John Harvey, was considered. The members of the Council were unanimous in their expressions of appreciation of the satisfactory service rendered by this officer in the past year. The Reeve gave his personal opinion that Mr. Harvey saved the town, by his careful and efficient work on the assessment roll, full value for the salary paid him, exclusive of his other duties. Of the salary of $700, the corporation pays $500 and the Hydro-Electric Commission the balance.

The Tax Collector reported that there was still an aggregate of about $100 in taxes uncollected. The Council decided that in the interest of the citizens who pay their taxes promptly this balance must be collected at once. It was stated by members of the Council that it was unfair to ask the man who pays his taxes promptly to pay in addition to those who delay in doing so. Mr. Harper dealt at some length on the pressing need of the church today—the need of social service. He stated that the time had come for the church to assert herself in national, provincial, county and municipal life and political principles. Only in such a way can true and ideal Christian life and surroundings be brought into existence.

Rev. Mr. Howarth dwelt considerably along the same line of thought, emphasizing the personal effort for the advancement of Christianity, thereby causing the reconstruction of society on a sound, solid basis. The programme concluded with an anthem by the choir and a hearty singing of the national anthem.

In an able and entertaining manner Rev. J. C. Wilson, discharged the onerous duties of Chairman for the evening.

Willoughby, and also by Misses Jessie McDonald, Laura Atkins and Mr. Cockburn. Two splendid addresses were given by Messrs. Harper and Howarth. The addresses set forth great ideals of aim for the church, and were a favorable contrast to the lively often displayed at such gatherings, to the exclusion of suggestion, admission or instruction.
