

BORN
COLLECT—In Toronto on Thursday, April 1st, to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Collett, a son—Herbert Norman.

MARRIED

COOK-BROWN—At Grand Rapids, Mich., on Saturday, April 17th, by Rev. F. H. Clapp, George Nettie Cookson of Miss Alice, 18, of Ottawa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cookson of Acton, to Miss Anna Brown, all of Grand Rapids.

DIED

MCNAUL—In Naugatuck, Conn., on Monday, the 13th April, Donald McNaul, in his 71st year.

EDWARDS—In Woodstock, Vt., on Sunday, fifth month, Mrs. Edwards, aged 10 months.

CAMERON—At Fairview Place, the residence of Dr. and Mrs. John Cameron, Miss May, daughter of Dr. Cameron, of the Rev. D. Cameron, in her 80th year.

IN MEMORIAM

HAYES—In living memory of our dear Clara, who departed this life April 24th, 1914.

But she is safely folded

With the angels in heaven.
What many a weary lamb of earth
Has found eternal rest.

Hadly pleased and deeply mourned by
MOTHER, BROTHERS and BROTHERS.

The Acton Free Press.

THURSDAY, APRIL 22, 1915

EDITORIAL NOTES

WHILE there is not much prospect of increase in teachers' salaries this war year, the report of the Minister of Education shows that during the past five years the average salary of lady teachers has increased in the rural schools from $382 to $424 and of male teachers from $462 to $500. In urban schools the average has advanced from $560 to $647 for ladies and from $665 to $712.

Never before in the history of civilization has there been anything like the universal attention given to the evils of the liquor traffic. This is now left to those who are organized as temperance reformers. Church courts, legislative bodies, national rulers, are all emphasizing the terrible evils and loss incurred through the traffic. One of the greatest bodies of influential religious leaders in the country, that is, the Anglican Bishops of Canada, in their assembly at Fort William this week, "They adopted a resolution advising all the members of that church to practice total abstinence during the war and to absolutely refrain from treating others."

PENINSULAR HORN has certainly selected a strong Board of Commissioners for the administration of the liquor laws of the province. The Board comprises Messrs. J. D. Flavel, Lindsay, Chairman; T. W. Dinnigan, of the Stratford Herald; Vice-Chairman; Mr. G. E. Macmillan, Provincial Inspector; Fred Davis, late Commissioner of the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, and George T. Smith, of New Ontario. So far as the Commissioners are concerned the Premier has fulfilled his promise to the House. They are all men of character, experience and ability. It is sincerely to be hoped the amended law will result in more salutary accomplishments than were considered probable when the amended law was under discussion.

The Bishop of Kingston in his sermon last Sunday said: "Recent disclosures would make one think that the eighteenth amendment had been expunged from the catalogue. It was no act of defiance to change the other side with similar conduct, as two blacks can never make a white." The Bishop said he had no political bias, but he was sure of this, that such scandals as had made the check of every honest Canadian blush with shame, would only cease if and when it was known beforehand that without fail the congressional or political or social career of any one detected in such practices would then and there be at an end. When the law was made up that article that such immediate punishment should automatically follow, the evil would be rooted out, but not till then.

There is a growing desire for telephone service in this community, both among farmers and citizens. It is that either the community or the individual farmer that has telephone connection, or only a limited local service, is out-of-the-running with those who have the advantage of having a general service. The successful farmer of to-day is a busy man, and has many varied interests to consider. He must keep himself well posted on the market and be prepared to act quickly. Telephone service is a necessity to him under the advanced conditions of the times. If the farmer is equipped with the telephone service he naturally expects that the business man in town with whom he does business will also become similarly equipped and ready to respond to his calls. Hundreds of rural telephone lines are being erected in various parts of the country, and the demand is about to take off. Many now have telephone in their houses. This demand clearly indicates that telephone service is valuable to the farmer. The Free Press is anxious to see more photos in the house and business place of this community, because of their undoubted value.

The Kroton to secure wider accommodation for the Free Library is commendable. Whether the suggestion to appeal to Andrew Carnegie, the multitudinous, is a desirable method of accomplishing the end aimed at, is open to question. We need and should have, at the earliest possible moment a reading room as well as increased accommodation for the Library. Some have conscientious scruples against accepting the bequests of the Carnegie Foundation. Others are opposed to mortgaging for all time the resources of the municipality as required by the Carnegie intention to secure their bequests. A solution of this question is to be found in the fact that a great deal has been made in these columns. If the suggestion of Chief Scott, which certainly has much to commend it, of transferring the fire-fighting apparatus and quarters of the firemen to the old power house, were adopted, a splendid reading room could be secured by converting the present engine room to that purpose. The cost would be small compared with the Carnegie Library plan, and the accommodation could be provided within a few weeks.

Mr. David Green, of Exeter Township, has purchased 100 acres from Mr. John Boyd, being lot number 11, in the 7th concession of Exeter Township. Sale was made by J. A. Willoughby, George town.

"Enough for Me," clears out hats, mice, etc. Don't Die in the House. Inc. and Inc. at Drug and Country Stores.

Council Discuss Proposal For a Carnegie Library

TAX-COLLECTOR HARVEY RETURNED A Complete Roll for the Year

DUSTY STREETS GET ATTENTION

Council met in session Monday evening at eight o'clock, Miss Hynds presiding. Councillors McDonald, Hall and Hallway were present.

The minutes of the previous session were read and confirmed.

Councillor McDonald presented the 7th report of the Finance Committee, recommending that the following accounts be settled:

ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT

N. F. Moore, freight and carriage. $5.10

Hynde's Hymen 4.10

Hyde Power Commission 4.10

447.42

The recommendation was accepted and the report adopted.

Colonel Harvey returned the Roll for the year with all the taxes collected, amounting $1,111.60, and a bill at the foot of Church Street.

The taxes on this lot have never been paid within the memory of the oldest Councillor. Some members urged that it be sold to pay the taxes, but Corporation Collector Mackinnon pointed out that it would cost more to sell it and hold a sale than would be realized upon the lot. With this exception the Collector returned a complete, fully-paid roll. Truly a worthy record!

Miss Hynds stated that parties had walked along the street, passing the lot at the lower houses for some time past. The Council left the matter in the Mayor's hands to rent for whatever it was worth.

Reference was made to the situation actually given. Mill Street, in the spring.

The dust on the street has become exceedingly troublesome, necessitating immediate attention. The Collector stated that he proposed to make arrangements to have the street treated and improved under the Good Roads system. He said that all the town would be required to do was scrape and clean the street. It would then be treated with tar. He estimated that it would cost $100 to $125 to treat the street.

Colonel Harvey returned the Roll for the year with all the taxes collected, amounting $1,111.60, and a bill at the foot of Church Street.

The taxes on this lot have never been paid within the memory of the oldest Councillor. Some members urged that it be sold to pay the taxes, but Corporation Collector Mackinnon pointed out that it would cost more to sell it and hold a sale than would be realized upon the lot. With this exception the Collector returned a complete, fully-paid roll. Truly a worthy record!

Miss Hynds stated that parties had walked along the street, passing the lot at the lower houses for some time past. The Council left the matter in the Mayor's hands to rent for whatever it was worth.

Reference was made to the situation actually given. Mill Street, in the spring.

The dust on the street has become exceedingly troublesome, necessitating immediate attention. The Collector stated that he proposed to make arrangements to have the street treated and improved under the Good Roads system. He said that all the town would be required to do was scrape and clean the street. It would then be treated with tar. He estimated that it would cost $100 to $125 to treat the street.

Colonel Harvey returned the Roll for the year with all the taxes collected, amounting $1,111.60, and a bill at the foot of Church Street.

The taxes on this lot have never been paid within the memory of the oldest Councillor. Some members urged that it be sold to pay the taxes, but Corporation Collector Mackinnon pointed out that it would cost more to sell it and hold a sale than would be realized upon the lot. With this exception the Collector returned a complete, fully-paid roll. Truly a worthy record!

Miss Hynds stated that parties had walked along the street, passing the lot at the lower houses for some time past. The Council left the matter in the Mayor's hands to rent for whatever it was worth.

Reference was made to the situation actually given. Mill Street, in the spring.

The dust on the street has become exceedingly troublesome, necessitating immediate attention. The Collector stated that he proposed to make arrangements to have the street treated and improved under the Good Roads system. He said that all the town would be required to do was scrape and clean the street. It would then be treated with tar. He estimated that it would cost $100 to $125 to treat the street.

Colonel Harvey returned the Roll for the year with all the taxes collected, amounting $1,111.60, and a bill at the foot of Church Street.

The taxes on this lot have never been paid within the memory of the oldest Councillor. Some members urged that it be sold to pay the taxes, but Corporation Collector Mackinnon pointed out that it would cost more to sell it and hold a sale than would be realized upon the lot. With this exception the Collector returned a complete, fully-paid roll. Truly a worthy record!

Miss Hynds stated that parties had walked along the street, passing the lot at the lower houses for some time past. The Council left the matter in the Mayor's hands to rent for whatever it was worth.

Reference was made to the situation actually given. Mill Street, in the spring.

The dust on the street has become exceedingly troublesome, necessitating immediate attention. The Collector stated that he proposed to make arrangements to have the street treated and improved under the Good Roads system. He said that all the town would be required to do was scrape and clean the street. It would then be treated with tar. He estimated that it would cost $100 to $125 to treat the street.

Colonel Harvey returned the Roll for the year with all the taxes collected, amounting $1,111.60, and a bill at the foot of Church Street.

The taxes on this lot have never been paid within the memory of the oldest Councillor. Some members urged that it be sold to pay the taxes, but Corporation Collector Mackinnon pointed out that it would cost more to sell it and hold a sale than would be realized upon the lot. With this exception the Collector returned a complete, fully-paid roll. Truly a worthy record!

Miss Hynds stated that parties had walked along the street, passing the lot at the lower houses for some time past. The Council left the matter in the Mayor's hands to rent for whatever it was worth.

Reference was made to the situation actually given. Mill Street, in the spring.

The dust on the street has become exceedingly troublesome, necessitating immediate attention. The Collector stated that he proposed to make arrangements to have the street treated and improved under the Good Roads system. He said that all the town would be required to do was scrape and clean the street. It would then be treated with tar. He estimated that it would cost $100 to $125 to treat the street.

Colonel Harvey returned the Roll for the year with all the taxes collected, amounting $1,111.60, and a bill at the foot of Church Street.

The taxes on this lot have never been paid within the memory of the oldest Councillor. Some members urged that it be sold to pay the taxes, but Corporation Collector Mackinnon pointed out that it would cost more to sell it and hold a sale than would be realized upon the lot. With this exception the Collector returned a complete, fully-paid roll. Truly a worthy record!

Miss Hynds stated that parties had walked along the street, passing the lot at the lower houses for some time past. The Council left the matter in the Mayor's hands to rent for whatever it was worth.

Reference was made to the situation actually given. Mill Street, in the spring.

The dust on the street has become exceedingly troublesome, necessitating immediate attention. The Collector stated that he proposed to make arrangements to have the street treated and improved under the Good Roads system. He said that all the town would be required to do was scrape and clean the street. It would then be treated with tar. He estimated that it would cost $100 to $125 to treat the street.

Colonel Harvey returned the Roll for the year with all the taxes collected, amounting $1,111.60, and a bill at the foot of Church Street.

The taxes on this lot have never been paid within the memory of the oldest Councillor. Some members urged that it be sold to pay the taxes, but Corporation Collector Mackinnon pointed out that it would cost more to sell it and hold a sale than would be realized upon the lot. With this exception the Collector returned a complete, fully-paid roll. Truly a worthy record!

Miss Hynds stated that parties had walked along the street, passing the lot at the lower houses for some time past. The Council left the matter in the Mayor's hands to rent for whatever it was worth.

Reference was made to the situation actually given. Mill Street, in the spring.

The dust on the street has become exceedingly troublesome, necessitating immediate attention. The Collector stated that he proposed to make arrangements to have the street treated and improved under the Good Roads system. He said that all the town would be required to do was scrape and clean the street. It would then be treated with tar. He estimated that it would cost $100 to $125 to treat the street.

Colonel Harvey returned the Roll for the year with all the taxes collected, amounting $1,111.60, and a bill at the foot of Church Street.

The taxes on this lot have never been paid within the memory of the oldest Councillor. Some members urged that it be sold to pay the taxes, but Corporation Collector Mackinnon pointed out that it would cost more to sell it and hold a sale than would be realized upon the lot. With this exception the Collector returned a complete, fully-paid roll. Truly a worthy record!

Miss Hynds stated that parties had walked along the street, passing the lot at the lower houses for some time past. The Council left the matter in the Mayor's hands to rent for whatever it was worth.

Reference was made to the situation actually given. Mill Street, in the spring.

The dust on the street has become exceedingly troublesome, necessitating immediate attention. The Collector stated that he proposed to make arrangements to have the street treated and improved under the Good Roads system. He said that all the town would be required to do was scrape and clean the street. It would then be treated with tar. He estimated that it would cost $100 to $125 to treat the street.

Colonel Harvey returned the Roll for the year with all the taxes collected, amounting $1,111.60, and a bill at the foot of Church Street.

The taxes on this lot have never been paid within the memory of the oldest Councillor. Some members urged that it be sold to pay the taxes, but Corporation Collector Mackinnon pointed out that it would cost more to sell it and hold a sale than would be realized upon the lot. With this exception the Collector returned a complete, fully-paid roll. Truly a worthy record!

Miss Hynds stated that parties had walked along the street, passing the lot at the lower houses for some time past. The Council left the matter in the Mayor's hands to rent for whatever it was worth.

Reference was made to the situation actually given. Mill Street, in the spring.

The dust on the street has become exceedingly troublesome, necessitating immediate attention. The Collector stated that he proposed to make arrangements to have the street treated and improved under the Good Roads system. He said that all the town would be required to do was scrape and clean the street. It would then be treated with tar. He estimated that it would cost $100 to $125 to treat the street.

Colonel Harvey returned the Roll for the year with all the taxes collected, amounting $1,111.60, and a bill at the foot of Church Street.

The taxes on this lot have never been paid within the memory of the oldest Councillor. Some members urged that it be sold to pay the taxes, but Corporation Collector Mackinnon pointed out that it would cost more to sell it and hold a sale than would be realized upon the lot. With this exception the Collector returned a complete, fully-paid roll. Truly a worthy record!

Miss Hynds stated that parties had walked along the street, passing the lot at the lower houses for some time past. The Council left the matter in the Mayor's hands to rent for whatever it was worth.

Reference was made to the situation actually given. Mill Street, in the spring.

The dust on the street has become exceedingly troublesome, necessitating immediate attention. The Collector stated that he proposed to make arrangements to have the street treated and improved under the Good Roads system. He said that all the town would be required to do was scrape and clean the street. It would then be treated with tar. He estimated that it would cost $100 to $125 to treat the street.

Colonel Harvey returned the Roll for the year with all the taxes collected, amounting $1,111.60, and a bill at the foot of Church Street.

The taxes on this lot have never been paid within the memory of the oldest Councillor. Some members urged that it be sold to pay the taxes, but Corporation Collector Mackinnon pointed out that it would cost more to sell it and hold a sale than would be realized upon the lot. With this exception the Collector returned a complete, fully-paid roll. Truly a worthy record!

Miss Hynds stated that parties had walked along the street, passing the lot at the lower houses for some time past. The Council left the matter in the Mayor's hands to rent for whatever it was worth.

Reference was made to the situation actually given. Mill Street, in the spring.

The dust on the street has become exceedingly troublesome, necessitating immediate attention. The Collector stated that he proposed to make arrangements to have the street treated and improved under the Good Roads system. He said that all the town would be required to do was scrape and clean the street. It would then be treated with tar. He estimated that it would cost $100 to $125 to treat the street.

Colonel Harvey returned the Roll for the year with all the taxes collected, amounting $1,111.60, and a bill at the foot of Church Street.

The taxes on this lot have never been paid within the memory of the oldest Councillor. Some members urged that it be sold to pay the taxes, but Corporation Collector Mackinnon pointed out that it would cost more to sell it and hold a sale than would be realized upon the lot. With this exception the Collector returned a complete, fully-paid roll. Truly a worthy record!

Miss Hynds stated that parties had walked along the street, passing the lot at the lower houses for some time past. The Council left the matter in the Mayor's hands to rent for whatever it was worth.

Reference was made to the situation actually given. Mill Street, in the spring.

The dust on the street has become exceedingly troublesome, necessitating immediate attention. The Collector stated that he proposed to make arrangements to have the street treated and improved under the Good Roads system. He said that all the town would be required to do was scrape and clean the street. It would then be treated with tar. He estimated that it would cost $100 to $125 to treat the street.

Colonel Harvey returned the Roll for the year with all the taxes collected, amounting $1,111.60, and a bill at the foot of Church Street.

The taxes on this lot have never been paid within the memory of the oldest Councillor. Some members urged that it be sold to pay the taxes, but Corporation Collector Mackinnon pointed out that it would cost more to sell it