EDITORIAL NOTES

THE "SUIT CASE BRIGADE" is doing a rushing business these days. You may see certain men with certain well-known suit cases going to the Guelph liquor stores any Saturday, by almost any train. And we have liquor licenses in Acton, too.

REEVE HYNDS should invite the Globe reporter who wrote the report of the interment of the six Austrians at Acton, to town for a day or so to get acquainted with this locality. He must be a foreigner when he goes to the trouble to explain that "Acton is between Guelph and Georgetown." The general public knows Acton's location as well as that of either of the other places named.

THE following are extracts from speeches at a thanksgiving mass meeting recently held in Regina, Saskatchawan: "The clouds are commencing to break away and blue sky is appearing in Saskatchawan and it is going to spread to Alberta and Manitoba. We will be able bye and bye to bring a little blue sky into old Ontario." "We are on the eve of the finest temperance legislation ever enacted." "Let us be thankful for this gigantic step forward in the cause of temperance and sobriety." "The small places in the country will be given enough help to assist them in turning the bars into libraries and places which will be a credit to the town. Even Russia has them already where they are known as "people's palaces."

"DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE FIELD"

Major Ballantine in the List Mentioned by Sir John French for

GALLANT, DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

The London Gazette published yesterday the list from Field Marshall Sir John French of "Those whom I recommend for gallant and distinguished service in the Field," the name of Major James Ballantine, of Georgetown, second in command of the Fourth Battalion, is mentioned.

This is a marked honor and will be greatly appreciated by Major Ballantine and his friends.

STIRRING MESSAGE FROM ENGLAND

The following is an excerpt from a letter received on Monday, by E. J. Moore, B.A., Toronto, from his friend E. Noel Hurghes, of the Oxford Press, London, England, dated June 8th, 1915:

"We are having exciting times here lately. Some Zeppelins came too close to my quarters the other night to be comfortable, and it is a very canny feeling I can tell you, expecting visits from these infernal machines almost every night. It is particularly fine weather just now, with gentle breezes and clear skies, in fact an ideal English June, which we should all enjoy after a long winter, if it were not for this terrible war. A good many of us Englishmen are drilling or doing some thing to get ready for national service in case we are wanted. It is said, very earl. I am in the National Guard, myself, for home defence, being past the military age for active service in the regular army. There appear, however, to be a good many "slackers" still here, which makes one marvel, seeing what the Canadians are sacrificing for us."

NASSAGAWEYA

The Ebenezer Mission circle will hold their monthly meeting in the Bethelchurch at Knatchbull next Sunday evening. An interesting time is expected.

The Bethel Union Sunday School will hold their annual pic-nic on Wednesday afternoon, June 30th, at Knatchbull. There will be the usual sports and base ball match. Everybody welcome.

The Presbyterian Garden Party at Bodom, Nassagaweya, on Thursday evening, 24th inst., at which an excellent programme will be rendered.

Mr. George Gordon, of Rockwood, will review the Sunday School lessons for the months of May and June at the Bethel Union Sunday School next Sunday.

Quite a number of Nassagaweya people attended the Garden Party at Aberfoyle on Thursday afternoon and report a good time.

Quite a heavy hail storm on Tuesday of this week passed over this section. There was some damage done to growing crops.

BALLINAFAD

Statute labor is now the order of the day.

Miss Maggie McArthur, of Acton, visited at her parental home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira B. Vannatter spent last Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Barth, Terra Cotta.

Mrs. Wm. Powell and little daughter, Kathleen, have returned to their home in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, of Georgetown, motored up to Mr. John Lindsay's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira. Roszel spent the week-end with friends at Hillsburg and Cataract.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roszel, of Hillsburg, spent last week with Ballinafad friends.

Quite a number from here attended the Garden Party held at Brisbane School grounds last Friday evening and report a very pleasant time.

LETTERS FROM THE FRONT

Tom Alger, David Douglas and Fred Coles Write Friends Here

THEY ARE ALL FULL OF COURAGE

The letters from our boys at the front always contain news of interest. The following have been handed the FREE PRESS:

From the Trenches,
In France,
June 2nd, 1915.

Dear Mother:

You will be glad to know I am in the best of health. Have just come out of the trenches again. Of course everybody who went in was not so fortunate in getting out again. Billy Lee was killed with shrapnel from head to foot, but has a good chance for recovering.

Fred Wills was killed on the 23rd May. You might let his poor mother know. Godfrey, of Georgetown, was also killed. It will be pretty bad news for their homes. Still, there is nothing else for it. If I should get killed do not worry about me at all, as there is no use worrying. Some one has to stop the Germans in their run for England. I am sorry brother Bill is coming though.

The shell fire this last time was something terrible. The "Jack Johnsons" tear holes in the ground where they explode big enough to put a house in. For one whole day I lay in a hole dug in the ground 300 yards from the Germans with a field telephone keeping up communication with the reserves. Sometimes the flash of the guns would almost blind me for a few minutes, as their shells would burst over my head. How they missed dropping into the hole I was in I do not know. I offered up a prayer while I was in that hole, all right.

Another experience I had was one night when the communication wire was broken and I went out to find where the break was. Of course I was sniped at as everyone is who gets out of their hole, but owing to the darkness the shots went wild. After I had traced the wire so far I came to what I thought was a log on the wire. I stooped down and got a very startling shock. The obstruction happened to be a dead man. One would naturally be terrified at such a discovery, but having been out here for several months we have become accustomed to such experiences. Going on further I suddenly felt the wire jerked out of my hand. Of course I dropped at once, at the same time drawing my rifle to my shoulder, pointing at the spot. After waiting a little while I heard shuffling in the grass. I called "halt" and when they did not stop nor answer I fired. Just then a German star shell went up and I saw a sniper running away. I could not fire at him for fear of hitting some of our own men. A German sniper was shot a little while after so I suppose it must have been my man. He was dressed in one of our uniforms.

The Germans have gotten rather scared of us, judging from the number of star shells they put up at night. The Canadians are doing pretty good work and the English soldiers are excellent. With best wishes to you all,

Your loving son,
TOM ALGER.

The following letter was received from David Douglas by Rev. C. D. Draper, last week:

Ward 8, Southern General Hospital,
Bristol, Eng., June 3rd, 1915

Dear Mr. Draper:

Have just received your letter also one from Miss Bennett, our Sunday School teacher. Things are busy here about the hospitals. Wounded men are being brought in from France every day. I have never come across any of the Acton boys here, however. The day I was wounded Jimmy Gibb and I started advancing together with our company in extended order, two paces from each other. The chap next to me was hit so I stopped to dress his wounds. By the time I had completed first aid the company was 100 yards ahead. I started doubling the distance but had only got half way when another chap was lying struggling. I stopped and dressed his wounds and by the time I finished the company was still further away. I started running, went about twenty yards and dropped. This is the way we advance, so I kept doing this for a distance until I got a flesh wound on the left leg. I kept going but had not gone ten yards further when I got shot through the arm. I was all alone so I lay flat on the ground, shoved up my sleeve, and the blood gushed up over my face. I took out my field dressing, but could not tear it open with my left hand as it was rendered useless by the bullet. I succeeded in tearing it open with my teeth and dressed the wound, then ran back to the dressing station. All this time the bullets where whizzing all around me. I did not seem to care. It seemed when they hit me I did not care whether I was hit again or not. Well, Mr. Draper, this is a little of what I went through. I perhaps could tell you more but am not much of a writer, and as my arm is still quite painful it is uncomfortable to write long at a time.

Judging from what the doctor told me last night he seems doubtful if I will regain the use of my arm. The bullet broke the bones of the arm and lacerated the sinews of the fingers. I cannot move a finger yet.

Kind regards to all. Will be glad to hear from you again.

Sincerely yours,
DAVID DOUGLAS.

13380 Sergt. W. Coles,
5th Batt., 2nd Brigade,
1st Canadian Div., B.E.F.,
June 5th, 1915.

Editor Free Press:

Dear Sir: A line or two to let you know that I am still among the living. I notice that my name appears in the FREE PRESS as being wounded. I am thankful to say my name appears in mistake. Pte. Fred Coles is wounded, sure enough, but he happens to be another man and he happens to be in the same company as myself.

We have had rather a hot time of it lately and it is little short of a miracle that any of us are left. People at home will learn more from the papers than those of us who were in the fighting can tell them. I have not seen much of the 4th Battalion since April, when I had a long talk with Fred Wills just before going into action. From the time of going into action until we went into billets for a rest we were twenty-two days under shell fire. We thought it rather funny when we read that "The Canadians are now resting in billets behind the firing line." We were then in the trenches.

Mrs. Coles and Ernest are both well. Our regards to all whom we may know. We hope the time is not far off when we shall be able to return to Acton. Just now, however, we cannot tell when it will be.

Yours sincerely,
WILFRID COLES, Sergt.

Great Reception to Major James Ballantine

Realistic Recital of Tragic Events and Exciting Experiences in Connection with the War

A MOST INTERESTING EVENING

The people of Acton and vicinity united in according Major Ballantine an enthusiastic reception when he visited Acton last Thursday evening. The people appreciated to the full the opportunity of meeting this brave and gallant soldier fresh from the great battle fields of France, where he was so severely wounded that he was invalided home to recuperate.

The dainty octette of maidens in their red cross costumes had a strenuous task in finding comfortable seats for the large crowd which assembled at the town hall.

Col. A. L. Noble, Commandant of the 20th Regiment, of Halton, occupied the chair with much acceptance.

Reeve Hynds introduced Major Ballantine in well-chosen terms. He spoke of his courage, his soldierly attainments and the just cause he was fighting.

Major Ballantine, who has largely recovered from the serious wounds he received at Langemarck and later at Headquarters is still in a very nervous condition. He gave a tragic recital of the experiences in the trenches and in the engagements in which his regiment took so prominent a part. In passing he paid high tribute to the brave men of Acton who fell on the battle field and gave their lives for king and country—Pte. Fred Wills and Corp. William Lee. Much interesting information was given respecting the trenches, their method of construction, and life and experiences therein, guns and ammunition and the methods of warfare now as compared with those of a hundred years ago. He gave the British and French soldiers great credit for their skill and intrepidity, but believed the Canadians were equal to any of them for discipline, daring and endurance. Major Ballantine declared the German soldiers are skilled in warfare and much better prepared than the allies. He believes the war will continue at least into another winter.

Both at the opening and the close the doughty Major was accorded an ovation.

Brief addresses followed by H. P. Moore, Esq.; Rev. J. C. Wilson, B.A., Rev. H. Howarth, and Capt. McNair, commanding officer of the Fourth Contingent of Halton.

The addresses were interspersed with a splendid musical and literary programme. Mr. Ernest Warren, of Toronto, rendered four patriotic numbers in his magnificent voice. Every number was vociferously encored. Mrs. A. T. Brown gave two elocutionary numbers in her own splendid style, to the great delight of the large audience. Misses Gray and Williams played a piano duet which all appreciated. Acton Citizen's Band rendered a generous number of patriotic selections, both on the street and in the hall.

The hall was artistically decorated with flags, bunting and patriotic pennants, while the platform was profusely supplied with flowers.

The funds of the Red Cross Society were enhanced by some $35, the proceeds of the evening.

Major Ballantine was accompanied by Mrs. Ballantine, his father and mother and Mrs. Ballantine's mother and sister.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHN A. HENDERSON

Lena Borland Henderson passed away at the family residence, Grosvenor Street, Winnipeg, last Sunday. Mrs. Henderson had been a sufferer for several months, but she bore all her pain with cheerfulness and was always hopeful. She was a daughter of the late Amos Borland and was born in this county. Mrs. Henderson was an accomplished teacher and was engaged on Acton staff in 1888. She taught here for several years and numbers of her pupils now occupy high positions in city, town and country. About twenty years ago she was married to Mr. John A. Henderson, eldest son of D. Henderson, M. P. They resided in Acton for some two years, then removed to Beachville for a year or two and then went to Winnipeg. Her sorrowing husband and three children, Lieut. John Henderson of the 61st Battalion, Elsie and Clarence, survive. Mrs. Henderson visited her Acton friends about a year ago and was then in good health. Mrs. C. C. Henderson, Acton, is a sister. Mr. D. Henderson, M. P., went to Winnipeg to her bedside on Thursday, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Henderson followed Sunday evening. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon.

MRS. JONATHAN H. LANE

The somewhat sudden death of Mrs. Jennie Somerville Lane on Tuesday evening was a great blow to her friends. She had been ill for several months but until a few weeks ago her recovery was hoped for. She was the oldest daughter of the late Thomas Somerville, was born in Esquesing 44 years ago, and spent a number of years in Acton, endearing herself to all who knew her by her kind and unselfish disposition and her constant consideration for others. She was an active Christian worker, a member of the Methodist Church. Nine years ago she was married to her sorrowing husband. Three children are left motherless, Ada Jean, Helen and Thomas Elmore. Mrs. Lane's aged mother, Mrs. Thomas Somerville, Acton, feels the loss very keenly. Her surviving brothers and sisters are, Richard, of London, Murray, of North Battleford, Sask., William and Ada, Acton. The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at two o'clock to Limehouse Cemetery.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENT AT OAKVILLE

Deputy-Reeve Hillmar informed the Oakville Council at last meeting that he had a letter from D. Henderson, M. P., who stated that the Public Works Department had accepted the engineer's recommendation re the repairs at Oakville harbor at a cost of about $1,500. The work is to be started at once.—News.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system.

To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and upbuild your strength.

Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

THE FESTIVAL OF ST. ALBAN

Large Audience at St. Alban's Church on Sunday Evening to Hear Archdeacon Davidson

The festival of St. Alban the Martyr was duly celebrated on Sunday in St. Alban's Church. The building was filled to its utmost capacity in the evening when the Venerable Archdeacon Davidson, of St. George's Church, Guelph, delivered the sermon.

The Archdeacon, who took for his text the passage from St. John, 15: 13, "Greater love has no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend," gave a most stirring and impressive sermon. He briefly outlined the story of St. Alban, who was a Roman soldier who gave shelter to St. Amphibilus when the persecution of the Christians first took place in Britain. In a short space of time he had not only adopted the Christian faith but when the hiding place was discovered, he changed clothes with St. Amphibilus enabling him to escape, and gave himself up and suffered martyrdom.

The Archdeacon laid special emphasis on the fact that the first British martyr was a soldier and layman and not a bishop or missionary as is usually understood. He also asked if it were possible for any one of the congregation, if they were the guest of an infidel or heathen, to be able in two or three weeks, not only to convince them of the true and living God, but have them ready and willing to die for that God. Continuing he said "There may be twenty men in this congregation ready and willing to give up their lives for their country; is there one ready to give up his life for his religion?"

Rev. Mr. Davidson spoke very strongly on the war and the just cause it stood for and made a very touching and appropriate reference to Corporal William Lee who when in Acton was one of the most capable and enthusiastic members of the Church.

The Archdeacon, who motored from Arkell in the afternoon, was the guest of Mr. Torrance Beardmore and returned to Guelph immediately after the service. His visit was most heartily appreciated by everyone. This sermon created a deep impression on all who were present.

The Rector, Rev. H. H. Wilkinson, M. A., conducted the service which was very bright and cheerful and fully in keeping with the occasion. The church was tastefully and beautifully decorated and reflecting credit on those who took part in the work and was greatly admired. The recent painting is a decided improvement to the appearance of the interior. Mr. H. George must feel fully repaid for his efforts by the generous remarks of appreciation heard from all.

"The Customer is Always Right"

THIS is the text or motto of a great and famous department store in Chicago. It is an assertion of the customer's place of supremacy in the relation between buyer and seller.

Any retailer who slights his customer is committing business suicide. The customer wants those who serve him or her to use the newspaper as a vehicle for their announcements of goods or service.

This is the modern and right idea. Newspaper advertisements give desired business news in the right place and at the right time. To ignore your customer's wishes in this matter is to commit a costly mistake — far more costly than newspaper space.

To the Merchants of Acton

Keep your eyes on your customers and humor them. It pays to do so. Keep very close to them—by means of advertisements in the Free Press.

The Superiority of Tone

In COLUMBIA DOUBLE-DISC RECORDS is due to the Patented and Exclusive Columbia Process of manufacture

Columbia Records are Built-Up. Instead of economizing and using one mixture for the whole record, Columbia records are made in Three Layers, using the cheaper material in the centre only where it doesn't count in the reproduction. The best and most expensive material the world can provide is used on the outer surfaces on which the sound wave or music is engraved.

That's why Columbia Records Sound Better and Wear Longer—the same difference in value as there is between an ordinary pine and an expensive built-up oak door.

All Columbia records are double, a different selection on each side.

And yet these records cost you less money than any others.

You are not getting the utmost value for your money or the best out of your machine — no matter of what make—unless you use Columbia records.

Of Course, Columbia Records are Made in Canada

If you have never tried Columbia records, ask to hear the following selections. We will gladly play them and any others for you.

The former record was 1.50, held jointly by the horses Many, Maid Marian and Sir Rhoster.
