During the later years the Howitt "hays" had been spending their summers at the old home and like publicepirited altizons, had been spending some of their fortunes in improving the place. Some yours 'ago, among other Improvemosts, and noting the need of a first-class hotel, they purchased the best of the exist. ng buildings, made a considerable addition to it, and fitted it up with equipment modore in every particular. A few years ago, whon, as Mr. John Howitt says "We had us much money as we know what to do with," the brothers sold their interests in the Michie press business and came home to the old home town to spend the rest of their lays. Now, one of the brothers acts as manager of the hotel, while the other rouldes at the old family home, a splendid

"Turned loose in a Posch Orchard" in the middle of the season would in itself make the subject for rather an interesting article. However, the development of this must be left to the imagination. Buffico it to say that after full justice had been done to the fruit or this trees an invitation was given to the packing house where serting and packing for market was proceeding and where the motor was so loaded with baskets of the choloest fruit that there was little room to spure in the tenneau during the rest of the homoward trip. One of the pleasantest incidents of the call was a trip through the old house which though its old-time features and appearance have been largely preserved, has been antiquely-modernized, if such is possible. While all modern con-

A Successful Business Career

Buccessful business men recognize as the foundation of their career the early formation of the thrift habit. The accumulation of a competence should be commenced during boyhood. There is little dimculty in sustaining the effort after a beginning has been made. Lasting success in life is not attained, however, until a sound depository is found for one's money.
