4,000 Soldiers Passed Through Acton from London to Camp Borden passed through Acton on Sunday. The first train passed through about 4.30 a. m. and at intervals during the day until about four o'clock the others followed. The transportation to the new camp was so largely made on Sunday because the railway lines were free from the regular weekday traffic and the pussenger concluse were available. The soldiers were in excellent spirits as they stopped here. Oue of the trains walted at Actou for twenty minutes or so at nown, just us the hoys were served with mid-day rations of pork and beans and biscults.
