Mary had a little lamb—

About the size of a thumb.

POPULARITY

It is possible for a person to be undoubtedly popular. His popularity may not be due to good qualities but to wealth or other advantages.

A humble person may after all have many real friends as any honored one. The friends of the former are generally true, being friendly because of admiration for him and not because they are seeking worldly favor.

Unless he is a very bad character, one with only a few enemies is generally a man of better principle than is one with only a few enemies. The former usually will seek popularity, but the latter generally does not.

It is easy for anybody to become popular if he has the advantage. When a person has only a few enemies they generally have good reasons for being such. It is found that many a popular man will be very generous in his dealings with people he wants for friends but unmerciful when dealing with those whose friendship he does not desire.

One person may truthfully say of another that he may have acted good with nearly everybody else but that he acted meanly with him.

Castiveness and its Cures—When the excretory organs refuse to perform their functions properly the intestines become clogged. This is known as castiveness and if neglected gives rise to dangerous complications. Parme-tine's Vegetable Pills will effect a speedy cure. At the first intimation of this ailment the sufferer should procure a packet of the pills and put himself under a course of treatment. The good effects of the pills will be almost immediately evident.

THE EXPLANATION

A man was seeing candidates for the post of junior clerk in his office, and many of those who applied brought testimonials. The boy who was engaged was one who brought no letters, and was accorded a very short interview.

A friend asked the merchant to give him an explanation.
"Well," he said, "the boy I engaged wiped his feet on the mat as he came in, closed the door after him, picked up a book which I had placed purposely in his path, waited quietly until I spoke, and answered my questions promptly. His hair and clothes were brushed, his boots were clean. I think these were the very best letters of recommendation that he could possibly have brought."—My Magazine.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer with lame muscles and stiffened joints because blood impurities have invaded the system and caused rheumatism.

To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and upbuild your strength. Try it.

Health cannot be looked for in this child that is subject to worms, because worms destroy health by creating internal disturbances, stagnating development and causing serious weakness.

Mittler's Worm Powders expel worms and are so beneficial in their action that the systems of the little sufferers are restored to healthfulness, all the discomforts and dangers of worm infection are removed, and satisfactory growth is assured.

WHEN YOU READ A BOOK

In your reading of a book, there are three questions which will determine the value of that book to yourself.
These questions are: "Has it pleased me and why?" "Has it enlightened me, and how?" and "Has it inspired me, and how?" An affirmative answer to these questions with definite reasoning on each answer, will show you that you have added just so much working and thinking power to your life.

it is to long with all their hearts for escape as from a traitor. Never do they know when an attack may come and they know that to struggle un-

they can say good-bye to their enemy and enjoy life again. It helps at once.

A BRASS FINISHER

The son of a rich father decided that he ought to enlist, and went to the recruiting station. He was asked his occupation.

"Why—well, just going through the gov-nor's money, don't you know," was the reply.

The officer seemed in doubt how to classify him, when a corporal standing near came to his assistance with a brilliant suggestion.

"Put him down as a brass finisher, sir," he said.

SHORT CUTS

One of the secrets of business success is to find the short cuts. That does not mean doing away with anything of value, but merely eliminating the superfluous. The business expert who comes into contact with information increase its efficiency by looking for an unnecessary process that can be omitted, or an unnecessary worker who can be dispensed with.

A great many short cuts are to be regarded with suspicion. We have reason to distrust any suggestion of shortening the process by dispensing with preparation. But in these days of close competition, our success depends on learning to do the most in the least time. On our ability to concentrate upon our task we get the most results, for every five minutes of effort expended. The short cut which is the result of an American's level head is increasingly in favor.

THE BITING KIND

The East End doctor was attending an injured woman who had come to his surgery with her arm severely bitten.

He crossed the wound, and as he did so he remarked:
"I cannot quite make out what sort of animal bit you. This was one too small for a horse's bite and too large for a dog's."

"Oh, it wasn't an animal," exclaimed the patient. "It was another lady."—Tit-Bits.

WAR TANKS 2,000 YEARS OLD

"Is the war tank not a brand new invention?" was one of the questions that came to the editor of "2,000 Questions and Answers About the Great War." Probably 222 people out of 1,000 would answer "Yes" unhesitatingly.

On the staff of the Review of Reviews, which produced the book, there was, however, a specialist on ancient wars, and he spotted the whole thing by answering that the first war tanks were used exactly 2167 years before they made their appearance on the British-German front. It was during the gigantic siege by Rome and her allies of Carthage, the "Queen of Africa." After many months of assault, which ended only in wounds of Roman dead over the fatal walls, the besiegers suddenly approached under wheeled shields, the Roman soldiers enormous armored tanks shaped like tortoises. Into beneath these huge wheeled shields, the Roman soldiers labored to breach the walls, unmindful of the rocks, spears, boiling water and oil, molten metal and liquid fire which the desperate Carthaginians poured on them. Before that ancient siege was ended the Romans devised super-tanks—genuine land-dread-noughts. It will be worth while to watch for some such development this year.

THOSE RURAL PROFITEERS

And men relate that Mrs. Newly-wed went to the grocery store to do her morning marketing. And she was surprised that the grocer should not take advantage of her youth and inexperience.

"These eggs are dreadfully small," she criticized.

"I know it," he answered. "But that's the kind the farmer brings me. They are just fresh from the country this morning."

"Yes," said the bride, "and that's the trouble with these eggs sold here, they are so anxious to get their eggs sold that they take them off the nest too soon!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Silent Heroes
of the War

THE men of the Merchant Marine—do you ever give them a thought?
The whole submarine campaign is aimed to frighten this non-combatant force of the seas.
For them—
Britain, France, Italy would face starvation.
Our armies could not fight.
Canada would be wrecked commercially.
The fight for liberty would be lost.

Yet governments make no official recognition of this heroic body of 300,000 men who toil day and night in danger of death. No provision is made for pensions, or relief for their dependents.
We must admit our debt to the widows and orphans of the 15,000 men of the Merchant Marine, who have gone down, victims of the U-Boat. Our cry must be—

"They Shall Not Want"

In his famous speech of August 8th, 1918, Premier Lloyd George said:
"During the past two years Germany has made two distinct attempts to force a decision—one on the land and one on the sea. The land offensive might have been disastrous, but the sea offensive, if done, had succeeded, would have been fatal. If the submarines had succeeded, our armies in France would have withered away. No American could have come over to assist us and the French troops. Ammunition could not have been shipped and we could not have sent the necessary coal and material to crush France and Italy to manufacture munitions. France, Italy and Great Britain were threatened with starvation the war would have been over before this stage had been reached."

THE soldier is rightly remembered with gifts, separation allowance and pension. He is honored, as is his due.
The men of the Navy are provided for and their dependents are not allowed to suffer want.
But the seamen of the Merchant Marine—facing death in a hideous form at their daily work, risk all at the call of duty.
It would be a lasting disgrace to allow the widows and orphans of the noble 15,000 to suffer hardship, other than the loss of their dear ones. Those who died on the sea are calling to you now.
