EVERYONE WANTS THEIR MONEY'S

Natural Desire is Not to Get the Worst of Any Business Trans-

PERSON WHO BUYS FROM CATALOGUE HOUSE SEES ONLY THE PRICE AND FORGETS THAT VALUE IS THING THAT COUNTS

action-Cheapest Not Always Best

When you spend your money you naturally want to get all you can in return. No one can crticize you for having that desire. Only those who are commonly referred to as having "more money than sense" throw their money away. All others are careful to see that they do not get the worst of any bargain. But one has to be able to look farther than the end of his none if he is to be sure that he is getting the most that he can get for his money. That is the defense of the man who buys from the mail order house instead of patronizing the merchants in his own town. He says he can get more for his money when he buys from the mail order man than when he spends his money at home. But in arriving at that conclusion he certainly has not been able to look farther than the end of

In most cases the man who buys goods from a mail order house does so because he thinks he is getting the goods for less money than he would have to pay for them at the store in his own town. He thinks he is looking out for No. I and he mays it is not his fault if the merchant in his town cannot make any money and is forced to go out of business, He overlooks the fact that he is likely to be as hard hit as anyone else when that inerchant closes his doors but, leaving that probability out of consideration, the chances are about 10 to 1 that the buyer mus really lost money on his deal with the mail order man.

PRICE NOT THE ONLY CONSIDERATION If buying an article of any kind, whether it be a house and lot or a paper of pins, the price is not the only thing to be considered by any means. You are not in the habit of going into a store when you want to buy a sult of clothes and saying to the storekeeper: "live me the cheapest suit of clothes you have in the house." You want the best suit of clothes you can get for the price you pay for it but you don't unually want the chespest thing you can find.

A man may delude himself into believing that when he buys a suit of clothes from a mail order house for $10 he is saving money, but what is there to justify him in such a belief? The mere fact that he is getting a suit for $10 does not mean that he is saving money. The trances are that if he should go to the man who runs the clothing store in his own town and ask for it he could get a suit of clothes for $10 and the chances are also that it would be just as good if not a better burgain than the suit which he could get from the mail order house for the same sum. It is not the price he pays that shows whether he is getting a bargain or not. It is the quality of goods that he gets for his money that counts.

CAN UNDERBELL MAIL ORDER HOUSE The home merchant can sell as cheaply as the mail order if he sells as cheap goods as the mail order man sells. His expercto. There will b are not as heavy as those of the muit order man. He pays less in proportion to the business he does, his taxes are less in proportion at which the work to the capital invested. Illa advertising bills are tres than those of opinion on a mail order man in proportion to the volume of his sales. He can und sell the mail order man any day in the year if he wishes to sell only on the refer mantes goods of the same quality and style of those sold by the mail order man, but he doesn't do this because he knows that the majority of the

READY TO COMPARE PRICES Your home merchant is a business man. He gets the best values he can for his money when he buys goods, and he does not expect his customers to do anything clae. All that he asks, in return for the favors he does his customers and the things he does for the good of his community is that he be given un opportunity to meet the insidious competition of the mail order house. He is perfectly willing to have his prices and his values compared to those of the mall order house, but he han a just complaint when he is not given a chance to make this com-

If all buyers would take the value us well as the price of the article they are buying into consideration, the mail order housen would all go out of business to-morrow.
