FIGHT THE GOOD FIGHT

Fight the good fight with all thy might,
Christ is thy strength, and Christ thy right;
Lay hold on life, and it shall be
Thy joy and crown eternally.

Run the straight race through God's good grace;
Lift up thine eyes, and seek His face.
Life with its path before us lies,
Christ is the way, and Christ the prize.
Cast care aside, lean on thy Guide;
His boundless mercy will provide;
Trust, and thy trusting soul shall prove
Christ is its life, and Christ its love.

Faint not, nor fear, His arms are near,
He changeth not, and thou art dear;
Only believe, and thou shalt see
That Christ is all in all to thee.

Amen.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the issue of the Free Press of Thursday, September 21, 1899

Last week's frost bit the silo corn rather seriously.

Beech-nutting is a favorite Saturday pastime for boys and girls now.

The night of Wednesday, September 13, will be remembered for the first heavy frost of 1899—nearly a month earlier than last year.

Mrs. Jennie B. Matthews has disposed of her bread and confectionery business to Mr. Chester Matthews, who takes possession next week.

Owing to the number of new pupils admitted to the primary department since the opening of school, a number of the pupils have been advanced to the other departments. Miss McQueen has over 70 registered in her room.

The Council has sold the coal oil street lamps to the Village of Port Lambton. The western village to be illuminated takes fifty lamps at $1.75 and a number of the lamp posts at 25 cents each. This will relieve the streets of fifty of the numerous posts planted there.

The annual Western excursions over the G. T. R. are announced for the 28th, 29th and 30th insts. The fares from Acton are as follows: To Port Huron and Detroit, $3.20; Cleveland, $5.70; Saginaw and Bay City, $6.20; Chicago and Cincinnati, $9.20. Tickets are good to return up to October 16.

The ladies of Mill and Main Streets, to the number of about 35, including children, held their fourth annual picnic at the home of Mr. John Walters on Tuesday of last week. The spacious lawn and home were thrown open to the guests. Liveryman Williams was engaged for the occasion and with his usual good nature and liberality drove the ladies over. As Mr. and Mrs. Walters leave the farm, and move to the home lately occupied by Mr. Pletch, on Park Avenue, Acton, shortly, this was a farewell picnic.

To the young people of St. Alban's Church are due much credit for the beautiful decorations which adorned the sacred edifice for the Harvest Festival last Sunday. Rev. T. T. Wallace, B. A., of Norval, preached on Friday evening and the Sunday services were conducted by the Rector.

Two highly esteemed families remove from Acton to Toronto this week, Mr. Thomas Perryman, Jr., to engage in the grocery business there. Mr. Thomas Brunt, Jr., has secured a position in the C. P. R. freight sheds and his family left on Saturday to join him.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church held a Coffee Social last Thursday evening. After partaking of coffee, sandwiches and cake in the school room, an enjoyable programme was listened to in the auditorium. Music was provided by Misses Nicklin and Nelson, Miss Lexie Clark, Mr. R. J. Gurney and the Sunday School orchestra; readings were given by Miss Eva McKeown and Mr. H. P. Moore.

SPEEDING THE PARTING GUEST

"Val" is a French-Canadian giant, proprietor of the fishing privilege on several choice lakes, and of a hotel adjacent to them. He is a silent man, says a writer in the New York Evening Post, and seldom speaks except to good purpose.

He sat one day behind the bar, rubbing a jointed rod, when his assistant entered, having in tow two new arrivals—extraordinary imitations of man, called "globe-trotters." Val gave them not a glance.

"Ah, my—er—my good fellah!" said one, stroking his drooping mustache.

"Good evening!" said Val, impassively.

"Ah—you have—er—fishing round heah?"

"We have."

"And—er—boats?"

"Yes."

"And—er—guides?"

"Yes."

"Then—er—my good fellah, you may—er—show us our rooms. We shall remain heah for some time, if you show that you are—er—deserving."

Impassive still, the giant selected two keys, conducted the guests upstairs, came back, and resumed his task of polishing. Almost at once heavy boots came down the stairs, and one of the newcomers reappeared.

"Ah—er—my good fellah," he complained. "Really, don't ye know, I'm surprised. No water in the room. Have to treat us better than that, ye know!"

This time there was no doubt. Val raised his eyebrows. But his voice was quiet as he called a boy and ordered the water. It went up in blue-enameled pitchers. Almost at once the tourist reappeared.

"Ah, my—er—good fellah," he said. "Haven't you a—er—a glass jug anywhere, fit for a gentleman to drink from?"

Then the impassive one spoke.

"Say," he said, you know dat train you tak to harrive here?"

"Certainly."

"She's come hup, hup, hup, all de time, ver' slow. It is not? Tak two hunguine?"

"Yes."

"Tak long while to harrive here, is it not? Always hup, hup, hup?"

"Yes—er—quite an ascent."

"Ver, good. In de morning—six-feefteen—she's go down, down, down. Den she go fas', like blazes. I call you een time."

Val returned to his task of polishing his rods, and the tourist, after vainly puzzling for the key to Val's remarks, went upstairs to commune with his fellow traveller.

When Asthma Comes do not despair, turn at once to the help effective—Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. This wonderful remedy will give you the aid you need so sorely. Choking ceased, breathing becomes natural and without effort. Others, thousands of them, have suffered as you suffer but have wisely turned to this famous remedy and ceased to suffer. Get a package this very day.

A WRONG DIAGNOSIS

"Well, well," said the pompous doctor, "and how has our little one been in the interim?"

"O," replied the anxious mother, "she hasn't complained of that at all; it's her stomach that pains her to-day."—Exchange.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FOR SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 21

BY JESSE L. HURLBUT

THE HOLY SCRIPTURES—Psa. 19, 7-14; 2 Tim. 3, 14-17.

Additional Material for Teachers.—Psa. 119; Matt. 4, 1-11; Luke 4, 16-22; John 5, 39-47; Acts 17, 10-12.

Common Scripture Passage

7. The law of Jehovah is perfect, restoring the soul:
The testimony of Jehovah is sure, making wise the simple.

8. The precepts of Jehovah are right, rejoicing the heart:
The commandment of Jehovah is pure, enlightening the eyes.

9. The fear of Jehovah is clean, enduring for ever;
The ordinances of Jehovah are true, and righteous altogether.

10. More to be desired are they than gold, yea, than much fine gold;
Sweeter also than honey and the droppings of the honeycomb.

11. Moreover by them is thy servant warned:
In keeping them there is great reward.

12. Who can discern his errors?
Clear thou me from hidden faults.

13. Keep back thy servant also from presumptuous sins;
Let them not have dominion over me:
Then shall I be upright,
And I shall be clear from great transgression.

14. Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart
Be acceptable in thy sight,
O Jehovah, my rock, and my redeemer.

Golden Text.—
Thy word is a lamp unto my feet,
And light unto my path.—Psa. 119, 105.

Lesson Thoughts

There is one book, or collection of books forming a library, which has been translated into almost every language on the earth; more widely circulated than the most popular novels; requiring twenty-five million copies every year to supply the worlds' demand. That volume is the Bible; and the reason for the world's interest in it is that it contains the message of God to men.

1. Prophets of old heard and spoke this message of God. In one small nation beside the banks of the Jordan appeared a series of men through fifteen centuries, from Abraham to Malachi; men living in communion with God, listening to his word, and speaking the message—a gradually growing revelation—to their countrymen. And afterward arose Jesus Christ, God's son, the supreme representative of God to man, followed by his apostles and teachers.

2. The Israelite people treasured the words of these holy men of old, repeated them from generation to generation, and kept them in their memory. Some of the ancient stories of the early days were doubtless told for centuries before being written down.

3. When by the exile and dispersion of the Israelites there was danger that the divine revelation would be lost, a new order of officers arose—the scribes. These men gathered the old stories told by the sages, with the scattered leaves of prophetic teaching, and wrote them down in sacred scrolls which were kept in the synagogues, and read at every service of worship.

4. When the ancient tongues of the Bible ceased to be spoken, and modern languages arose, nations longed to read these books; and a succession of great scholars translated the Holy Scriptures into the speech of Europe.

5. As a result of this chain of prophets, sages, scribes, scholars, we have this priceless Book of books, the Bible. Let us prize, revere it; it; and, above all, read it, obey it, and teach it to the message from God.

BY WAY OF SUGGESTION

Is there a difference between trying to do a right thing and trying not to do a wrong thing? Which is the more difficult and the more commendable, to obey a "Thou shalt" or a "Thou shalt not"? Is there any point of suggestion for parents and teachers in the following incident?

The proprietor of a grocery store chanced to glance out of a plate-glass window and saw a small boy lingering around a barrel of apples exhibited on the sidewalk. "Hey, there, boy," exclaimed the groceryman, going to the door. "What are you doing?"

"Nothing," laconically answered the boy, with his eyes still fixed on the barrel.

"Nothing, eh?" doubtfully returned the man. "Aren't you trying to steal some of those apples?"

"No, sir," responded the youngster. "I'm trying not to."

WORDS OF WISDOM

Be kind; it makes your life like a June day, attracts friends and confounds enemies.

Be just; you never can tell how soon the fellow to whom you are unjust will have the screws on you.

Be joyous; there is but one life to live, and to miss having had any gratification out of it is a calamity, indeed.

Be true; then you may expect others to be true to you.

Be sincere; others noting your sincerity will give confidences and be likewise sincere with you.

Be thoughtful; the iron enters the soul in after-life when we have been neglectful of those who love us.

Thoughts are what happen when your brain gets busy. Also, thoughts are the servants sent out by your mind to shape the complete deeds.

Think twice when your master speaks.

IT WAS DIFFERENT THEN

The brother and his wife were sitting at the fireside, he being in a deep study, when the wife sweetly asked him:

"My dear, what are you thinking about?"

He said: "Why, I was just wondering if Jonah's wife believed him when he explained his absence from home by telling her he had been swallowed by a whale."—Exchange.

DAYLIGHT THROUGH THE PLANT

YOU flood the factory with the most brilliant artificial light when you use HYDRO Gas Filled Lamps. The worker in the middle of the room, away from all windows, turns out as good work and as much of it as the worker right by a window.

HYDRO Gas Filled Lamps are as great an improvement over vacuum lamps, for factory light, as the tungsten is over the carbon filament lamp. That's why factory hands work so efficiently by the light of HYDRO.

The guarantee and endorsement of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario are behind every HYDRO Gas Filled Lamp. Every shipment is tested by experts in the laboratories of the Commission. The tests are for brilliancy, current consumption, life and mechanical perfection.

Will you call at the Hydro Shop and let us give you a practical demonstration of the HYDRO Gas Filled Lamp?
