Licence inspectors are complaining that boozes are not up to the level that many who like a "couplar of shillies" can afford to buy. The steak is not a quart of rye—Guelph Mercury.

The Wine and Spirit Journal, the organ of the liquor interests in Canada, published in Toronto, has gone out of business. For many years it vigorously defended the liquor laws and had no illusions as to the effect of prohibition on the "trade."
