THE LOCK ON THE PENNY BANK

I know two boys, named Joe and Frank
Each has a little penny bank.
Joe's bank is made of shining tin;
The pennies clink when they slide in.
Frank's bank is just a wooden box
Tied up with string; it has no locks.
And yet the money grows and grows,
Well, how is that, do you suppose?
Joe whirls and gwirls his bank about
And shakes the shining pennies out.
He never has a cent to spare;
His money seems to melt in air.
But Frank's store has a magic way
Of growing bigger day by day.
The reason is it's really Frank,
Who saves the money, not the bank!
For what can matter, bank or box,
When self-denial guards the locks?

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the issue of the Free Press of Thursday, January 25, 1900.

The school board is asking for tenders for 25 cords maple and 10 cords beech, four feet long, sound, good body wood.

Rev. E. I. Crawford, whose year's engagement with the Disciples' congregation has just terminated, preached his farewell sermon last Sunday morning, text:

At a meeting of the ladies of the various churches, in the Methodist Church Thursday afternoon, it was decided to organize a Women's Christian Temperance Union in Acton.

"Where did all the children come from?" was a current question on the streets here between three and four o'clock last Friday afternoon, when the fun sleighs filled with Sunday School scholars drove in from Acton. They were a merry crowd and evidently enjoyed the sleighride.—Georgetown correspondent.

The sleighride promised the scholars of the Methodist Sunday School masterpiece last Saturday afternoon and was a marked success. Shortly after one o'clock 207 scholars and teachers were loaded into sleighs. The day was a delightful one and the company of merrymakers with their multitude of flags, tin-horns, etc., had a most enjoyable outing. A pleasant hour was spent in the school room of the Methodist Church, Georgetown, where the Superintendent and teachers of the Georgetown Sunday School served hot coffee and sandwiches.

On Monday, Mr. W. R. Travers, manager of the Halifax branch of the Merchants Bank, arrived in town and opened an office in the brick building on Mill Street occupied by R. J. McNabb. As last Acton has a chartered bank located within her borders and business men and farmers who have had banking accounts in Guelph, Georgetown and elsewhere, will be enabled to do their banking business at home. Mr. J. H. Wallace, late accountant at Windsor, is the manager of the Acton branch.

The Free Press received the following message from Gunner W. J. Moore, "D" Battery, before sailing in the Laurentian from Halifax for South Africa:—

Halifax, January 20, 1900

Just about to embark on the Laurentian. All well and anxious to proceed to the Cape. Hope to see Kruger at race in Pretoria on the Queen's Birthday. Gould and Ballantyne join me in kind farewell to all old friends.

W. J. MOORE

The Laurentian did not sail until nine o'clock Sunday morning owing to a heavy storm.

Buller's forces are slowly advancing and it is likely Ladysmith will be relieved before the week is over. He has 38,000 men under him.

At the regular meeting of the Council on Monday evening Chief Harvey and Secretary-McDonald of the Acton Fire Brigade presented the following report:

Gentlemen: The Acton Fire Brigade begs to present its annual report for 1899, as follows: The Brigade has thirty-four officers and firemen; held thirteen meetings during the year, had six practices; and five calls to practice when not sufficient firemen turned out to handle the apparatus. The fire engine was taken out and tested seven times and five times to fill the electric power house boiler. Average attendance at meetings and practices, sixteen.

The Brigade had only one call to a fire during the year. This was to the vacant house of W. P. Campbell, at the corner of Brock Street and Victoria Avenue on the morning of Friday, December 29, last, but the building was nearly burned down before the alarm was turned in.—

The officers for the present year elected on January 8, are: Chief, John Harvey; Captain Hook and Ladder Company, J. A. Speight; Foremen, Thomas Gamble; Capt. Hose Reels, Chas. Wonham; Lieut. No. 1, George Soper; Lieut No. 2, Thomas Gibbons; Secretary-Treasurer, Duncan McDonald; Asst. Secretary, Thomas Lee.

Signed,
John Harvey, Chief
D. McDonald, Secretary.

MARRIED

JESSOP-LESLIE—At Balsam Grove Farm, Erin, the residence of the bride's parents, on Wednesday, January 17, by Rev. H. H. Christie, of St. Catharines, assisted by Rev. S. W. Holden, Mr. Wesley Jessop, Erin, to Bertha, daughter of Geo. Leslie.

Help for Asthma. Neglect gives asthma a great advantage. The trouble, once it has secured a foothold, fastens its grip on the bronchial passages, tenaciously. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is daily curing cases of asthma of long standing. Years of suffering, however, might have been prevented had the remedy been used when the trouble was in its first stage. Do not neglect asthma, but use this preparation at once.

LIFE'S CALENDAR

One goes another leaf. We tear it away, and put it into the wastebasket. We have no more use for the dates of the days that are past. And is that true also of our lives? Have the days been such that there is nothing further for them than to be torn off and put into the wastebasket at the end of the month? Or is there an eternal quality in them? Have we put something into them such that they shall be cherished and kept if not on earth then in heaven—like one of those calendars which have on them, with the passing date, some great word of poet or prophet, which comes as a message to us, so that we do not cast the leaf away, but save it, put it into our scrapbook or perhaps in our pocketbook. That passing day has a living word.

Children suffering from worms show the symptoms gaun, and any mother can detect the presence of these parasites by the writhings and fretting of the child. Until expelled and the system cleared of them, the child cannot regain its health. Miller's Worm Powders are prompt and efficient, not only for the eradication of worms, but give us a tone up for children that are run down in consequence.

'Tis because they do not burn it.

MUSICAL TALKS

C. G. Laugher, Mus. Bac., Bowmanville

No. V.—Musical Scales

From a musical magazine I read from this "Music Questions Answered" the following: Question—"Why do people make such a fuss over scales? They make me quite tired for there are none in any of the pieces I have ever played." Answer—"Any more than there are examples of the alphabet in any books you have read. The scale is the foundation of music and it is because you don't know your scales that you are such a wretchedly bad reader of music."

That is pretty straight, and we do not need to wonder how it was known that the questioner was a wretchedly bad reader of music. This reminds me of the proverb: "The less one knows, the more he shows off." Also the other similar to it: "You know much when you know how little you know."

"We know that many think and some pupils say, "What's the good of all those finger exercises and scales." It is natural for them to think it, because it is a little tiresome at first and needs concentration of mind. I must answer, that to play scales and finger work is a good essential habit and absolutely necessary to one's future musical success. It is tiresome at first, but when mastered, what wonderful results! A child first attempting to walk. Is it not tiresome at first? It needs practice to acquire the art, but oh the wonderful result when mastered!

Let it be known that scales are great time savers, the modes avoid difficulties, provides ease and natural phrasing and the fingers do not get mixed. Enough has been said to show that concentration means success, system brings results, and slow practice means fast progress!

I will endeavor to interest you in the scale, how it came about, and of different nations' method, etc. First, what is a scale? The word is taken from the Latin word "scala" meaning a "ladder." It refers to a series of tones taken in direct succession through the interval of an octave. You are, of course, acquainted with the diatonic scale—a succession of notes which occur in the key indicated by the signature, and the chromatic scale—made up entirely of semitones.

Pentatonic Scale

The pentatonic scale is made up of a five toned scale,—same as our major scale—omitting the 4th and the 7th note, or you may understand it better by taking only the black notes (sharps) of the piano, beginning on C sharp to the next C sharp, that forms the pentatonic scale. This scale is used by the Chinese, and it is also called the Scotch scale.

You may think that music was made from the scales, but that is not so, for music was in existence long before any scale, yet the last of music was not until a scale was formed.

The First Scale

The first scale which history gives to us is of Greek origin and simply a group of 3 notes, the interval of a fourth below a given note, and a note above that fourth. Turn to the keyboard and strike C, then A flat (below) then G (a note lower) keep playing these in any order, one after the other, and when you are through make G the final note, and A flat the second last, and thus you have the total number of notes used, and a series of the tune as it must have sounded.

We get the intervals from the scale, but the Chinese Octave is out of tune to our ear; so is the Siamese also. You are familiar with the major third and also minor third, yet some have a third, that is between the two. The Oriental system thinks of scales and intervals as tending downward. We recognize them as ascending, particularly the leading note which is next to the Tonic (most important) note, and which leads up to it, which forms a cadence. Think of the natural cadence of man's voice. It tends downward, for when a man raises his voice at the end of a sentence he is either asking a question or expressing a final cadence.

The lesser important notes of the scale we think of them being brought about by the wavering of the voice of the important note; a tremolo, or up and down method of singing forming an indefinite developed ornamental note to the essential note.

The Pentatonic, (5 notch) scale used by China, Japan, Java and the Pacific Island, have some of the other notes but only as ornamental; but the pentatonic, or 5-note will be the octave to the unmistakable original system.

There was a time when the Greeks' musical system was the most important, and different modes were invented of the scale as the following will show, but you must think only of the white keys of the piano: Doric arranged the scale beginning on the note D to the octave E. The next was the Phrygian mode commencing on D. The Lydian mode was an arrangement from the note C; Aeolic beginning on A; the Hypolydeon beginning on F and so on.

Play these scales over, and you will soon realize that the Lydian is what we use as our standard scale, and that the Aeolic is the relative minor, that is, after we have raised the seventh note to make it a leading note.

Chromatic Scale

The Chromatic scale as we understand it is made up of 12 semitones from C to C (octave). You may be surprised when you learn that a famous lute player in Greece formed the octave into 17 equal divisions, and also that the Indian scale at one time had 22 equal divisions, and the Persians had a remarkable system of 24 equal parts.

The last stage of refinement in the development of our scale system was the installation of the keys to one another of the tuning of the 12 semitones so that the same mode may be started from any note as the tonic.

Until the 16th century musicians did not use more accidentals than B flat and F sharp, C sharp and G sharp. J. S. Bach gave expression to his faith in his well-known works "Preludes and Fugues" in all keys, calling it the well tempered Clavier. We are thankful that the beautiful music that we hear every day from the Piano, talking machine, pipe organ, bands and orchestra must make one feel like this little girl:

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK
Did you ever stop to think
How dreadful it would be,
If all the music in the world
Were thrown into the sea?

The world would be a horrid place
If such a thing were true.
I would not want to live at all
If that were so, would you?

But that must never come to pass,
And you must help along—
And do your bit by practicing
Your instruments and song.

What kind of music can you make?
You sing, or play violin?
You should do something musical;
If not, you must begin.

And practice carefully each day,
On scales and studies many;
And when you're asked to play a piece
Don't say, "I don't know any."

Just play or sing as best you can,
Sing loud, each girl and boy
Sing while your work—sing while you play—
'Twill fill the world with joy.

A Remedy for Earache.—To have the earache is to endure torture. The ear is a delicate organ and few care to deal with it, considering it work for a doctor. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil offers a simple remedy. A few drops upon a piece of lint or medicated cotton and placed in the ear will work wonders in relieving pain.

A THIRTY-TWO MILE RIVER

The Nipigon River, next to the St. Louis River, is regarded as Lake Superior's largest tributary. It is only thirty-two miles long and flows from Nipigon Lake into Lake Superior, yet in this short distance it has a drop of several hundred feet. On account of its splendid water power, plans are now under way for the erection of a large turbine plant at Cameron's Pool, along its banks, where a fall of about five feet is available for the new plant which will comprise two 12,000 horsepower, 1,200-volt units.

The Real Liver Pill.—A torpid liver means a disordered system, mental depression, lassitude and in the end, if care be not taken, a chronic state of debility. The very best medicine to awaken the liver to healthy action is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They are compounded of purely vegetable substances of careful selection and no other pills have their fine qualities. They do not gripe or pain and they are agreeable to the most sensitive stomach.

PETER STANDS UP FOR TRUTH AND HONESTY—Acts 5: 1-11.

Golden Text—"Lying lips are an abomination to Jehovah; but they that deal truly are his delight."—Prov. 12: 22.

Historical Setting

Time—A. D. 30-33.

Place—Jerusalem.

Comments

Verse 1.—This incident may or may not have occurred soon after the victory of Peter and John. Barnabas (4: 36, 37) Paul's companion, following the disciples' adopted custom, sold a field and brought the money to the apostles. Ananias and Sapphira made a similar sale.

Verse 2.—Ananias and Sapphira withheld part of the money, though pretending to bring it all. The story indicates deliberate and premeditated deception.

Verse 3—The funds were to be divided by the apostles "according as any man had need" (2: 45). This verse shows that sin may lie in deed as well as in word. The narrative conveys the idea that the Holy Spirit informed Peter in some way as to the true state of affairs.

Verse 4.—Ananias and Sapphira were not compelled to give their all to the fund. Their sin was in representing they had done so. Is not the deliberate lie of every disciple a lie "unto God?"

Verse 5—This is a calm narrative—no evidence of excitement or apoplexy. The narrative clearly designs us to see an act of divine judgment. In those first days of the church of Christ right principles had been strongly stressed. "Fear would deter for awhile all who were not thoroughly in earnest from making profession of Christianity."

Verse 6—There was nothing unusual in the quick burial in that warm climate.

Verse 7—Sapphira had been in the scheme of deception, but was not present at the tragedy.

Verse 8.—Sapphira was given a chance to tell the truth, but failed to do so.

Verse 9.—The narrative is plainly designed to make an awful impression upon the disciples, concerning the crime of distorting truth.

Verse 10.—How many people in the present day would drop dead if such punishment were inflicted upon them?

Verse 11.—To produce such a fear as would deter others from a like offense was God's intention in this example of punishment. There are simple, elemental natures that are more easily influenced by fear than by anything else.

Illustrated Truth

Trying to get a good reputation without deserving it often proves to be costly business (v. 4).

Illustration—When the more stringent pure-food laws went into effect, it cost a good many people much time and some bitter experiences to learn that the government meant just what it said. An example of a foolhardy attempt at deceiving the public was that of a man who had been putting on the market a preparation that had some value, or was thought to have, in curing slight colds and the like. The manufacturer became ambitious. He would increase his sales, so he made claims for the medicine that were beyond the truth. He was caught in the deception and was put out of business; whereas if he had adhered to the truth, he might have continued to do well.

Topics for Research and Discussion

I.—Perverting the Truth (vs. 1-4).—1. How did Ananias and Sapphira happen to bring to the apostles even a part of the price of their land? 2. What was the sin of Ananias and Sapphira? 3. Why did Peter accuse Ananias and Sapphira of lying to God rather than to men? 4. Why was Peter so severe with Ananias when deception was not at all uncommon?

II.—Tragic Consequences (vs. 5-11).—5. Was not the death penalty rather strong punishment for a lie? 6. Is it possible that Ananias and Sapphira died a natural death? 7. Why was it especially necessary for right principles to be stressed in the early church? 8. Why did Sapphira commit the same blunder that Ananias committed? 9. Why were those two buried so quickly? 10. What was the result of this tragic incident? 11. Which is the greater incentive to good conduct, fear of punishment or hope of reward? 12. How would you define a lie? 13. Is there such a thing as a "white lie"? 14. What was God's purpose in this miracle and punishment? 15. Was the punishment too severe?

THE VASE OF LIFE

An eastern legend tells of a wonderful magic vase—known as the vase of life—which was ever full of a mysterious liquid. No one could tell what this liquid was. No chemist could analyse it or tell what entered into its composition. The marvellous thing about it was that whatever one dropped into it would overflow and run down the sides of the vase. That is, the original liquid would not run over, but the thing which was dropped into it would overflow in kind and amount. The depositor would always get out of this magic vase exactly what he put into it.

Life is just such a magic vase. It will run over to you only that which you drop into it—nothing more, and nothing less, nothing different. If we drop in love, generosity, tolerance, magnanimity, kindness, helpfulness, unselfishness—the life vase will run over to us the same things in the same amount and quality. If on the other hand, we put in hate, jealousy, envy, cruelty, selfishness, grasping greed, malicious gossip about our neighbors—it will run over with all of those black devils to torment us and rob us of happiness and success.—O. S. Marden in The New Success.

THE GUARD'S WISH

The railway official tells a story of the tourist in Ireland who left the train at every station and went ahead to the luggage van to ask if his trunk was safe. After the sixth time the exasperated guard replied: "Begorra, I wish the Lord had made ye an elephant instead of an ass, an' then you'd always have your trunk in front of you."

The 1920 Phonograph

Before You Buy Any Phonograph This Year Just You HEAR The Brunswick—"All Phonographs in One."

With a Brunswick in your home you have the true first aid to a Happy New Year. You have an instrument that plays ALL RECORDS CORRECTLY. The Brunswick gives you absolutely UNRESTRICTED choice of Records and enables you to play every make as it has been specially designed for the Brunswick. This is due to—

The All-Record, All-Needle Ultona

This is one of the new ideas embodied in the Brunswick's exclusive and perfect method of reproduction. It plays all records infinitely better. By a mere twist of the wrist it provides the precise needle, the proper diaphragm and the exact weight for any make of record.

Nothing to take off—nothing to put on—simplicity itself. A child can adjust it.

The All-Wood Oval Horn

The laws of acoustics prove that sound waves travel in ovals or circles and that they are purer and sweeter when conducted through seasoned wood. This is the reason behind the Brunswick's exclusive All-Wood Oval Horn. Like the sounding-board of a piano or a fine violin, it is built entirely of wood. No metal whatever. This feature alone accounts for much of the Brunswick's pronounced superiority in tone projection.

The Brunswick is the Final Phonograph

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep.
