"'Hiss!' cried half a dozen. Once more the time changed and they all sat down to their seats with a military salute; and then came in on the chorus!"

"'How may the star spangled banner sing to you, the free and the home of the brave.'"...

"'Fidel! You have a wonderful sense of rhythm, Dan,' exclaimed Miss Nelson. 'You told us so in class last week.'"...

"'He's here!' exclaimed Harley, when the laughter had ceased. 'You know those ditties that make a noise like horses' hoofs and railroad trains and such? They are cheap, too.'"...

"At once, the two in their heads together over a catalogue. He can imitate all sorts of animals and throw his voice all kinds of ways," declared Ned, enthusiastically.

"'But it's all for ourselves,' sighed Lena. 'We never can help anyone else with it. We would be years before we could play well enough to give entertainments.'"...

"'We are to—' said her own lamp as she spoke. 'Everything we do to cultivate our own talents and hearts, make ourselves better and wiser and happier, is for ourselves.'"...

"'Well, I'm glad to hear that,' replied Miss Nelson. 'I wish you were all as true to yourself as you are.'"...

"'It was fun! The greatest fun in the world to have hard work that is really enjoyable; and the class worked hard, as individuals and as an organization.'"...

"'The superintendent knit his brow. 'The trouble is to have no mixed classes between the Bible and infant classes. You are rather young for that.'"...

"'Lena looked appealingly at her brother; but he was glancing thoughtfully around the room. 'Perhaps in his heart he would have preferred the young men's class, but it was not in his generous soul to disappoint his sister.'"...

"'There are lots of new people coming to this town. A thing or two at high-school are strangers, like us. I'll be glad to acquaint you with some of them. You don't seem to be mixed classes, maybe we could get you acquainted with some of them.'"...

"'The superintendent proposed. 'Go ahead, young man. You have my full consent. Fill all the empty places if you can.'"...

"'I should think a good useful, about eight or ten, would be right. I believe Miss Nelson would take the class if we urged her in. She's our English teacher.'"...

"'Better and better,' said the superintendent, heartily. 'I might sit in the back row of the Bible Class to-day, and just look on and listen,'"...

"'Above intimated, all the recruits were strangers. Some were from the country; some did not even know where the church was, and all felt a little shy about going to a strange one; so the whole band, three girls and four boys, came, and went in a body just before time for the last hour. Peeping in from the vestibule, Miss Nelson saw Miss Nelson already in her place. She had chosen the best vacant location for her new class; and Harley led his flock down the aisle to their seats as if they always had belonged there.'"...

A Series of Talks on Music

One of America's most noted song writers was Stephen Foster, whose chief title to fame is 'The Old Folks at Home,' and 'My Old Kentucky Home.'"...

Theodore Thomas, the pioneer conductor, who did more to educate the American public than any other musician, was 'wise in his day. He was always on the lookout for daily titles of music and would take infinite pains to make them effective. He arranged Schumann's Traumerer to be played with strings to decrease the volume in the extreme and instructed the strings to continue drawing the bow across the strings without making any sound. The audience imagined it all without the sounds floating off to an immeasurable distance. He thought the spell by quietly laying down his baton."

Regarding singing classes, I read a most interesting account of the first singing classes and how it was conducted: Mr. Cheney says, 'I was one day in the city of New York, and the occasion being held at the home of one of the members and, sometimes also with it, would be years before we could play well enough to give entertainments.'"...

THE OLD WAY AND THE NEW

It is a far cry from 'dancing the salmon' to 'hunting salmon' with a spear. One would have to look a long way to find a more striking illustration of the difference between the old ways and the new than is furnished by a few facts connected with the Pacific Coast fisheries."

The catching and tanning of salmon is nearly the most important, and is carried on with every convenience, but a year ago it was responsible for a queer custom among the Indian tribes who were the pioneers in the heavy spring they would gather at the mouth of the nearest river, and with many 'flea and oremotes, solemnly dance for the big, silver fish which they intended to dry and smoke."

If the salmon were to be smoked, their appearance, they sought out a 'wise man' and had him make an image of a swimming fish. This was placed in the water with the expectation of attracting the fish to the bait."

THE TORCH BEARERS AND THE DISAPPEARING MUSIC

By Mary M. Parks

I began with the Graham twins of course. In fact, the whole thing began with Lena's refusal to be separated from her brother. We always have been together at school and Sunday School, she explained, breathlessly and shyly, but strictly, 'We are not much alike. I'm good in some things, and he is in others, and we try not to let the others get ahead of us. Mother says it spins us out.'"...

"No Nation Can Rise Above The Level of Its Home Life"

RAISE the standard of living in the home and the standard of the nation rises with it.

Canada was one of the first countries to respond to the new world-wide movement to beautify the home. And there are no people in the world who are in a better position to afford and to appreciate the best and truest things in life than we in Canada.

Furnishings Mould Character The important part that the furnishings of the home play in moulding character and developing a true pride in family and in race is better understood today than a few years ago.

How are children to be led to appreciate the solid, substantial things in life—the beauties of art, the love of good literature, the desire for culture—unless they have the proper surroundings in the home?

A Finer and Greater Nation Every advance in refinement and culture, every improvement in the home surroundings, every influence that raises the ideals of home life, makes the nation that much finer and stronger.

We are living in progressive, prosperous times in a country with a glorious future, therefore, Canadians have every incentive and can well afford to beautify their homes with new and better furniture.

This announcement is inserted by THE HOME FURNISHINGS BUREAU Bank of Hamilton Building Toronto, Canada

NOTE—The Home Furnishings Bureau does not sell furniture or goods of any kind. Its object is to provide information in the furnishing of Canadian homes. Your local dealer will be pleased to give you any information you desire about suitable furniture for your home.
