LECTURE ON POWER FARMING

And Demonstrations on Construction and How to Care for a Tractor

Two afternoon lectures on practical information and suggestions were provided the farmers of the community on Monday and Tuesday.

On Monday afternoon in New Wenzel Theatre Mr. Gordon, a graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, gave a most interesting lecture on power farming, preparation of the soil and incidental work on the farm which may be handled effectively with power machinery.

Mr. Gordon showed a series of moving picture films demonstrating the above, and emphasized the value of the tractor as an element in "keeping the boy on the farm." He had also a series of views showing the contents of a tractor, the various types of plowing machines, the horse drawn and tractor drawn plows in motion, the various types of harrows, etc.

What was even more interesting perhaps were the films illustrating soil moisture and the germination of corn, the manner of securing effective seed beds so as to properly conserve the moisture and insure good germination and growth were vividly displayed. The section of the film showing the germination of a kernel of corn and its growth to a stalk five or six feet in height was especially marvellous. This film was especially taken by a tractor demonstration every ten minutes, day and night, for twenty days. The result is remarkable, as many be imagined when it is realized that the germination of ten days is exhibited to the observer by the film in two or three minutes.

On Tuesday Mr. Fleming, a mechanical expert from the Deere's factories in Michigan, gave a demonstration of the various types of tractors, with voluminous explanations, on "How to Take Care of a Tractor."

During his address a tractor was taken down and re-assembled. The motor's cylinder pins, connection rods, crankshaft, valves, ignition and carburetor were shown and their functions explained. The transmission, lubrication, drive pulleys, and general construction of the tractor were in turn demonstrated. This demonstration and rehearsal were of much benefit to those who operate tractors, or intend to do so.

It was Dr. W. A. Coxe who provided these two days' of instruction, demonstration and entertainment. Naturally the doctor, being the representative of the Post-Office, his presence was a great asset to the demonstration.

George Lamb, who has been teaming for Dr. Campbell, Moffat, has moved to his farm on the town line near Acton.

The other day Mr. H. M. Taylor was taking two cattle fastened together to hitch them up into a telephone pole and one broke its neck. It had to be butchered there.

Mr. Victor Wilson has purchased the farm of Wilson Campbell adjoining Stanley Park, Erin, and will move there this spring.

The Polled Angus bull won by Joseph H. Frank at the recent judging contest at Milton, which was donated by W. H. Bell, Milton, was brought home recently and is a splendid animal, and which Mr. Bell takes such delight in at his stock farm at Milton.

Mrs. George Easterbrook, died somewhat suddenly on Monday last morning at her family residence on the Quailton Road, in her eightieth year. She had been seriously ill only a few days.

Four weeks ago she was able to visit her brother, Mr. Edward Darby, Knatchbull, Mr. Easterbrook, who was also a pioneer resident, pre-deceased her a number of years ago. One son and three daughters survive. James and three sons; Mrs. James Darby, Campbellville, and Mrs. James H. Henshaw, Georgetown. Mrs. Easterbrook was a woman greatly esteemed. She was a member of Ebenezer Methodist Church from her childhood days and was always closely identified with its interests.

A BIG MAN

The head of a large New York firm proved himself a true man, according to the New York Evening Sun, when he publicly apologized to his office boy for a mistake. He had ordered some sheets of statistics prepared and placed on his desk, and when he needed them he could not find them. He called for the boy whose business it was to look after such things and gave him a cruel "long-lash" before he returned to the office. Finally he apologized to the boy and returned to his private office.

The boy walked quietly to the bench where the office boys rest and waited. He had been given no opportunity to admit himself, wrong or declare himself satisfied. To the small, but important, duty that had been left to his care.

Those within hearing of the outburst had hardly resumed their work when the inner office door opened again, and out came the big man, "Will all these within sound of my voice come this way for a moment?"

He began. Then he called to the boy, "Come here, lad! A few minutes ago I talked severely to this boy, he went on. 'Am I talking as loud as I did before?' he asked, looking around at the group.

Some one had the temerity to murmur "Yes."

"I want to acknowledge before you all that I was wrong, and this lad was right. 'Yes?' I ask your pardon. 'That is all. I was wrong, and I am deeply sorry.'"

Then he turned, while a score of faces gazed after him in astonishment and admiration, and rejoined the group behind the president's door.
