The Acton Free Press

THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1924

Brief Local Items

—Tulips are blooming.
—Acton polled 725 votes on Monday.
—Saturday's ice storm was most welcome.
—The harvest season for the garage has arrived.
—There will be an eclipse of the moon to-morrow.
—Fruit-baiting was a week from next Monday.

—It will be an interesting and profitable day for the members of the church in their church.
—Monday's weather was certainly ideal for a school day.
—Three inches of snow fell on Sunday. Remember it was April 17, 1920.

—Mr. McLean is arranging to sell his residence on Lower Avenue, Acton, on Monday.
—You've only ten days more in which to file your income tax for 1923.

—Good morning! Did you plan to renew your Pass Pass subscription for 1924?
—Councillor J. Hall is adding improvements to his residence on Church Street.

—The music of the lawn mower is again on the family name program.
—The streets where the water mains broke up the water are being repaired.

—As some predicted the snow showers were brought out again after Sunday's storm.
—A lot of folks were scared from church by Sunday morning's little snow storm.

—Guelph Light and Heat Commissioners have reduced the price of gas 15c per 1,000.
—The ice storm resulted in a good many fruit, shade and ornamental trees being broken down.

—An April snow fall is not unique nor unusual. Twenty years ago this week there was a six-inch fall of snow.
—Monday's sunshine soon took off the three-inch coating of snow, but the roads were pretty sloppy for a day or two.

—The United Financial Corporation's tender, $48,351.13 for Burlington sewer debentures, has been accepted by the Council. The rate is 6.75%.

—A meeting of the executive of the Equipping Township Sunday School Association will be held in Georgetown on Friday afternoon at three o'clock.

—Several motorists in Guelph, who filed $500 and costs last week for using their licenses of 1924. A provincial highway "spotter" nabbed them.

—The historic willow tree, on Willow Street—the last of the row planted about seventy years ago—lost several large branches by the ice storm on Saturday.

—Mr. James Mills, Brassey Crescent, has leased the Tracy farm at Winterbourne and bought the farm stock and implements. He moved there last week.

—One of J. B. Watson's White Wyandotte hens laid an egg on Tuesday which weighed one ounce, and measured eight inches in circumference.

—If an agriculturalist and gardener want a snow storm, in April is as good as a cooling of fertilizer. Sunday's snow storm must have been of immense value.

—It was rather unique on Sunday, after the ice and snow storm, to see the blue leaves scattered in the snow and the tulips and hyacinths poking their flowerly heads up through the snow.

—I certainly enjoy the "Old Man's" articles. They bring back memories of old school days in Acton. The Press deserves credit for the splendid spirit it takes in all rural and business questions. Here's $5.00 for another year.—D. C. Whitting.

—The fine new residence of Mrs. Stephen Hornby, Mill Street and Wallace Avenue, has been sold to Mr. John J. Smith. The sale was negotiated by J. J. Kerr, real estate agent, who only had the property listed for a few days. Mr. Kerr also disposed of the Kenney Bros. store to Kennedy & Son, Georgetown.

MAKING THE MOST OF IT
A humorist died the other day. "Did he leave an estate?" "Only one joke, which he bequeathed to his son."
"Not much of an inheritance."
"But he explained in his will that if the joke were explained in the same comedy, made the theme of a Chautauque lecture and worked over from time to time and sold in the magazine, it would provide his heir with a comfortable income."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

In Memoriam

PETER GIBBONS
In the manifold sudden death of Peter Gibbons, Frederick Street, and Monday morning this community had a sorrowful bereavement. Peter was a Christian and a man of high character and Christian zeal, and one of our earliest residents. Mr. Gibbons was in his eighty-third year, and although he had long been unable to do his usual work, when his physical ailment a week or two before the week had expired. Peter Gibbons was the son of Patrick Gibbons, who was born in the first line, Kinsaid, about one hundred years ago. Peter was born on October 24, 1841, in the town of Kinsaid, in the County of Wick, Ireland. He was educated in the common schools of his native town, and in the Protestant school in the town of Kinsaid. He was a member of the Protestant church in his native town, and was a very active member of the same. He was a man of high character and Christian zeal, and one of our earliest residents. Mr. Gibbons was in his eighty-third year, and although he had long been unable to do his usual work, when his physical ailment a week or two before the week had expired.

GEORGETOWN
Mr. A. O'Neill left last week for Detroit, where he will visit his sister, Mrs. J. D. O'Neill.

CREWSON CORNERS
The return visit of winter over the week-end was not welcomed very heartily.

TAKE SOME THINGS FOR GRANTED
Take some things for granted. Do not think it necessary to take your temperature and feel your pulse every morning before commencing your work.

WHETHER YOU LIKE YOUR WORK OR NOT, MAKE IT A SUCCESS
The fact that you dislike your work is no reason for neglecting it. Instead it is the best reason in the world for making your best effort to succeed.

NEW KIND OF BILK
Discovery has been made of a process by which the muscular tissue of horses and cattle can be converted into silk—use being thus formed for condensed cows and horses killed because of accident or old age.

MILTON
Home naughtily boy threw a stone through the window of the window the other day.

BURLINGTON
Mrs. (Rev.) G. W. Barker spent the week-end with friends at Guelph.

ERIN
The many friends of Warden James Brown, of East Garafraxa, are pleased to know of improvement in his condition over the week-end.

SCREENS TO AID VISION
When astigmatism is making havoc attempts by pinching, observing on lorry mountains and on desert plateaus the vision. However, in the fact, by interposing a coil, filled with a solution of picro acid and copper in alcohol, between the eye and the object of vision, it is found that the definition with a telescope, in viewing stars and planets, is materially improved.

THOSE OPERATION CURIOS
Mrs. Willis—Our Willie has been swamped with letters again.

HIGHER UP
Dibbins was dining with some people who were proud of the recent elevation of a member of the family to the House of Lords.
