THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FOR SUNDAY, MAY 15, 1921

WHEN PA TH HICK
When pa is sick, he's near to death,
An' his an' us all holds our breath.
He's got a cold, he's got a fever,
And does all kinds of crazy stunts.
He wants "Dad" Brown, an' mighty quick, 'cause he's awful sick.
He gasps and groans, an' sort of sighs.
His wife so queer, an' rolls his eyes.
She's quiet though; but much to say;
She goes right on a-doin' things.
An' sometimes laughs, or even sings.
But then it's just a kind o' spell.
She'll be all right to-morrow, sure.
An' then she'll be all right again.
An' pa, he sniffs an' makes no kick.
For women folks always sick.
I'm sick, and I feel it, but I glad;
When me is sick, it's something more.

WHEN MA TH HICK
When ma is sick, we're all put away;
She's quiet though; but much to say;
She goes right on a-doin' things.
An' sometimes laughs, or even sings.
But then it's just a kind o' spell.
She'll be all right to-morrow, sure.
An' then she'll be all right again.
An' pa, he sniffs an' makes no kick.
For women folks always sick.
I'm sick, and I feel it, but I glad;
When me is sick, it's something more.

TWENTY-YEARS AGO

From the issue of the Free Press of Thursday, May 16, 1901

The street sprinkler is on its rounds again and the dust is annihilated.

The carpenters have their hands full these days with new buildings and repairs.

Show and hall accompanied a thunder storm last Sunday afternoon and cooler weather followed.

Farmake presents very attractive appearance. The water is higher than usual and boating is delightful pastime engaged in by numbers of citizens.

Mr. Arnold Brothers report they have received another tempting offer to locate in an Ontario town which is hunting for manufacturers. Mr. H. T. Arnold asks the Council to give him some inducement to remain in Action.

The Free Press has pleasure in congratulating Dr. W. H. Lowry, Jr., upon successfully passing his final examinations at Trinity College, Toronto.

Mr. T. Gleis, the new miller, has purchased the former property of Mr. John Hart, located on corner of Main Street and Park Avenue, and will erect thereon a fine brick residence.

The seventh annual convention of the Guelph District Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church was held last Friday.

At the meeting of the Board of Education last Wednesday evening leaves of absence during the last three days were granted Miss Margaret McPhail, upon Miss McPhail's request, and that she be permitted to employ a substitute for the remainder of the term up to the summer holidays.

THIS PRINCESS LEADS BUSY LIFE

Twenty-year-old school girls in Canada who sometimes think teachers are mean, or that their mothers make them wear too hard and who do not like to study the more and work the harder if they had led the life of Princess Julian of Holland, whose 21st birthday anniversary was celebrated April 30.

Far from being the princess of fairy tales who has nothing to do but sleep on silken covered red beds, eat choicer dishes and drink costly wines, the little Princess Julian has to study French, history, arithmetic, geometry, algebra, geography, drawing, grammar, voice culture and violin.

In addition to this, because of her royal position and the fact that she will be a queen some day and the ruler of Holland, no matter what she does, she is subject to strict etiquette, court customs and the strict rules of conduct appertaining to a princess.

To the last party, Princess Julian attended a little school in the home of her mother, the little girl of the Dutch nobility. Now, however, as she has reached the age of 12, which is an age of great decorum for a princess, she is having lessons at home because she must learn things in a shorter time than other children of her age.

With all this work, Julian has time to go to church, play a plain hair-haired girl of the true Dutch type. She goes out in all weather. She is particularly fond of skating and when there is ice on the canals, is frequently seen there skating along with her mother, the Queen.

Her companions are very carefully chosen for her, and she, like her royal parents, has many friends.

Julian has been taught that it is not becoming royalty to make a "stage play" for popularity. She frequently accompanies her father, the Prince of Orange, to the Netherlands and Holland, when her geography teacher goes along and instructs her at first hand in her own country's features.

Government buildings were gaily decorated for the Queen's 21st birthday anniversary on April 30, and a number of children called at the palace singing old Dutch songs.

VARIATIONS OF THE GOLDEN RULE

Do as you would be done by.—Pascal.

Do not to a neighbor what you would not like to have him do to you.—Matthew.

What you would not wish done to yourself, do not do unto others.—Chinese.

One should seek for others the happiness he desires for his own self.—Buddhist.

He sought for others the good he desired for himself. Let him pass on.—Egyptian.

Do things whatever you would that man should do to you do even to them.—Holy Bible.

Let none of you treat his brother in such a way as to dislike to be treated.—Mohammedan.

The true rule of life is to guard and do by the things of others as they do by their own.—Hindu.

Do not do to the parts of all men to love the members of society as themselves.—Roman.

Words hap' the strength and un- dermining the vitality of children. Strengthen them by using mild words. Worm exterminator to drive out the parasites.

IDEAL HOURS

"There is no place in the life of the world for idle hours." When he works, he works; when he plays, he plays. He does each in its appointed time and with purpose. But he is never weary of life, nor inclined to turn up his nose. It is necessary that healthy mind have a certain amount of recreation, but when playtime comes he seeks the kind of diversion that will not interfere with his work. Hours wisely spent are an investment which will pay dividends during your whole life.

Hard and soft corns both yield to Holloway's Corn Remover. It is safe, power, its own; that will be found positive.

WORKING WITH OTHERS—1 Cor. 12: 14-27.

Golden Text.—Ye are the body of Christ, and severally members thereof? (1 Cor. 12: 14-27.)

Lesson Comments

Verse 14.—Paul wrote his first epistle to the Corinthian converts in the spring of A. D. Much of the epistle is devoted to a discussion of the sin of division among the people of God, due to the particularities of things that cause division. In the present lesson this principle is illustrated in the figure of the unity of the human body.

Verse 15.—Some writers have fancifully thought they saw an allegory in this, the foot signifying the common people in the church, the hand signifying the elders and officers, the head signifying the teachers, and the learners.

Verse 16.—The real teaching, however, is that there are many functions, offices and gifts, in the church, and each must contribute to the proper working of the body.

Verse 17.—Instead of envinously complain-ing because we have not the abilities of others, we should simply do our best and do it well.

Verse 18.—One person in the church that are not doing the work of all without doing injustice to the rest.

Verse 19.—In all ways, illustrating the connection between class and class, arises from forgetfulness of the fact that the interests of all mankind are identical.

Verse 20.—The most delicate part of the body are very valuable, and the body cannot live without them.
