

The Acton Free Press

THURSDAY, AUGUST 4, 1921

THE WORLD HAS NEED OF EVERY TREE

The world has need of all the things that beauty that the human beings have made, gauze and wings.

The planet has no need of arms
The world has need of every tree.

Wherever any traveller goes.

There are such stories the weary men of men in daily journey pass.

The world has need of all its grace.

There is much grey in every scene, blue shadowy hills between.

The world has need of all its green.

Ho much of shade there is to see, the hills and dales, trees and streams.

The world has need of every tree.
—Douglas Mallock.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the issue of the Free Press of Thursday, August 8, 1901

Nine trains with 7,600 harvested hands left Toronto for the Northland on Tuesday.

On Tuesday night dairies speak highly of the excellent milk obtained by Acton Creamery Band at Ossie had Thursday evening.

A new harvesting machine put into use inspired great belief in the Action Tanning Co.

Monday forenoon Billy Malone, a man employed at the works of Action Tanning Co., was working on the rolling machines, when his right hand came in contact with the roller and the first and second fingers were painfully crushed.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Williams and children left on Tuesday for Baile Mountain. Their removal is much regretted.

Mr. Charlie Henderson has returned homeward from the Pacific Coast so as to布outham Manitoba and will sojourn with friends there for several weeks.

Our Public School has long enjoyed an enviable reputation for its remarkable record in practical purity and high scholastic attainments and instruction. This year in addition to the regular work of the school, Principal T. T. Moore, in a continuation class held on the first year's work of the High School students and the class of eight pupils to write on the Junior Leaving examinations. The re-suits published in the fall of this week show that when it was found fifty per cent of this class had been successful.
Balaton Brown, Letitia A. Moore, Edith McNaull and Josie Stephen being those who were successful in all five subjects.

MARRIED

BROWN-WALICH — On Tuesday, morning, August 1, 1921, at the residence of the bridegroom, 100 Argyle Terrace, Bloor Avenue, Acton, by J. M. Hugue, M. A., Alexander C. McNaull, and Rev. Mr. G. E. Carolina Maude Walker, daughter of W. H. Walker, all of Acton.

OED

McNAULL — At the residence of her son-in-law Mr. John Harvey A. Mc-Naull, Acton, on Wednesday, July 31, 1921, Elizabeth Ann Smith, widow of the late William McNaull, was elected by the Board of Trade.

HODGES

What is a spook? — It's a purse like a thunder-cloud! — It keeps on lightning!

What is that which is invisible, yet always in sight?

The spook.

What are we afraid of that cannot really hurt me?

The roar of a lion.

Why do authors dislike the letter H?

Because it makes their tales stony.
What is it that is always on the move, yet always is in the same place?

Vine.

What is that which is bought by the yard and worn by the foot?

A carpet.

What would a handkerchief become if placed in a bath of soda and water?

Wet.

WOMEN REQUIRED TO DRESS MORALLY

The Chicago, Burlington, and Quincy Railroad, through its woman's welfare service, has started to check the tolls of its women employees. It has been decided that all women in more peak-a-boom suits, skirts shall be of modest length, there shall be no more rolled hose, sheer hose, no more rouge and little powder. It is to be hoped that for business and not for dress play. This is because the style of dress worn by the three thousand women employees had become embarrassing to the working morale.

An Oil of Merit.—Dr. Thomas' Mer-tic Oil is not a jumble of medicinal substances thrown together and pushed by advertising, but the result of the careful investigation of the oil's qualities. No other oil is equalled to the human body. It is a rare concoction and it won't keep public favor from the first! A trial of it will convince you that it is the oil which you have been looking for.

WORKING MEN AND THE CHURCH

Working men sometimes fail to be supposed to the Church. We do not believe this is true of them as a class.
We know many churchmen made up entirely of working men, and they are as zealous and devout churchmen as any who are not members of the church.
There are also some men who are opposed to the church, they might be reminded that, if it were not for the church, they would have no religion. But let us see to it that both the Sabbath and the Lord's Day are observed, among God's greatest blessings to man.

When Holloway's Carb. Remover is applied to a corn it kills the roots and the rabidly comes out without injury to the flesh. —A. N. S.

ONLY EXCEPTION

"Oh, old feller," said one gentleman to another in the street, "you are married at last. Allow me to congratulate you, for I hear you have an excellent and accomplished wife."

I hate indeed, the saying the saying "she is accomplished." Why, sir, she is perfectly at home in literature; at home in music; at home in art; at home in education; short, at home everywhere!"

"Except where?"

"Except at home," "Hush, Moment."

Ready-made Medicines.—You need a physician for ordinary ill when you have at hand a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Meritic Oil. It is good for all common, bronchial trouble. It is invaluable for scurvy, burns, bruises, sprains, it is unimpaired, while for cuts, sores, the like is an uncommon balsom. It is made of material other than the use, and that will satisfy anyone as to its effectiveness.

DAD'S LITTLE JOKE

During the five weeks that we were at Nitobe Akutani, we did not receive United States Communion, for the Territory made it necessary for him to visit a whaling station at Akutani, which is one of the Aborigine Islands.
There he came of course, and was stricken out from Akutani toward And-

"He was going on the patrol steamer Hour," — then the coast guardian of those waters, and he had mother and me not go with him, for the reason that he, however, both parents had died,

and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister lived. The captain of the Hour had taken "Dad" along for the reason that he had a son up there that looked after everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I went with dad. On board the Hour I met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,

and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up
the whale and kept things moving.

He, mother stayed at home, and I
went with dad. On board the Hour I
met a boy named Cherry, who had been living
with his parents at Nitobe Akutani,
where his father had had a
good time, but his mother had died.

He, however, both parents had died,
and Cherry was now trying to reach
Fukushima, where her mother's sister
lived. The captain of the Hour had
taken "Dad" along for the reason that
he had a son up there that looked after
everyone up that way;

it made a circuit of the native villages
along shore, settled quarrels, broke up the whale and