

WHAT IS SUNSHINE?
A little gold amid the gray—
That's sunshine;
A little brightness on the way—
That's sunshine;
A little spreading of the blue,
A little twinkling of the dew,
A little heaven looking through—
That's sunshine;
A little looking for the light—
That's sunshine;
A little patience through the night—
That's sunshine;
A little bowing of the will,
A little resting on the hill—
That's sunshine;
A little smiling through the tears—
That's sunshine;
A little faith behind the fears—
That's sunshine;
A little rolling of the hand,
A little yielding of demand,
A little grace to understand—
That's sunshine.

SEVENTY YEARS AGO

From the issue of the Free Press of Thursday, May 22, 1922.
Father Kennedy is adding numerous improvements to his premises on John Street this week.
Mr. J. M. Warren shipped a pair of purebred Durham to Joe. M. Patten, of Huron, Ontario, last week.
The splendid showers and warm weather have wonderfully advanced vegetation the last few days.
General improvements are in progress to many of the houses and surroundings in town.
The half mile course of the park has been rebuilt and improved the past week, and will give a considerable satisfaction to horsemen and bicyclists.
The Treasurer of the Free Library Board received on Monday from the Treasurer of the Department of the Province a cheque for $167.00, the Government grant to the library for 1921.
Action is to have a gala day on Coronation Day. The horsemen will likely be here in considerable numbers and the Coronation Day events at the Public School will be of memorable interest.
Since the battle of Mar's River, South Africa, the home of Dr. Gray has been filled with news of his fighting men from their son, Claude, whose company was in the engagement. The Dr. has written several interesting letters the week. Private Gray was through the hottest of the fight and escaped without a wound though a bullet shell tore away the crown of his hat.
The management of the Acton Baseball Club have engaged the Queen's City of Toronto, who are the champions of Toronto City League, for a match here on Saturday—Victoria Day. Game called for 2:30 and Acton Cornet Band will be in attendance.
Messrs. Ithorn and Whyte concluded very successfully the negotiations for the sale of the Acton Cornet Band which is in Knox Church on Sunday. Considerable awakening has resulted.
Mr. Joseph H. Boyd, who made application last winter for a place on Toronto Police Force, was called to the city last week to undergo his examinations. He was successful and will enter upon his duties about the middle of June.
The Acton Baseball Team journeyed to Hillsburg on Saturday and played a game with the local nine winning by a score of 13 to 2.

GROWING AND GROWING UP
Many have an idea that the two are synonymous, but this is a mistake. Some young folks do a great deal of growing without growing up. Spoiled babies wear long trousers or talk in voices that are almost bass. And other spoiled babies play the piano reasonably well, and pose as authorities on matters of etiquette.
A spoiled baby is a child who is all and broad in proportion, who loses his temper because the dessert for dinner is something he never eats, what you call him a baby? Or what other name is there for the girl who cries when a kindly criticism is offered her and cries again when she cannot get her own way and resorts to tears whenever anything goes wrong? Physically such a girl may be attractive, but she is a specimen of young womanhood. Mentally, she is a spoiled baby.
Our growth in inches is a matter in which we have no choice. If we had, probably few youths would stop short of six feet. But it is our own fault if we do not grow up. If we choose, we can put away childish things, bad tempers, bickering, complaints when things go wrong, foolish tears. These things are to be expected of little folks who have not learned self-control or discovered that they are to be masters of their moods, not mastered by them. To keep growing without growing up, to be stout and women in stature and a baby in character, is a disgrace to young people. In your growing have a goal, namely, to grow up. Young People's Weekly.

GETTING AND USING
Every now and then we come across a wealthy man who has become so possessed by the passion for gaining that he had lost the ability to enjoy the result of his efforts. He works harder than any clerk or accountant in his profession. He never has time for a vacation. He cannot forget his business for a single waking minute, and it is difficult for him to put it out long enough to sleep at night.
The world that sees only one side of him. The few who know him are edged with something like pity. It is difficult not to feel a little sorry for one who does nothing but acquire and is unable to use what he has gained.
Cheapest of all Oils—Considering the qualities of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil it is the cheapest of all preparations offered to the public. It is to be found in every drug store in Canada from coast to coast and all country merchants keep it for sale. So being easily procurable and extremely moderate in price, no one should be without a bottle of it.

MILKIAH'S GREAT DISCOVERY
2 Chron. 24: 14-16, 25-32.
Milkiah was the first to see a lamp into my feet, and light into my path.—Ps. 119: 106.

Historical Setting
Time—About 622 B. C.
Place—Jerusalem.
Lesson Comments
Verse 14.—Milkiah, the great-grandson of Hezekiah, became blind when he was only eight years of age. When he was sixteen, he began to seek God. He cleared the land of idols, and in the eighteenth year of his reign began to make ready to repair the temple of God. Milkiah had general charge of the repairs. We do not know how long the work had been done.

Verse 15.—Milkiah was the king's personal physician. The king's physician should be given into his hands.
Verse 16.—Before he went into the matter of having discovered the book, he made an orderly report of all that had been done by the king. These details were leading up to the real piece of news.
Verse 17.—The interesting verses tell of the king's honest sorrow when he heard the law read, and realized that he and his people had fallen so far from the covenant with God. He gathered together the elders of the two kingdoms were evidence of the fact that he felt the need of God's word.

Verse 18.—In a general assembly the people were made acquainted with the book.
Verse 19.—The gladty and the sincerity of the king as he stood before Jehovah and pledged his loyal obedience to the covenant, not by words in the book but not by him made a deep impression on the people. The king's own confession was written in the book that belonged only to the sovereign. As king over Judah, he entered into covenant with Jehovah.
Verse 20.—The king was determined in the mind he had taken. Benjamin was removed from the king's presence when the kingdom was disrupted, and from henceforth was a part of it. Jerusalem and Benjamin seemed to be another way of indicating the fact that the challenge was to all of the people. He caused the people to stand to the covenant, not by force, but by taking the lead. The people did not merely pledge, but also carried out the covenant with Jehovah.
For a fuller account of these happenings, read 2 Kings 23: 2-6. Josiah manifested great wisdom in removing not only the places of idol-worship, but also in removing all reminders of the abominations that had prevailed.

Illustrated Truth
The finding of God's word has marked the transformation of a group of degraded men and children were left. He began to read a Bible which was among the things that he had hidden away. He became convicted of sins and turned to God. He then waged his fight against the degraded people who were with him on the island, and began to teach them out of the word of God. As a result there grew up a Christian community remarkable for its high character.
Topics for Research and Discussion
I. Josiah's Reform (2 Chron. 34: 1-16).—Under what conditions did Josiah come to the throne of Judah? 2.—What advantages, if any, were on the side of the king? 3.—What do you attribute his early turning to God? 4.—What was the first reform undertaken by the young king? 5.—For what reasons would you consider this the right or wrong place to begin the reform? 6.—How do you account for the law's not having been destroyed, though it was in the hands of the idolatrous king? 7.—Why was the book given to Shaphan? 8.—God's Word Giving Light (vs. 28-34).—The Word of God is the light of the law bring dismay to the king? 10.—Why did the king not assemble all the people of the land? 11.—Why was the great assembly for the hearing of the law? 12.—Why did the king read the law himself? 13.—Loyalty to God's Word (vs. 31, 32).—What reason do you ascribe to the king's loyalty to God's Word? 14.—What was the king's pledge? 15.—What did he do in addition to making a pledge? 16.—Why, in your opinion, did he induce the people to stand to the covenant he had made? 17.—Daily Readings for Next Week

UNVEILING A WAR MEMORIAL

On Friday, April 28, His Excellency, Lord D'Yng, Governor-General of Canada, unveiled the fine bronze memorial which had been erected in the course of the Windsor Street C. P. R. station at Montreal as a memorial to eleven hundred C. P. R. employees who gave their lives in the Great War. The above photograph shows His Excellency addressing the large crowd that had assembled to witness the unveiling, and at his right stands Mr. E. W. Hoarty, President of the C. P. R. The guard of honor was composed of C. P. R. employees who were also war veterans. An exact copy of this station was at the same time unveiled at Windsor, in the presence of the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba and at Vancouver by the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia. On the same day also 25 bronze tablets were unveiled at different points along the C. P. R. system as well as at the company Europe, American and Asiatic Offices. The base of the statue bore the following inscription:
"To commemorate those in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company who at the cost of King and Country left all that was dear to them, endured hardships, faced danger and finally passed out of sight of men by the path of duty and self-sacrifice, giving up their own lives that others might live in freedom. Let those who come after us to it that their names be not forgotten!"
Enthusiasts of C. P. R. employees (totalled 11,240 men, of which 1,115 were killed or died of wounds, and 2,105 were wounded. A total of 7,527 were re-employed by the company on their return to Canada, following out the C. P. R. policy of re-instating every man who left, in as good a job as that which he had when he went away, and a total of 13,113 other returned soldiers have also been taken on the company's service. War decorations and medals won by C. P. R. employees included 271 and include the following: Victoria Cross, 2; Order of the British Empire, 8; Distinguished Service Order, 17; Distinguished Service Cross, 2; Military Cross, 54; Distinguished Conduct Medal, 47; Military Medal, 150.

THE TIME IT TAKES TO DO YOUR WORK

Many of us are inclined to confuse the amount of work we do with the time it takes to do it. When Henry Ward Beecher was a school boy, he was called on by his teacher to give a certain example on board. Doubtless he explained that he had not worked that example, though he had spent several hours upon it. His teacher said that example and that was all he wanted. It was in vain that poor Henry tried to explain that he had spent his hours of effort. "Get it done," said the teacher, "whether you worked five minutes or five hours. What's the result?" And though the boy was inclined to feel injured, this experience opened his eyes to the fact that the world in general cared very little about how long it had taken us to fall in a thing.
Many of us take credit for working a long time at an undertaking whether we have made a success of it or not. "I spent three hours on that history lesson," sighs the student. And then in answer to the question, "Do you know how to do it?" he says, "No, I don't." Why, no, I don't know it particularly well, but I spent three hours on it. What more could I do? The boy who has the trial balance, takes the same attitude. "I've worked overtime every night," he says, "and I haven't got it right." And he would think his employer very unreasonable if he were to tell him to keep it up.

BETTER HOMES, BETTER CITIES
Citizenship depends a great deal upon the home surroundings and training. The child which comes from a quiet old home where the woman who is constant in duty, in caring, in trying water, and rubbing clothes on a washboard does not have the advantage of the child which comes from a mother and well equipped home. The first child develops a narrow mind, while the second one gets a broad view-point. The first child always retains a "constricted" impression of farm life, and he seldom stays on the farm after he is old enough to leave, while the second one receives and retains a pleasant impression of the farm.
C. P. R. policy of re-instating every man who left, in as good a job as that which he had when he went away, and a total of 13,113 other returned soldiers have also been taken on the company's service. War decorations and medals won by C. P. Simple and Sure—Dr. Thomas' Eucalypti Oil is simple in application that a child can understand the instructions. Used as a liniment the only direction is to rub, and it is used as a dressing to apply. The directions are so plain an unletterable that they are readily understood by young or old.
In the sweet silence of the twilight they honeymooned upon the beach. "Dearest," she murmured, tremblingly, "how shall we ever be married, I-I-I have a secret to tell you."
"What is it, sweetheart?" he asked sweetly.
"Can you ever forgive me for deceiving you?" she sobbed. "My—my left eye is made of glass."
"I never mind, my dear," he whispered, gently, "we are the diamonds in your engagement ring!"—The Blitz.

Miller's Worm Powders not only make the infantile system untenable for worms, but by their action on the liver they also cure other troubles, such troubles as lack of appetite, biliousness and other internal disorders which are the result of worms. They clean up the system and put matter which condition their worm-infested stomachs may be in, they will show improvement as soon as the treatment begins.
THOSE PUNCTUATION MARKS
"Oh, dear," sighed Warren, as he came in from school one day. "I wish we didn't have to learn so much about periods and commas and semi-colons and such things. They are all so boring. Mamma laid down her sewing and said: 'Why do you hate them, Warren?'"
"Why, it's so hard to remember when to use them, and besides, I don't think they are of much use. I don't see why we could not write sentences without putting in any punctuation marks."
Mamma smiled, and then, rising from her chair, she went over to the desk and got out a piece of paper and a pencil. Then she wrote: "The little turkey strutted about the yard and ate corn half an hour after his head was cut off."
"Why, mamma, how funny!" exclaimed Warren, when he read it.
"How can you talk like that, without using a comma or a period?"
"It couldn't," replied mamma, "and yet I have written what I intended to write. I have, however, left out all punctuation marks."
Then she bent down and punctuated the sentence. It then read: "The little turkey strutted about the yard, and ate corn half an hour after, his head was cut off."
"Oh, I see!" cried Warren. And then there he resolved to learn all that he could about punctuation marks.
THE BOY WHO RIGHT
One of our great public schools, says the London Morning Post, had a fore master whose name was Bill. So tempting a target was laid for the boys to resist. Once on coming into the classroom the master found his Bill sitting at his desk with a look of gravity either at his desk or at the ceiling that he looked around for sympathy. Bill looked at the teacher and blackboard was written the quotation: "Bill to thee, blithe spirit—"
"Blithe thou art!"
"Who wrote that?" the master demanded sharply.
"I don't know," replied Bill, "but I think it makes the music leaves turn red in the autumn."
"You popped one hand and only one 'blithe' Tommy," said the teacher of the owner of the hand.
"Pleasant, miss," replied Tommy, "they never shall be the same, they have had all the summer."

Nature's Mint
Makes $4 Out of c. c.
To the dollars between the days when gold nuggets could be shaken from among the grass roots. A bit, thank goodness, the days of opportunity are not yet gone for the boy with grit and push! To him the nature offers a gold mine, white, red, yellow—all within the little piece of ground which he can call "my garden." Here he can raise beans so transparent, tender and juicy; tomatoes so fat and red; corn of melting sweetness. All these he can sell to merchants far and near.
Seeds cost but little. Ferry's pure-bred seeds are too a papper. God's word the blue hills of southern—the pick of acres devoted to scientific growing and selection of seeds. Buy them at the store around the corner. Send for Ferry's Hoop Annual—booklet of garden hints. Tells which vegetables are best for the home garden. Write to-day. Get an early start on your garden.
