HOME INFLUENCE.

It cannot be too strongly emphasized that it is the home that influences the future life. 'When reverence for God's Word and an example of prayer, and of attendance in His courts are built into the growing structure of the child's soul, the fruit of the future in true living and love for God will be assured. Lord Shaw of Dunfelmline, in an address in Victoria, R. C., before the Canadian Har Association, gave uttor-ance to words we should not forget: "What an influence upon life is the home. You may teach your young men and your young women all the learning that their minds can hold and yet shrink and shrivel up the heart within. But if to the learning that may be acquired at the universities, you add the influence of character, of faith and moderation—the influence of the home -you add the greatest treasure of life, a treasure far greater than intellect. the endowment of scientific knowledge. and the appreciation of art, far greater than business success. It is treasure that cannot be measured and yet I may mould character from generation
