IN MEMORIAM

GAMBLE—In memory of our dear mother, beloved wife of James Gamble, who passed to eternal rest January 20, 1923.

Through all our lives the thread appears—
Other loves pure gold,
The woven patterns of our years—
No brighter than the love we share.
The threads of time made for us
Sweet memory's fairest flowers,
And bind for all eternity
Our mother's heart to ours.

Our husband, son and daughters,
She lives with us in spirit still,
And will forever more,
Her Loving Grandchildren.

The town of Alliston has taken a decided interest in a war memorial. There was a large majority in favor of a monument.

Nearly every period of mild weather, following each cold snap all winter, has been accompanied with a considerable fall of snow.

Anniversary services were held in the Methodist Church, Norval, on Sunday, Rev. Thos. Boile, of Milton, presided over the services.

It looks as if a new waterfall will be built on the G. T. R. station next summer. The old one shows signs of giving away.

A gang of G. T. R. workmen are here repairing the big 100,000 gallon water tank. It has been leaking badly at the bottom of the statue lately.

Every town has its own local question. Is Alliston the place where there's another pool room? Still there's more to answer—Alliston Herald.

Dan McDonald Committed to Trial for Murder of George Kay

Kincardine, Jan. 20.—"Scobie" Dan McDonald, 21, was committed by magistrate McNeilly for trial at the Suring Assizes for the murder of Geo. Kay on January 6.

Evidence given in the examination of the coroner's inquest, which told that on Saturday, January 6, McDonald had been in his pool room playing pool and two men came in and asked him if he knew George Kay was dead. He said, "Yes." They then shot him. "Yes," said he, "I shot him." Then he went on playing pool for some 15 minutes and walked out.

Ladies who wear celluloid tood out their two sons. Fortunately, there was warming her toutes had a couple of toes blown off, and now wants about ten thousand dollars damage. Such things never happened with the old fashioned leather boots that used to be the fashion.—Mercury.

WHEN THE CHIEF COMES AROUND

The sort of work so that you are ready to add glaze to invite attention, the chief of the flock, who was unmercifully startled by the discovery that their chief is in the room or that the manager will drop in some time, is a rare sight. But the worker is proud of what he is doing, he has discovered a short cut to achievement by means of which he can do half as much again as he did before, and give you the symptoms of his culture, he has kept the chief is around. He is glad of it.

ENTERING THE MINISTRY

The Rev. Captain Hickland, when visiting one of his country parishes, was invited to stay for dinner for which he accepted and the chief of the flock. As he was about to consume the chicken, he made the remark:

"This is where a good hen enters the ministry."

A son of the farmer, sitting across the table, spoke up and replied:

"Well, if she don't do any better in the ministry than I did in the laundry, she's about as much good."

It's a poor policy to give solicitors from the city your orders for printing. Think first, Mr. Business Man. The printer is not the only one to profit, both in the matter of price and quality and it pays taxes in town. The city printer doesn't.

Couc, the French suggestionist, may be all right for parlor amusement but it has no influence on the moral life. It is the situation and the householder, to stand over the bin pile say, "Buy by day, burn coal as you may. I am getting Fuller and Fuller."
