CHURCH UNION

To the Editor Free Press:

It is with regret that the facts regarding the policy of the Presbyterian Church of Canada may be accurately known by the public...

It has been suggested that there is some difference of opinion as to the Church's position on the Union question...

In 1921 at Toronto, the General Assembly again expressed its mind by a vote of about four to one in the following terms:

"That the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada do now resolve to unite with the Methodist Church of Canada and the Congregational Church of Canada to constitute the United Church of Canada."

"That a Committee be appointed to carry out the policy of the Assembly."

"That in accordance with the recommendations of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada do now resolve to unite with the Methodist Church of Canada and the Congregational Church of Canada to constitute the United Church of Canada."

"That a representative Committee be appointed with instructions to confer with negotiating churches and to carry out the policy of the Assembly."

"That the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, as expressed by its Supreme Court, in perfectly clear and unambiguous language, has been and is now the presence of anti-unionists on the Assembly's Union Committee indicates that it was not intended to definitely resolve the question of union by a result of a specific request from leaders of the anti-union section of the Assembly. This was agreed to by the Unionists in a spirit of conciliation."

Signed on behalf of the Presbyterian Church-Union Movement Committee by J. H. Turnbull.

Toronto, January 26, 1933.

A TECHNICAL EXPLANATION

Two commercial travellers on a train became involved in an argument as to the action of the vacuum brake.

"Wrong, wrong!" shouted the second. "It's the outside of the exhaust!"

"So they wrangled for an hour. Then, when the train pulled into the station, they agreed to submit the matter for settlement to the engineer."

That gentleman, leaning from the window of a cab, listened with an attentive frown to the two travellers' statement of their argument. Then he smiled.

"Well, gentlemen, you're both wrong about the working of the vacuum brake. Yet it's very simple and easy to understand. When we want to stop the train we just turn this here tap, and then we fill the pipe with vacuum."

TYING THE KNOT

"Tying the knot" is more than a phrase among the Hindus. The bridegroom in Hindustan hangs a ribbon around the bride's neck and ties a knot in the end. Which seals his fate.

Should the young lady's father decide that he is parting with the bride too cheaply, he may forbid the tying ceremony, but once the ribbon is knotted the divorce is out of his hands.

The Wall of China

In 214 B. C., the Chinese commenced building the Great Wall, which isolated their country from the rest of the world and helped retard their national progress.

The business man who maintains a wall of "dignified reserve" towards the buying public is just as surely retarding his own business growth.

People like to buy from the store that shows its appreciation of their kindness, gives good value, and courteous, kindly service, with a "come again" invitation.
