

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 24, 1923

EDITORIAL

Hon. Mr. Raney Persuaded to Stand Again for East Wellington

The earnest solicitation of his co-conspirators in the Province of Nova Scotia is taking forward steps in the matter of improving the status of illegitimate children and forcing the fathers of such children to more adequately provide for the mother and child. A bill affecting illegitimate children was reported favorably from committee in the House of Assembly last week. The bill provides an increase in the financial indemnity chargeable to the father of an illegitimate child, and providing for more favorable recognition for a child born under such circumstances. If the amendments are applied to the bill, it will be increased from the present range of eighty to one hundred and twenty-five dollars to a minimum of five hundred dollars. The amendments also provide that the child would be legally legitimized if the parents married subsequently, and should they not marry, the child would be legally recognized as the heir of the mother.

Improving the Status of Children Born Out of Wedlock

The Province of Nova Scotia is taking forward steps in the matter of improving the status of illegitimate children and forcing the fathers of such children to more adequately provide for the mother and child. A bill affecting illegitimate children was reported favorably from committee in the House of Assembly last week. The bill provides an increase in the financial indemnity chargeable to the father of an illegitimate child, and providing for more favorable recognition for a child born under such circumstances. If the amendments are applied to the bill, it will be increased from the present range of eighty to one hundred and twenty-five dollars to a minimum of five hundred dollars. The amendments also provide that the child would be legally legitimized if the parents married subsequently, and should they not marry, the child would be legally recognized as the heir of the mother.

Respect Your Gift or Talent

There are a lot of young people, and their parents, too, who are considering the choice of a vocation, rather than dismally the work of a mechanic as a means of livelihood. And this in the face of a manifest aptitude for overtaking the needful training which would result in skilful workmen or workers. It would be a pretty poor world without farmers and carpenters and bricklayers, and plumbers and motorists, and on the other hand, it would be a pretty poor world without doctors, and ministers, and poets, and musicians. Everyone's gift is necessary for the good of the community as a whole. Respect your own gift. If a boy would make a first-rate carpenter, and a second-rate lawyer, his chances for success and happiness depend on his taking up carpentry. But if he goes pitying himself because his endowment is not different, of course he will spoil everything. So that young folks' work is necessary to society, so that they are giving real service, they may hold their heads as high as a prime minister. But there are miners who have done more for the world than many a king.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Though charged with extravagance the Drury Government has expended some $60,000 less per year than its predecessor in administering Government activities.

Home runs are the ambition with most baseball enthusiasts. Don't wait until that jubilee ball enthusiasm. It's different, however, with the skilled teacher, or that high school teacher, or that politician. A good many of them will make home employment after a useful himself in your progress come next month, when they'd prefer to make a quiet life. Your ambition is translated in the language of the law.

Don't be afraid to acknowledge your debt. Pay it off in full, and you'll make your mind as clear as the water in the ocean.

If just a coincidence, or another political maneuver, or the like, rules you have received, but in no particular case should recognize. Some and all the publicans in publishing in Ontario will be attending the Canadian Weekly-Newspaper Association convention at Hull.

It is a well-known fact that you must pay at the door, and that you must have your debts paid before you can get into the room.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Davison, of Milton, and their daughter, Louise, and Mr. Robert Anns of Oshawa, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Anns of Orangefield, the marriage will take place quietly June 1—Champion.

Neighborhood News—Town and Country

OAKVILLE

The Oakville Journal staff stayed at home at Burlington last Saturday afternoon, and were defeated by 2 to 1. A crowd from Toronto was picked up here Sunday night and fined $25 and sent on their way.

The Trufizer Lumber Limited, of Guelph, are going to erect a lumber mill and dry kiln on a site that has been cleared.

Young Toronto youths were arraigned before Justice Magistrate Shields on Friday last, charged with conducting themselves disorderly on the streets of Guelph. They were each fined $10.

Pat Jagger, son of Thomas Jagger, while driving his automobile, collided with a child, Donald Ferguson, last week. The automobile was badly smashed, but the young man escaped quite unharmed.

At a vestry meeting of the Anglican Church on Wednesday, the vestry was authorized to go ahead with the construction in addition to the present parish hall and Sunday School to cost in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Mr. D. L. Suddaby has commenced the erection of a new house on Victoria Street, Guelph. & Son has replaced their old gasoline supply pump with a new up-to-date one.

The hay stack on Suddaby's elevated lawn has been farther east and the rainwater running at this point will be straightened and improved.

Mr. Sydney Young is able to be about again and was down town yesterday. Mr. W. H. Leslie, of Esquimalt, who went to Guelph Hospital last week for treatment, is recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jackson, of St. John, Okinawa, Mexico, have been waiting for a few days with Mr. Blackader's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blackader.

The Mayne, Moore, Phipps and others from Ottawa were in Guelph on Tuesday looking at George's new truck. Chief Toot gave them a demonstration which they appreciated very much.

ERIN

A signing for revising the voter list for Erin township will be held at Erin on Saturday, June 1, at 1 p.m., at the Village Hall on May 20. Judge Sperton is the revising officer.

Mr. H. Swinton, of Guelph East recently purchased the Leader yesterday, and the village hall has moved to him.

Mr. John McLean, who spent the winter in Toronto, has returned to his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mark have returned to the home at Belvoir "Larkenoff," after spending the winter in the south.

The baseball match at Stanley Park Friday the 24th will be between The Dodo Knitting Mills team of Orangeville and Erin.

The young couples in town are becoming enthusiastic over the idea of forming ladies softball team, and will quickly bring the move to a successful conclusion.

The Dodo Construction Co., of Hamilton, have been awarded the contract to build a new six-roomed school building at a cost of $15,000. Many contractors figured on the job, but the Dodo Co. gave the bid, and the job is now almost completed, and by the end of the summer-holidays the trustees expect to be in possession of the key to the new and modern school building.

MILTON

Dr. George Hume, of the Department of Mines, Ottawa, is at the home of his parents, Martin Street.

Mrs. J. J. Bell, after a protracted stay at the home of her daughter here, Mrs. T. D. Hume, has now returned to her home in Guelph.

Mr. H. White left last week for Niagara Falls, to spend a couple of weeks with his daughter, Mrs. A. J. Hume, of Guelph.

At one of the most enthusiastic convocations ever held in Owen Sound, Wallace Dickin, an old Milton boy, was selected as the Liberal candidate for North Grey.

A law to bring the town under the Municipal Housing Act of 1920 has been passed. The Committee appointed under the Act was T. D. Hume, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Bell, Mrs. J. H. Houston, for two years.

Mr. Kipling suffered a stroke before the war, and his doctor advised him to appear indifferent. One man offered him ten shillings in case for the left arm, and the landlord accepted the offer.

A braver and stronger letter followed the first, and the landlord carried the autograph to a bookbinder and demanded a bound for it. The bookbinder, who had seen the letter, began to dream of more miseries.

But, the next day Kipling entered briskly and wrathfully.

"Why don't you answer your letter, Mr. and Mrs. landlord?" "Why, I was hoping you would send me a fresh one every day. They pay a deal better than driving a bus!"

FIND THE NUMBER

Make two rows of matches or small sticks, with one more match in one row than in the other. Have some sand in the two rows, with your oil lamp underneath, so that you cannot see the matches. Tell the person at the row to take a certain number of matches from the smaller row, say three, for example. Then tell him to take all the matches from the larger row, as there are left in the smaller row. Next tell him to take all the matches from the smaller row. Now tell him that there are four more matches left.

The trick is this: Whatever number you first tell him to take from the smaller row will be one less than the number you told him to take if you tell him to take five matches from the smaller row; there will be six left; if you tell him to take eight from the smaller row, there will be nine left.

PREPARED FOR THE CIRCUS

Jack was a worthless, and impudent fellow. One day he said to the local grocer, "I'll give you a sack of flour; I'm all out, and my family is starvin'."

"All right, Jack," said the grocer. "If you need a sack of flour, and have money to buy it with, we'll be glad to help you." "Well, I am comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Oh, no, said Jack, "I'll give you the flour money saved up already."

Jack, having the morning day,

was having his breakfast when he heard the sound of a bell. He ran out to see that it was the grocer, who had come to collect his flour.

Jack said, "I'm comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Well, I am comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Oh, no, said Jack, "I'll give you the flour money saved up already."

Jack, having the morning day,

was having his breakfast when he heard the sound of a bell. He ran out to see that it was the grocer, who had come to collect his flour.

Jack said, "I'm comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Well, I am comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Oh, no, said Jack, "I'll give you the flour money saved up already."

Jack, having the morning day,

was having his breakfast when he heard the sound of a bell. He ran out to see that it was the grocer, who had come to collect his flour.

Jack said, "I'm comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Well, I am comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Oh, no, said Jack, "I'll give you the flour money saved up already."

Jack, having the morning day,

was having his breakfast when he heard the sound of a bell. He ran out to see that it was the grocer, who had come to collect his flour.

Jack said, "I'm comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Well, I am comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Oh, no, said Jack, "I'll give you the flour money saved up already."

Jack, having the morning day,

was having his breakfast when he heard the sound of a bell. He ran out to see that it was the grocer, who had come to collect his flour.

Jack said, "I'm comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Well, I am comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Oh, no, said Jack, "I'll give you the flour money saved up already."

Jack, having the morning day,

was having his breakfast when he heard the sound of a bell. He ran out to see that it was the grocer, who had come to collect his flour.

Jack said, "I'm comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Well, I am comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Oh, no, said Jack, "I'll give you the flour money saved up already."

Jack, having the morning day,

was having his breakfast when he heard the sound of a bell. He ran out to see that it was the grocer, who had come to collect his flour.

Jack said, "I'm comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Well, I am comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Oh, no, said Jack, "I'll give you the flour money saved up already."

Jack, having the morning day,

was having his breakfast when he heard the sound of a bell. He ran out to see that it was the grocer, who had come to collect his flour.

Jack said, "I'm comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Well, I am comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Oh, no, said Jack, "I'll give you the flour money saved up already."

Jack, having the morning day,

was having his breakfast when he heard the sound of a bell. He ran out to see that it was the grocer, who had come to collect his flour.

Jack said, "I'm comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Well, I am comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Oh, no, said Jack, "I'll give you the flour money saved up already."

Jack, having the morning day,

was having his breakfast when he heard the sound of a bell. He ran out to see that it was the grocer, who had come to collect his flour.

Jack said, "I'm comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Well, I am comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Oh, no, said Jack, "I'll give you the flour money saved up already."

Jack, having the morning day,

was having his breakfast when he heard the sound of a bell. He ran out to see that it was the grocer, who had come to collect his flour.

Jack said, "I'm comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Well, I am comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Oh, no, said Jack, "I'll give you the flour money saved up already."

Jack, having the morning day,

was having his breakfast when he heard the sound of a bell. He ran out to see that it was the grocer, who had come to collect his flour.

Jack said, "I'm comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"

"Well, I am comin' to town to-morrow, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sur' you won't sell it and take your fam'ly to the grocer?"