. Lesson Themes The Character of John John was fisherman, a rough, uneducated man, but his natural endowments were rich. It is probable that his mother instructed him faithfully in the things of religion. His calling was conducive to holy meditation, since fishermen often pass whole nights in allence upon the water. His carnestness of soul is indicated by the fact that he early be comes & disciple of John the Baptist, and later, by his prompt response to the summons of Jesus, to follow Him, John, with Peter and James, enjoyed more fully than the other disciples the confidence of our Lord, doubtless because of their greater ability and devotion to Him. John was a powerful and impassioned speaker, as is indicated by his surname, "Son of Thunder." His flery temper, in the early days, was shown in his rebuke of one who cast out devils in the Lord's name and in his seeking to call down-fire from heaven, upon a village of the into the material and then pounded Samaritans.
