LET SOMETHING GOOD BE SAID

The beautiful teaching in these verses by Mr. Whitcomb Riley is illustrated in a story told of Jesus, which is not in the Bible. A dead dog lay in an Eastern street, scorned by the passers-by. Said one, "It must have been a bad dog or it would not be dead." Said another, "See the holes in its useless coat!" A third added, "Pah! How offensive it is!" The One passed by who said, "Pearls are not equal to the whiteness of its teeth." And the people said, "That must be Jesus, for only He would say something good of a dead dog!" There is a fine lesson here.

When over the fair fame of friend or foe
The shadow of disgrace shall fall; instead
Of words of blame, or proof of thus and so,
Let something good be said.

Forget not that no fellow-being yo
May fall so low but love may lift his head;
Even the cheek of shame with tears is wet,
If something good be said.

No generous heart may vainly turn aside
In ways of sympathy; no soul so dead
But may awaken strong and glorified,
If something good be said.

And so I charge yo, by the thorny crown
And by the Cross on which the Saviour bled,
And by your own soul's hope and fair renown,
Let something good be said!

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the Issue of the Free Press of Thursday, October 1, 1903

The frost has nipped the tenderest of the flowers and plants.

Quite a crowd of lacrosse enthusiasts from Acton went to Tottenham on Monday to see Orillia-Fergus play off.

The return game in the baseball in Georgetown on Saturday of the Georgetown-Acton series for the championship of Halton, went to the Acton team, after a good game with a score of 9-1. The Acton boys are still on top in championship running.

Mr. J. W. Humphries has purchased from the estate of the late J. A. Speight the rough-cast dwelling at the corner of Church and John Street.

Mr. Morris Sayers has purchased from Mr. Gilbert Creemore his house and lot on Mount Campbell.

Mr. William Baker has bought from Mrs. Anderson the dwelling on Mill Street, which she has occupied for a number of years.

Mr. Adam Cook, who is this year acting as agent for Mr. D. Cantleton, the apple exporter, states that the apple crop in this vicinity is magnificent. He has already shipped several cars of fruit from this vicinity and before the season ends the output will probably total 3,000 or 4,000 barrels.

Why suffer from corns when, they can be painlessly rooted out by using Holloway's Corn Remover.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

Whoever makes two ears of corn or two blades of grass to grow where only one grew before, deserves better of mankind, and does more essential service to his country than the whole race of politicians put together.—Swift.

"In a comparatively long life, I have never known anybody who worked too hard, though I have known many who think they do."—Lord Hewart.

"The old-fashioned teacher was too much afraid of joy and the modern teacher is too much afraid of work.—Mr. Frank Jones.

Another pathetic little feature of everyday life is the go-getter after he has got it and does not know what to do with it.

United States people spend twice as much on chewing gum as they do on religion; but gum is used every day.

"One of the ablest men I ever knew was a failure in life because he did not wear a clean collar."—Judge Parfitt.

Neither adversity nor prosperity ever changes a man; each merely brings out what there is in him.

"It is highly improbable that the human body is a finished masterpiece."—Professor J. Arthur Thomson.

It has Many Qualities.—The man who possesses a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is armed against many ills. It will relieve a cough, break a cold, prevent sore throat; it will reduce the swelling from a sprain, relieve the most persistent sores, and will speedily heal cuts and contusions. It is a medicine chest in itself.

PUNDIT A MATCH FOR HIM

A young engineer listened to the fogey observations of a lot of old philosophers until he determined to take the wind out of their sails by some technical talk of his own; so he jumped into the conversation with the following description of a wanderful machine he had just been watching:

"By means of pedal attachment," he said, "a fulcrum lever converts a vertical reciprocating motion into a circular movement. The principal part of the machine is a huge disk that revolves in a vertical plane. Power is applied through the axis of the disk, and work is done on the periphery, and the hardest steel by mere impact may be reduced to any shape."

But one old pundit looked sternly at him over his spectacles, and said:

"Young man, seek not to darken with folly the counsels of the wise. What you have so verbosely described would be as easily recognised if you just called it a grindstone."

Nearly all children are subject to worms, and many are born with them. Spare them suffering by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, an excellent remedy.

ANSWERING HER BOY'S QUESTION

Here is the story of a small colored boy that may remind our readers of certain white boys they know,

"Ma," said Rastus plaintively, "does yo' know whereabouts my shoes and stockings is?"

"Rastus," answered the mother, "you certainlyrjis the carelessest boy I know. Yo' shoes is behind the door; yo' stockings under the bed; yo' feet am on yo'. Now see if you can mingle them."

When Asthma Comes do not despair. Turn at once to the help effective—Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. This wonderful remedy will give you the aid you need so sorely. Choking ceases, breathing becomes natural and without effort. Others, thousands of them, have suffered as you suffer but have wisely turned to this famous remedy and ceased to suffer. ## THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FOR SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 30

REVIEW: LIFE LESSONS FROM THIS QUARTER.

Golden Text.—Therefore let us also, seeing we are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, lay aside every weight and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us (Heb. 12: 1).

Lesson Themes

The Argument of Facts. This quarter has given us many lessons in the vitality of the early Christian faith, and its impressiveness as embodied in these heroes and heroines of New Testament times. By their lives, more than by their words, they demonstrate what the Christian religion could be, and should be, in the world. The argument of facts is the most conclusive kind of reasoning. Peter used this argument, and John, and Matthew, and Stephen; and so did Barnabas, the great-hearted, and Paul the apostle, and John Mark in his own way, and Luke the beloved physician, and Timothy, good minister of Christ. Every one, in his own manner and according to his own gift, rehearsed what signs and wonders God had wrought among the Gentiles. Speaking generally, historical theology has not been inductive, reasoning from facts, but deductive and speculative. But abstract theology has lost its grip on the people of to-day, for this is a practical age. The effective theology is biblical theology, and it is based on the known facts of Christian experience. We like to argue from facts and to stay close by the facts of the spiritual life.

The Fact of Sin. Every sin we have ever committed lives on as a fact. One of the outstanding incidents in Peter's life was his denial of his Lord, and there is much to be learned from this. There is no such thing as the erasing of bad deeds, any more than of good deeds. What we have written we have written. Forgiving sin does not undo it. Nothing can be blotted out, except in poetic figures. There is no doubt that Peter repented and was forgiven and became one of the greatest of the apostles in usefulness and honor; but the fact that we are studying his base denial of his Lord is a lesson in itself. There is an old legend that every time after this that Peter heard the crowing of a cock he wept for the memory of his sin. There is another that every morning when the cock began to crow he would go out and weep and prayed until sunrise. But the fact remains that his sin was a heavy burden to him, even after it had been forgiven, and that his repentance continued long after his forgiveness. So it is with all truly pious souls. It is very easy to make light of sin in preaching and teaching repentance and forgiveness.

John's Inspired Message. John's is called "the spiritual Gospel." It differs strikingly from the first three, and contains some of the loftiest revelations to be found in all the Scriptures. John was the disciple who loved Jesus most and knew him best. He was a member of the inner circle of three, and is called "the beloved disciple." In the beginning of his Gospel he tells us "the Word was with God," which has been called the author's most important contribution to theology. The Son of God was given to mankind to reveal to them the divine life, light, truth and love. These are the leading topics of this remarkable Gospel. They seem to take the place occupied by the "Kingdom of Heaven" in the synoptics. In John's view God is the Living One. He is the final Source of all life, which in man takes the higher form of moral and spiritual life. In fact, life is the leading thought of John's Gospel. He wrote it, as he tells us, "that, ye may have life in His name." He speaks of light in an ethical sense. The light of moral and spiritual truth is in all ages combating the darkness of error and sin. When he calls Christ the Light of the World, the dominant idea is that of moral purity and perfection. By this he guides men into all the will of God. Truth in his Gospel is what we should call reality. It is opposed to all fraud and affectation and sham and falsehood. By being united to Christ men can share in the truth, not only in what is thought, but in what is done. John's message culminates in the statement that "God is love." His love to the world is shown in the gift of His Son as the source of life to men. Loving us enough to give us His Son, He will also with Him freely give us all things.

Paul's Teaching of the Holy Spirit. Paul tells us that the sons of God are those who are led by the Spirit of God. We are told that "one of Paul's most memorable achievements as a Christian teacher was his transformation of the conception of the Spirit as an abnormal, fitful energy, manifest in strange outbursts of religious enthusiasm, into that of the abiding principle of the Christian's moral life." There were many then, and we have them with us to-day, who thought that the coming of the Holy Spirit means speaking with tongues, or gifts of healing, or some one manifestation of hypnotic power. But for Paul the coming of the Spirit means "love, joy, peace, longsuffering," kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, self-control. Harnack says, "Paul has created an inapperable moral ideal." It is easy to understand how a man who followed the Saviour so closely could do this. In reviewing the life work of this great apostle we may well keep in mind this clear teaching of his concerning the Holy Spirit.

For Study and Discussion

What character has impressed you most in the lessons of the past quarter? Why? Mention the most prominent character of each. What was the main theme preached by the apostles during the early days of the Christian Church? How widespread was the custom among the early Christians of having "all things common"? What lessons may the church of to-day learn from the early church? Are there ever times when Christ calls to come to the aid of His followers? What "grievous wolves" must be watched for in the church to-day? Did the Christian Church to-day the same spirit of devotion and heroism as that manifested by the apostles and their immediate successors?

THE ONES WHO SUFFERED

Maud (newly married)—"You look very melancholy, George; are you sorry you married me?"

George—"No, dear, of course not. I was only thinking of all the nice girls I can't marry."

Maud—"Oh, George, how horrid of you! I thought you cared for nobody but me."

George—"No more I do. I wasn't thinking of myself, but of the disappointment for them."

Do not allow worms to sap the vitality of your children. If not attended to, worms may work irreparable harm to the constitution of the infant. The little sufferers cannot voice their ailment, but there are many signs by which mothers are made aware that a dose of Miller's Worm Powders is necessary. These powders act quickly and will expel worms from the system without any inconvenience to the child.

CABINS IN THE CLOUDS

To climb 6,875 feet above Lake Louise and to enjoy a cup of tea in delightful surroundings is one of the attractions offered visitors to Lake Louise, Alta. Tea houses on mountain peaks, were unheard of a few years ago, but to-day there are at least a dozen of them, situated in the Canadian Rockies.

Two of the most picturesque are the "Beehive" on the shores of Lake Agnes, about two miles and a half from the Chateau; and the other a rustic cabin on the top of Mount Fairview. Walking and pony excursions over the mountains in the vicinity of this picturesque lake are among the popular pastimes of visitors from all parts of the globe to "the lake in the clouds."

From the "Beehive" one can get a kitchen door in search of tasty food. Perfect view of Mirror Lake and Lake Louise, which Lake Agnes, are known as "the lakes in the clouds." This cosy little tea room is owned by Miss B. Dodds and operated during the season by Miss Goddard. Its furnishings are quaint and rustic.

The foodstuffs are delivered every morning by pack pony from the Chateau Lake Louise—even fuel for the cook stoves is transported in this way.

In addition to the tea room there is an attractive assortment of antiques from various parts of the globe, collected during the winter months by Miss Dodds, who usually goes abroad.

There are many surprises of scenic beauty along the trail to the tea room, but perhaps the most interesting fact is that one can obtain a delicious cup of English tea, with equally delicious home cooking within sight and sound of whistling marmots and squirrels and chipmunks that leap from bough to bough, and often within sight of friendly bears who come close to the

One of the most interesting trips at Lake Louise is by a narrow, winding path on Mount Fairview to Saddleback Tea Room and Rest House, which is 2,500 feet higher than the Chateau. This quaint little log cabin, situated on Mount Fairview, overlooks Saddleback Mountain, so called because of its rock formation being similar to a saddle. It takes almost two hours by pony to make the trip over a steep zigzag trail, from which can be seen winding streams and rushing brooks thousands of feet below.

This tea room and rest house, like "Beehive," is owned by Miss Dodds and operated by Miss A. E. Whyman. Its surroundings are most artistic and restful. The view of Paradise Valley and Mount Temple from the tea house is one of the finest in the Rockies.

Daily supplies of food and fuel are transported by pack ponies from the Chateau to serve approximately 25 guests a day, who are well rewarded for their journey to the "highest tea house in Canada."

2,000 HEAD OF BUFFALO MARKED FOR SLAUGHTER

The Dominion of Canada has 2,000 surplus buffalo, and they are to be slaughtered. These unwanted members of a race of animals which had been showing signs of disappearing are now wandering on the range in the National Park at Wainright.

For some years the Dominion Government has been paying special attention to the preservation of these animals, and so successful has this work been that the accommodation in the National Parks is being overtaxed.

Consequently 2,000 of the buffalo are to be killed this fall, and the meat and skins sold.

The contract for the slaughter of the animals has been given by Order-in-Council to A. H. Ducloz, of Edmonton, who performed similar services for the Government on a smaller scale last year, when 250 head of buffalo were killed.

A Corrector of Pulmonary Troubles.—Many testimonials could be presented showing the great efficacy of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in correcting disorders of the respiratory processes, but the best testimonial is experience and the Oil is recommended to all who suffer from these disorders with the certainty that they will find relief. It will allay inflammation in the bronchial tubes.

PROMISCUOUS

The automobile has come to stay—yet it has come to go.

Spin and the world spins with you, stall and you stall alone.

It's wonderful all the people who go out in cars to see the horse races.

Kate—"Just look, these boots are ever so much too big."

Mary—"Yes, you must have given them the number of the house instead of the number of your shoe."

"If a man marries a widow by the name of Elisabeth, with two children, what does he get?"

"Give it up."

"A second-hand Lizzie and two runabouts."

Watchmaker—"The first time I cleaned your watch it was in a gold case, the next time in a gold-filled case, and now it's in a silver case."

Hardup—"Yes; circumstances alter cases, you know."

She—I heard you skated into an airhole the other day.

He—That's what they call it, but I found it full of water.

Grocers are accustomed to answering penetrating questions about the merits of their wares. Mr. Jones was no exception to the rule. A lady came into the shop to buy some eggs.

"Are they really fresh?" she asked.

"Oh yes, ma'am!" he answered.

"Are you quite sure, because I'm so frightened of bad eggs. I must have them really fresh!"

"Boy!" called out the grocer to his assistant, "just run to the back room and see if this morning's eggs are cool enough to split!"—D. R.

"LINE'S BUSY"

A man who believed he knew all about parrots undertook to teach what he thought to be a young, mute bird to say "Hello!" in one lesson.

Going up to the cage, he repeated that word in a clear voice for several minutes, the parrot paying not the slightest attention. At the final "Hello!" the bird opened one eye, gazed at the man, and snapped out, "Line's busy."

UNAPPRECIATED

Little Katherine's uncle was paying them a visit and taking the child on his knee he asked her, as uncles often do, if she was a good little girl.

"Yes, but nobody knows it," was Katherine's prompt reply.—Boston Transcript.
