Killed by Toronto Suburban Car

Motor with Man and Wife Drove on Crossing as Car Reached Them

The trainmen on the Toronto Suburban motor car, which reaches Acton at 3.32, had a sad experience last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McMurray, of Islington, were driving home from Toronto, and just as they were turning toward their own home, within a hundred yards of their front door, Mrs McMurray was almost instantly killed and Mr. McMurray received injuries from which he died a few hours later when the radial car hit their automobile a mile west of Islington.

Tragic was the accident that caused their death, even more tragic are the circumstances surrounding it. Every day Mrs. McMurray was accustomed to take their new motor car and go into Toronto where her husband worked as a carpenter. Then the two of them would come back together to their little home on Poplar Street, Islington, which Mr. McMurray had built with his own hands.

On Saturday Mrs. McMurray had called for her husband as usual. They had arrived almost at their home. It had been in sight for a few minutes as they motored out Dundas Street. Less than a minute more and they would have been climbing out of the auto at their own door step.

But just on the verge of their homecoming, just as they turned up Poplar Street to cross the radial tracks, the car smashed into their automobile and hurled them into sudden death. It was another tragedy of the level crossings.

The fatality was a great shock to Conductor Harper and Motorman Greaves. A clump of trees at the crossing completely hid the oncoming motor car. The passengers on the radial car were also terribly shaken up by the tragedy.

Improving Crossing at Oakville

A Dangerous Place to be Improved by Removal of Embankment

Differences have arisen between the Oakville Council, the Provincial Highway Engineer's Department, and the Dominion Railway Board's Engineering Department, concerning what steps should be taken to lessen the existing conditions at the Kerr Street crossing of the C. N. R. line.

Chief Engineer Hogart, of the Provincial Highway Department, and Chief Assistant Engineer Simmons, of the Dominion Railway Board, visited Oakville last week and, along with Reeve Hillmer, M. P. P., and Mayor Forster, inspected the crossing. It was then decided that the embankment, which at the present time obstructs the view of the railway tracks, should be removed, at an estimated cost of $3,300, and the earth used for the fill at the new highway bridge.

Since then, however, a communication has been received locally stating the installation of bells and wig-wags would be more economical.

The local officials feel the latter would not remedy matters, and a further appeal will be made to the Railway Board for the removal of the embankment.

Sixty Million for Roads

Quebec Province Spending Immense Sums in Public Highways

Quebec, Que.—By the end of this year the Province of Quebec will have spent $60,000,000 on good roads, declared Hon. J. E. Perron, minister of highways, addressing a Good Roads' Association banquet here recently.

Premier Taschereau said that good roads were not only necessary to the people of a province, but they bridged the chasms between provinces and drew together the people of Canada, whether they be in the east or the west.

JACK KNEW HORSES

It was the custom of a certain headmaster, after explaining the meaning of a word, to test the efficacy of his explanation by asking for a word of opposite meaning.

In the Scripture lesson he dealt at length with the word "woe," and shook a day-dreamer into alertness by suddenly springing on him the question: "Jack what's the opposite to 'woe'?"

"Gee-up!" was Jack's apt but inadequate reply.

The U. F. O. Hold Social Evening

The regular monthly meeting of the U. F. O. and U. F. W. O. was held last Friday evening at the home of Mr. A. G. Clarridge, Bannockburn. The programme consisted of solos, instrumental numbers and readings and other items of a distinctly Hallowe'en flavor. Luncheon was served by the ladies of the society, and following this the remainder of the evening was given to dancing and social intercourse.

Presentation to Retiring Pastor

The Ladies' Aid of Knox Church, Milton, held a special meeting last week at which over two hundred members of the church were present. A feature of the evening was two presentations, one to Rev. W. M. MacKay, who has resigned, after being the minister of Knox Church there for nearly twenty years, of a cheque for $200, the other being to Mrs. MacKay of a silver cake basket, a dozen sterling silver spoons and a dozen sweetheart roses.

A Successful Old Plowman

James Welsh, of Forest, who is over 80 years of age, won first prize and silver tea service at the Provincial Plowing Match at Sarnia last week, where there were 80 teams plowing. Mr. Welsh is an uncle of Auctioneer Kerr, who himself has been a winner of many prizes at plowing matches. The old gentleman was unable to attend the first day to compete in a special match for old men; but he went the second day and entered in the general class for all comers. His success created great enthusiasm and the old gentleman was tendered a banquet by the society in the evening.

New Masonic Temple at Oakville

Arrangements have been completed and the contract awarded for a new Masonic Hall to be erected by the Oakville Blue Lodge and Chapter at the corner of Church and Thomas Streets, at an estimated cost of $10,000. The building will be an imposing structure of red tapestry brick and brown stone and will provide for a lodge room, club and committee rooms on the main floor and a banquet hall in the basement. Later on a recreation room will be furnished for the younger members. Work will commence at once.

J. B. Wallace New Manager at Georgetown

Mr. J. B. Wallace, who has been manager of the Bank of Montreal, Meaford, has been transferred to Georgetown, and is now in office as Manager of the Bank of Montreal there. Mrs. Wallace and family have also arrived and they are getting settled in their new home. Mr. Wallace was the first manager of the first chartered bank opened in Acton, nearly twenty-five years ago. He was very popular here in church and musical circles, and organized the golf club here, which was much in vogue during his stay here.

A Busy Man's Itinerary

Rev. T. Albert Moore, D. D., of Toronto, wrote his brother here the other day, as he was en route to fulfil a busy list of engagements in the West, as follows: "I go to Alberta to help in the prohibition campaign; to speak on church union in Alberta and Saskatchewan; to dedicate a new church in Edmonton; meet our provincial groups of Evangelism and Social Service in all the Western Provinces; meet nearly all the district secretaries; preach on Sundays, lecture on week nights, and interview governments between times." That is surely an itinerary to keep a man from sleeping much during the usual waking hours.

Dundas Street Highway Through to Toronto

Rapid progress has been made during the past few weeks in connection with the construction of the new highway on Dundas Street, which will eventually connect Toronto, Hamilton and London. All of the concrete work is now completed between Toronto and Hamilton and less than six miles of the tarvia top remains to be finished. This will be completed shortly and the entire roadway thrown open for through traffic. Dundas Street is now open for traffic from Toronto to beyond Trafalgar, on the seventh line, and from Hamilton to within five miles of the Sixteen Mile Creek.

The Responsibility of Youthful Drivers

Before Judge Coatsworth in the County Criminal Court at Toronto on Monday, Howard Murray was convicted on a charge of negligently driving a motor car so that Mrs. Mabel Stephenson was injured. The accused had been trying out a new car, and collided with another car in which Mrs. Stephenson was riding on Howard Avenue on July 12 last. "I think he was too young to drive, anyway," said His Honor in passing Murray on probation under suspended sentence to Major J. B. Grimshaw. The accused had been in jail for seven weeks before he had been granted bail. He must not drive a car during his period of probation.

Two Fires in Oakville on Monday

Two fire alarms were turned in simultaneously shortly after 8.30 Monday morning. The first was at the home of Frank Kyle, Randall Street, where it is thought the fire was caused by mice chewing matches in a cupboard. Considerable damage was caused by smoke and water. An overheated furnace in the cellar at the home of Robert Armstrong, Watson Street, started the rafters burning in the cellar. With the assistance of smoke masks the firemen soon had the blaze under control. While assisting at the first fire Albert Waumsley, Thomas Street, was painfully burned about the arms and legs by chemicals, which were being used to extinguish the blaze.

Canadian National Railway Earnings

Net Earnings for Nine Months have Increased $6,330,502 Over Same Period Last Year

The September statement of operating results issued to-day by the Canadian National Railways shows an increase of 9% in net earnings over the corresponding month of last year. The lateness of the Western harvest had the effect of offsetting the increased business handled on the eastern portions of the system, with the result that gross earnings for September were less than last year by about one-third of one per cent. Operating expenses, however, were reduced by over $300,000 to $19,982,445. The net earnings were $1,845,970, as compared with $1,693,413 earned last year, an increase of $152,557.

Net earnings for the Canadian National Railways for the first nine months of 1923 amounted to $6,857,816, as compared with $527,314 for the first nine months of last year. The improvement in net earnings for operation is, therefore, $6,330,502.

ROCKWOOD

A motor accident occurred on Tuesday evening of last week on the Eramosa Road, when a Ford touring car, driven by Mr. R. Swanson, R. R. No 2, Rockwood, and a truck, driven by Wm. Hayne, Guelph, collided. As a result of the accident the Ford car was badly damaged, both of the front wheels being broken and turned under the car, and otherwise damaged, while the truck also suffered some damage. It is alleged that there was but one light on the Hayne car, and this fact was confusing to Mr. Swanson.

The managing board of the Presbyterian Church are busy repairing and decorating the Manse for the coming of their new minister, Rev. J. W. Stewart, of Belmont.

Messrs. John and Joseph Wood returned from their harvesting trip to Saskatchewan last week. They had steady work while they were in the West.

Last Saturday morning James Douglas, of the Rockwood line, had an exciting experience at the station crossing here. He was about to cross the tracks with his car when the ten o'clock flier from Toronto come upon him unexpectedly. He stopped his car within a few feet, but ran a foot too far to escape damage. The engine passed safely, but the steps of the cars caught the front of his motor and in a second the mudguards, lamps, radiator, and front of the motor were torn off. Fortunately neither Mr. Douglas nor his sister were seriously hurt. His car was a pitiful wreck, however.

Bannockburn School

Brief History of the School Buildings and List of its 41 Teachers

The following interesting history of Bannockburn School has been contributed by Mr. R. D. Warren, Toronto, a pupil and afterward a teacher in this famous rural school.

In 1830 the first school at Bannockburn, about a mile east of Acton, was opened in a little log house that had been used as a carpenter shop. A teacher, Mr. Charles Duncan, from Nova Scotia, was employed for three months in the winter, for which each pupil paid $1.50 per month, and the teacher "boarded round."

In 1840 a log schoolhouse was built and this was re-placed in 1863 by a frame building, which stood east of the gateway to John Gordon's farm, about midway between the 4th and 5th lines, on the Acton crossroad. This building was torn down about 1870. Part of it was used to enlarge the residence on the Gordon homestead, and the remainder was moved to a farm near Georgetown. A new brick building was erected at the 4th line corner, in a lot purchased from Mr. Peter Mann. For fifty years this building has been in use as a schoolhouse and it is still "Bannockburn School."

The teachers from the opening of the school, so far as it has been possible to ascertain, were:

THE FARMER'S DOLLAR TO-DAY

In an address by Principal Reynolds, of the O. A. C., the other day, the following graphic comparisons were made:

A farmer requiring a mower in 1914 could obtain one in exchange for 700 pounds of beef; in 1921 it was necessary for him to deliver 1,500 pounds for the same implement.

In 1914 he could obtain a hay loader by the tender of three and a half tons of hay; in 1921 the loader could not be had for less than eight tons.

A seed drill in 1914 was the equivalent of 166 bushels of oats; it represented 416 bushels of oats in 1921.

In the latter year 200 bushels of wheat were required in exchange for a binder, which could have been obtained for 133 bushels seven years before.

A gang plow could then be had for 774 pounds of pork, but in 1921 the farmer would have to deliver 1,200 pounds in exchange for the plow.

The farmer seeking a two-horse cultivator in the earlier year transferred 30 bags of potatoes in the exchange; in the later year he had to bring 136 bags to the market place.

And where 413 pounds of butter could then have been traded for a manure spreader, 840 pounds would have to be transferred in 1921.

—Some local hunters will discover to their cost, one of these days, that the law gives the wild birds, rabbits and other game, as well as the laboring man, a day of rest on the Sabbath.

ALBERTA BUTTER OUTPUT

More than 18,000,000 pounds of creamery butter is the estimated production for the Province of Alberta during 1923, according to statistics obtained by C. P. Marker, Dairy Commissioner for Alberta, in showing the remarkable increase in dairy work since 1900. In 1912 there were 53 creameries in operation in the Province and they produced 3,010,755 butter, valued at $823,500, with an average selling at value of 27.352 cents per pound. In 1923, 54 creameries were operating to produce 15,417,070 pounds of butter with a selling value of 33.25 cents per pound, with a total value of $5,126,843. Mr. Marker's figures for 1923 show the output to have grown in volume five times the 1912 total.
