LEBSONS FROM BOLOMON'S RESGN-2 Chron, 1: 7-12; 1 Kings, 11;

Golden Text--The four of Jehovah s the beginning of knowledge-Prov.

The Text Explained

3 Chron. 1: 74-In that night-The aight following the great sacrifices. The author of Kings says that Jehovah appeared to Solomon in a dream, and this is at least implied here. Jehovali's words are, "Ask what I shall give thee." .

Verse 9 .- Thy promise unto David-That Solomon, his son, should succeed him and build a temple to Jehovah, and that his throne should be established forever (f Chron. 22: of.). This promise bad already been partially fulfilled; hence Bolomon prays with -- itev. James Lawson. faith for its complete establishment.

Verse 10-Clive me . ; wisdom-"First Kinge, says 'an understanding heart.' He desired intellectual and moral fitness for his position rather than wealth. The solemalty of the great religious ceremonies at "Gibeon, together with a due appreciation of the responsibilities of his position, led Bolomon to 'dealer to be a discreet rather than magnificent monarch. This request so reveals a harmony with the will of Jehovah that he not only grants it but promises to add-to. it all that will make the reign glorious."-The New Ceptury Bible.
