An Acton Man's Chat-with a Trayeller A reputable citisen said to THE Press Pausa yesterday: "We hear quite a lot about Government Control these days. What do you think of the Quebec brand? I met a clothing traveller yesterday who said he recently visited Hull, Quebec. He said he walked into a Government vendor's shop and asked for a bottle of whiskey .. He got the bottle and paid for it, and saked if ne could got another. 'Oh, yes,' said the Government vendor, 'you can get all you like to buy, but I can sell you but one at a time.' The traveller said be bought and paid for three bottles without leaving the Government vendor's shop. The bottles were all scaled, of course, but he and his friends weren't long in breaking the scale. That's the way Government Control (7) works in Quebec, and that's the way it would
