THE BEGINNING OF FOREIGN MISSIONS.—Acts 13: 1-12. Read Acts

Time.-15 A. D. Place .- Antioch, Salamis, Paphos. The Lesson Explained 1. Barnabus and Saul called by the Holy Spirit, set apart by men, sent forth by men and by the Holy Spirit:

The church at Antioch had flye "prophets and teachers" worthy of mention by name: This early Gentile church became a fountain of light and life to many other places. The Holy Ghost spoke to them "as they ministered to the Lord and Fasted.", If we would spend more time and strength in the ministering to the Lord and fasting, we would have more frequent and clearer leadings of the Spirit. A Spirit-filled mind rarely accompanies an over-filled stomach. Greater publicity in our living would be conducive to a clearer perception of the mind of God. It is not said how the Spirit spoke, whether in an audible voice, or silently, in the inner recesses of the heart; but He spoke in an unmistakable way. It was no vague, uncertain impulse such as men sometimes call "the voice of the Spirit." He is ready to speak to-day, I we will supply the proper conditions and listen. It was the Holy Spirit's work to call; it was man's work to recognize the call, and set the one Saturday,-Dominion Day. The rain called apart for the work. Those who ignore ordination by man are as unscriptual as those who ignore a call by God. But it was "for the work where" played. In the forenoon the Young unto" the Spirit called that they were paidings of Toronto, played the Young to be set apart. Too often we set men score of 5-2. from England. He must have found it difficult to find a bank or a strong box for his savings, for four thousand pounds of sugar takes up room, and a thrifty man who spends much less in year than he earned would find himself in a few years with enough sugar laid away to fill a barn.

Slaves were bought and sold in terms of sugar. The purchaser of an estate could pay for it either in indigo, or in tobacco, or in sugar. The wife of the governor of the island once set her heart upon a piece of Smyrna carpet, the price of which was seventeen hundred pounds of sugar; of course she didn't pay for it over the counter. A woman who went downtown shopping in those good old days must have taken slave along trunding a wheelbarrow of sugar for her insignificant purchases of needles and pins and soaps and perfumes; when she went to look for Easter finery she must have been accompanied by a four-horse dray!
