There was no magnetic touch, no treatments, just a look, a word, and then a perfect and not an imaginary cure. Paul did not attempt to heal every lame man he met. God directed his attention to this man, and gave him to see that he had fuith to be healed. How did he get it? By hearing Paul speak--Katharine Tyman. Something of this kind was needed to gain Paul a hearing in Antioch. Paul thoroughly studied and understood the case before he spoke the word. He commanded the man to do the naturally impossible, but "all things are possible to him that believeth." The man proved his faith by obedience.
