often think the folks I meet

And look the same both night and

Till, lit with some mad passion's glow Their secret souls they sudden show. Those I love best are shuttered tight, Yet through the chinks shines gleams

Before their door I like to stand, And tap and tap with gentle hand.

And call as loudly as I dare "Say, little brother, are you there?" And sometimes there is no reply, sad I turn away and sigh.

sometimes, too, if I look back The doors will open just u crack, A smiling form its hand extend, And then I know I've found a friend

Winning New Customers

This ever-present task of the business man is one that Advertising can most efficiently perform.

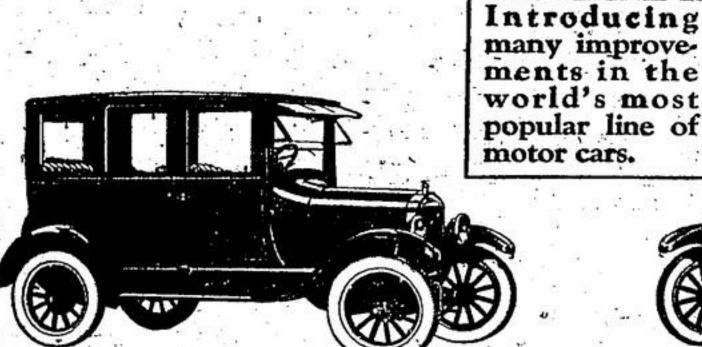

Advertising in the Acton Free Press would carry any message you desire into every home in this community. It would spread the "news" about new merchandise, special sales or new store policies quickly and thoroughly.

Take a friendly interest in telling the "buyers" of this town what you have for sale that is of service to them and you will win new customers constantly.
