STIRRING MISSIONARY ADDRESS

Given by Rev. John Hull in Baptist Church on Monday Evening

Under the auspices of the Acton B.Y.P.U. a splendid missionary rally was conducted on Monday evening, September 14, in the Acton Baptist Church. The special speaker was Rev. John Hall, missionary to Nigeria, serving under the Soudan Interior Missionary Board, and now on furlough. The meeting was well attended, friends from the local churches gathering in good numbers. Mr. C. R. Knapp ably performed the duties of chairman. Mr. Ernest Coles conducted a bright song service. Rev. Mr. Stewart led in prayer. The Baptist Church Male Quartette assisted in the programme by giving two fine selections.

The address by Rev. John Hall was a demonstration of the fervent faith and missionary passion in Africa. The subject was entitled "Christ's Triumph in Pagan Africa." Mr. Hall outlined first the triumphs of anti-Christian forces among the pagan tribes. He pointed out the triumph of superstition, with its deadly power to keep the people in bondage to ghostly traditions and dreaded demon spirits. Superstition was declared to be a bar to knowledge, to truth. A bar to progress, prosperity, and moral purity, and also a bar to independence. Only the power of Christ in the lives of these people can break down these bars and overcome the power of Satan. Reference was also made to the deadly grip of Mohammedanism that was taking hold of the unhappy heathen tribes. While the Christian Church was singing about a "mighty army" Islam was marching into the field and possessing the land.

The "Triumphs of Christ" were very powerfully illustrated in the narration of the conversions of pagan men and women. Conversions in a particular tribe are not always numerous, but "we must remember what Jesus did with twelve men." Christ, to many Christians to-day, once a reality, has now become but a shadow. But to the converted African, Christ is an outstanding reality. The degraded position of the women and girls and the immoral lives of the men and boys were shown to be the logical outcome of spiritual darkness. The preaching of the gospel is the only hope. Purity and truth are the fruits of the Gospel. To be moral in a Christian land is to be expected. But in a pagan land, where ignorance, superstition, vice and immorality reign, every true conversion is a miracle of the grace of God. It is an infallible testimony to the presence of the super-natural Christ in the life of man.

WHAT ABOUT FAIRVIEW ?

Another Letter Asking that Some Action be Taken Toward Perpetual Care

Editor Free Press:

Dear Sir:

Allow me a little space to bring attention once more to Fairview Cemetery. I have been waiting patiently for some active result of the controversy of a few weeks ago, but seemingly interest has died down or else people are waiting like myself to see what happens and to hope for the best. Couldn't a meeting be called of people interested to see Fairview beautiful and looked after properly? Meetings are called for other affairs in town, so why not this which means so much to some older people who have bought plots years ago might not see the necessity for a change, but imagine the feelings of some who have to be content with a plot in the new part, the slope facing south. This place is particularly a disgrace, and as I happen to have a dear one laid there words cannot describe my feelings after a recent visit there. The place is covered with weeds and brush of all descriptions, no paths visible, only the stakes here and there tell of past burials. One individual may look after their plot and the ones surrounding are left neglected and to grow wild. For the peace of mind of present and future plot owners, this place at least might be terraced off with paths made and certainly some trees planted. The sun beats down here all day, and it is almost impossible to grow grass or anything else. My feelings concerning the place are such that it can't be made too beautiful. I certainly am in favor of the perpetual care system and trust sincerely that some steps toward improvement will be taken very soon, and I'm sure it will relieve many people's feelings.

MOTHER LOVE

A HALTON COUNTY FAMILY WON FIRST PRIZE

At the Canadian National Exhibition in Class Two

In the large family contest at the Canadian National Exhibition the winners of the first prize in class two (parents British, children Canadian), Mr. Walter Hayward, of R. R. No. 1, Hornby, and his family won first place. A conversation reported in the Toronto Star with Mr. Hayward gives interesting items regarding this Halton County family.

"Early to bed and early to rise, and lots of jersey milk," was the smiling way that Walter Hayward explained his fine family.

"And don't forget that they were raised in the country," said a friend.

"On a 165-acre farm, in Halton County live these eleven children and their parents. The eldest is just 20, and the baby a dear little girl of five months who is the 'Joy' of the family. Joy would have been entered in the baby show to-day, but the Haywards are not selfish and feel that two first prizes enough for one year. They are members of the United Church and the children are regular attendants at Sunday School. They are just as good as they look," said their father.

"Edith, the eldest girl, has stopped going to school, and is at home helping her mother, but the rest are at school and doing well. After they decided to enter the competition, Mrs. Hayward and Edith worked on new dresses for all the girls, with the result they had real "Made-in-Canada" clothes on, and hats as well, of the same dainty colored floral crepe."

Miss Edith, aged 20, won a gold mesh bag, having been adjudged the prettiest girl over sixteen in the big family contests.

LET'S EXHIBIT OUR OWN

Here's an idea which, while it may be a little belated for practical working out at this year's Fair, should be kept in mind for another year. Something the Chamber of Commerce might well take up enthusiastically.

Have Acton really represented at our own Fair, with exhibits of our manufactured goods.

There are no exhibits of more general interest at the Canadian National Exhibition than the groups of manufactured goods which have been assembled from various cities in the second story of the Coliseum building the past three or four years. No town anywhere Acton's size could make any more worthy exhibits of home manufacturers. And to have this right at home, where our own people, first of all, and then the thousands of visitors, could see what our people really make, would be one of the finest bits of publicity the town could have. Attempts have been made in the past, it is true, to encourage exhibits of this nature by the offer of a special prize, but this has not by any means been large enough to warrant going to any particular trouble to make a display.

The FREE PRESS is assured that if the matter were taken up energetically by some local body, the local manufacturers would be quite ready to co-operate. One side of the hall might well be given over to a local exhibit, of this kind, and if space was not available, it would not be an expensive matter to secure a large tent for the two days of the fair, as Oakville does for several of the classes of exhibits.

Imagine the educative value of such a series of exhibits. With leather of various grades, children's shoes, gloves, knitted wear and automobile parts the whole hall could be occupied. And there are half a dozen other local products to be added to these.

It is quite possible, also, that the idea would spread. We should like very much to see a display of Milton's manufactured products at the County Fair, and of those from Georgetown at the Esquesing Fair. Nor is it anything but favorable publicity, even if some of the products are not consumed in quantity in the district, to have people know what one another are working with and for. Let's have the matter arranged in time for the Acton Fair of 1926.

"THE TEN COMMANDMENTS" COVERS TIME AND TERRITORY

The Red Sea and San Francisco are about five thousand miles apart. The Israelites, led by Moses on their exodus from Egypt, are separated by about forty centuries from Sunday afternoon jazz dancing to-day. Yet, Cecil B. DeMille has managed to put them together convincingly in his picturization of "The Ten Commandments." This great Paramount picture is coming to the Wonderland Theatre on Friday, where it will be shown for the first time at popular prices.

The modern story opens on a devout mother driving one of her two sons from home because he will not "apologize to God," for what she believes sacrilege. The son goes out into the world, not bitterly, but boyishly exultant, to smash every commandment. Then DeMille develops his theme that "if you try to break the Ten Commandments, they'll break you."

A gorgeous Biblical episode, done in natural colors, is enacted by such popular players as Estelle Taylor, Theodore Roberts, James Neill, Charles de Roche, and Lawson Butt. The two million persons who have paid from one to two dollars to see this greatest of Paramount Pictures testify that the highest point the cinema art has yet reached, has been achieved in this most ambitious directorial effort of Cecil B. DeMille.

FEDERATED JEWISH FARMERS' ASSOCIATION

President M. Saxe presided at meeting in Toronto, at Which Hon. J. S. Martin Spoke

An enthusiastic meeting of the Federated Jewish Farmers of Ontario took place at the University Avenue Synagogue last week, at which about 500 people were present. President M. Saxe occupied the chair. The first speaker, Hon. John S. Martin, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, spoke of farming as the basic industry that was rapidly increasing in attractiveness, both from the point of view of living conditions and remuneration. It had been largely practised by Jews in the past, and there was no reason why it should not be at present.

Rabbi Schwartz pointed out that agriculture had been part and parcel of Jewish life and religion in the past, until the Jews had been driven off the land. He made reference to the success attained by Jewish farmers in Palestine and elsewhere, and declared that greater assistance would be offered to Jews desiring to come to Canada as farmers.

Rabbi Isserman stressed the fact that there was a great back-to-the-land movement throughout the Jewish world at present, and stated that it was up to the Jews in Canada to help those of their race who desired to take up farming here. J. J. Glass, the secretary of the federation, pointed out that so far the Jewish farmers in Canada had done all the work and put up all the money and now needed the assistance of the Jews in the cities.

Seventy new associate members were enrolled, and about $300 collected.

WHAT THEY WANTED

We all long for the "hills of home." One man born near the marshes, declares that nothing refreshes him like the sight of a haystack; and another builds all his desires on a rocky hillside.

A soldier in the war—not in the late war, but in the one between the North and the South—says that he was one day lying in a trench, wet, hungry and homesick. The misery of the situation came over him, and he whispered to the man next to him who, like himself, was from Massachusetts:

"Of, if I could get a whiff of the Joppa clam shanties!"

But the other man had not come from Newport, with its fishing "Joppas." He was from Fitchburg, where he worked on the railroad, and now he spoke with scorn:

"I don't want none o' your clam smells. Give me tar!"
