

THE WOODS

And I have loved the woods, boundless woods,
In all their glory and their majesty,
Magnificent—the forest solitude,
Eloquent of God and liberty.
Yes, I loved them ever since I was a child.
When of the mighty trees the shade
I sought,
Where Nature as a Mother on me smiled,
And in her love a lofty language taught,
Unknown to the vain world, until their name
Unto my heart was an enchanter's wand,
Arouning my spirit until at last
I was healed, and finding to take my stand
Where never the foot of the spoiler tread,
In the Great Temple of the Living God.

FROM ACTON, ENGLAND

Brief Items of Interest Gleaned From the Express and Gazette

Lady Britain is paying a short visit to her father, Sir Robert Harvey, at Dunridge, Totnes, Devonshire.
E. B. Whitmarsh, of Priory-road, Bedford Park, was fined £2 at Richmond Police Court last week, for exceeding the speed limit.
Mr. J. McKinn, Chataway-gardens, Acton, has been invited by several of the affiliated organizations to speak for the Associated Advertising Clubs of the West.
At the end of September a series of Thursday night services, to last during the winter, will be started at the Acton Parish Church. A sermon will be preached on each of these occasions.
It is hoped that the new Acton Rectory will be ready for occupation on the 20th inst. Since December 1 the Rector and his family have been in occupation of the temporary rectory in Pierpoint-road, which has to be vacated on the date mentioned.
The death occurred at "Seaview," Durban, Natal, on August 16, of Mr. R. W. Harwin, J.P., I.O.S., aged 76, late Chief Accountant of the Natal Government Railway. The deceased gentleman was a brother of Mr. R. Harwin, Acton, whom he occasionally visited, and he had, therefore, a number of friends here.

Mr. S. Lord, borough treasurer of Acton, left town last week-end for his annual holiday, the first part of which was spent at S. Malo.
The Rev. L. A. Ford, of All Saints Church, South Acton, will be ordained to the priesthood at St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday, October 4. He will go into retreat at his residence from October 10 until October 17.
Interviewed on his arrival at Sydney on Monday, Sir Harry Brittain, announced his intention to concentrate on air communications, in the confident belief that an Anglo-Australian airship service would soon be accomplished.

An open air meeting under the auspices of the Ealing Conservative and Unionist Association will be held on Friday next at 8 p.m. at St. Mary's square, South Ealing. Mr. John T. Hunt will refer to the Stamford and Mr. W. Avers (National Union) will be the speakers.
On Saturday afternoon Mr. G. Gleysher, of 15, Albany-road, Acton, was walking in Acton Park when he was suddenly taken ill. A constable called Dr. Parhamson, who finding that Mr. Gleysher was suffering from heart trouble, ordered his removal to Acton Hospital, where he was detained for treatment and a rest.

Extensive repairs are being effected to the organ at St. Thomas's, Acton Vale, and, as the organ is being used to accompany the singing for a few Sundays, during the absence of the organist (Mr. Warren) on his summer holiday, the place is being filled by the deputy-choirmaster of the church, Mr. C. W. Handie.

For exceeding the speed limit at Uxbridge-road and Horn-lane, Acton, the following motorists were fined at Acton Police Court on Wednesday: William A. Pike, £3; Joseph J. Thorn, £3; Albert R. Pike, £3; and Edgar E. Warn, £2.
"The only thing to do is to give up the beer," said John Greenham, a laborer, of Colville-road, South Acton, when he was fined £10 at the Acton Police Court. He pleaded guilty and after his record had been referred to the Chairman warned him that if he was not very careful he would land himself in a difficult position, owing to the number of times he had been in trouble.

When Sidney H. Harrison, Independent, of Cathrow-road, Shepherd's Bush, was charged at Acton Police Court on Saturday with being inebriated drunk at Acton Hill, it was stated that he was found clinging to a water pipe on Friday night. He was quite incapable of taking care of himself, and was removed to the police station by two constables. Accused, who explained that he had only left the hospital that morning, and over-indulged on meeting friends, was fined 10s.

WINTERING BEES OUTDOORS

To winter bees successfully three things are necessary: (1) Strong colonies of young bees. (2) An abundance of wholesome stores. (3) Adequate protection. To neglect any one of these is to invite disaster. Weak colonies should be strengthened in the fall. The winter supply of stores should be given not later than the first week in October. The time that protection is given will depend upon the method used.
Outdoor wintering is rapidly gaining in favor, and bees are now being wintered in packing cases where once it was, thought they could not survive. Bees may be wintered in single, double or four-story cases. The latter are more economical as less material is required for each hive. Which ever case is used it should be made large enough to allow four to six inches of insulating material between the hives and wall of case on the bottom and all four sides, and from six to eight inches on top, with at least one inch of air space between top packs should stand close together in the case with no packing between them. A tunnel must also be provided between the hive entrance and flight hole in the case. Colonies to be wintered should be placed in the cases during the latter end of September or early October and the bottom and side packing given. The hive covers should be removed to allow the hives to come closely together. As soon as the colonies are in the cases, give them all the food they will take down. The feeding should be done as rapidly as possible, and as often as it is needed, until next spring. Outdoor wintering best should be protected from prevailing winds by a good windbreak. For full information on the subject write to the Publishing Branch, Department of Agriculture, or the Bee Division, Experimental Farms, Ottawa, for pamphlet No. 22 on "Wintering bees in Canada." C. B. Gooderham, Dominion Apiarist.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

Pat—"An awful accident up street!"
Mike—"What happened?"
Pat—"A car ran into a garage."

MEMORIES

The little things that happen
Are tucked into your mind,
And that memory you forget,
Or most of them, you'll find
And some come and or happy,
Of all sorts and degrees,
They crowd into your thinking
We call them Memories.
But some of them are rovers,
And wander off, and get
Quite lost among their travels,
And that memory you forget,
But those which are the brightest,
And those which never rove,
(You'll find them always shining)
Are just the things you love.

THE OLD MAN OF THE BIG CLOCK TOWER

Your estimation of a couple of weeks ago to write of incidents you might have omitted is going to get an R. W. of some men. They are really modern and will possibly interest only those not over forty years of age. Some of us remember a real well when with the Statham Bros. yelling across the field, "Over to Enoch and down to Enoch" etc., but this incident I remember so well had to do with a later team when "Shimmy Mac" Bub Taylor, a famous English runner, was racing here that day was from Brighton and our boys got a beating, and of course the crowd was shouting and cheering the other team was dirty and everything else. At the close of the game feeling ran high and it looked as if the crowd needed protection to get off the playing grounds. John Williams' bus was called into commission to convey the visitors to the station, as they would not get mobbed, and Chief John Lawson was on hand to give police protection.

As soon as the names over the visitors were bundled into the bus, the windows of which had been closed down, all but the one in the back, Chief Lawson mounted a guard on the back step to keep the fans from going into the bus. The younger element had a shower of rotten eggs as their outlet of feelings and had the goods on hand to deliver when the bus rolled out of the station. The windows were closed down, and a rotten egg wouldn't break a window anyway. There was only that one spot open, and it was the window in the back of the Chief. It was worth a chance, and one of the more venturesome youths let go. The aim was good, but the egg was intended to go, and many a year ago did you not think you could imagine the clearing away of youthful fans to escape the ire of the law. That was the last shot delivered in the battle.

I don't seem to remember so much about church incidents, although I was a regular attendant, but I do remember her how every time I moved my feet I struck the board along the bottom of the seat and made an awful clatter, and I remember quite well in Rev. Mr. McLaughlin's time that the other "Younger Old Man" speaks about the wonder of the new church, that the ceiling painted to represent the skies and golden stars scattered about and the Sunday it was first used.
I remember that that seems to stick pretty strongly in my memory is the cathedral parades that used to be held. I mean the ones when John Cleverly's army was fixed up with a rack to accommodate the band. When "Topsy" Gardiner used to wear a hat with a big red plume and one of the Harris boys used to be the chief clown, and after the parade was over, finish the milk delivery from the dairy owned about these parades and I believe most of us would like to hear them.

This has been kind of a rambling letter, but as I set out to think about these things, and that me off for a while so I can do some things around the house that have been neglected, and I'll be back again when the young men "peter out."
Yours truly,
"ANOTHER YOUNGER OLD MAN"

And that's that. I wonder who will be next in this string of recollections. I've been enjoying them and they have given me the opportunity to stroll around the fair grounds and watch the progress being made there. I am counting on meeting a lot of old friends on Tuesday and Wednesday and renewing acquaintances. Mary says it is a fine thing for those other chaps to be writing and that me off for a while so I can do some things around the house that have been neglected, and I'll be back again when the young men "peter out."
