Christmas

The Tree and the Candle

Said the little Christmas candle

To the little Christmas tree,

But of course you must agree

"We're both of us important

I'm twice as bright as you are,

You'd never make a hit at all

In being Christmas Tree !"

Said the tree then to the candle,

"Your gay illumination

Is particularly bright,

The candle softly twinkled.

And his tone was most polite,

But allow me one small question

To make me shine at night?"

And then at last said she.

"I guess that I am here for you,

· And you are here for me!"

Which seems both fair and right-

Can you not see you're merely meant

BRBBBB

It's the joy in every heart that's all transforming.

It's the thinking of each other and the kindness,

It's comforting the weak, the old, the small,

It's the welcome, and the door a-swinging open,

It's the eager self-forgetting, the uplifting,

That glories the season for us all,

At Christmas

It's the smiles and wondrous-secrets maybe, too.

That somehow makes this old world seem like new

It's the greetings and the meetings, long remembered

It's the hymns of praise, and bells a sweetly ringing.

That makes us love each blessed Christmas day.

It's the glowing fires, and the holly berries gay. ....

And if it were'nt for me.

Last Day for Christmas Shopping Just one day more for Christmas shopping. Merchants of Acton have out-done themselves in securing stock that is new and most acceptable at this season of the year. Real Help to Young People The young people of the Acton and Vassagaweya communities should promptly send in their applications for the splendid short courses arranged for the next two months. The opportunities offered for special expert instruction are well worth the embracing. To those who go heartily into the courses chosen there will be real profit and help for the future.

Milton Men out of Work For some time there has been no employment problem in Milton, but that happy state of affairs has come to an end for a time, perhaps until next spring. About two weeks ago the Toronto Brick Co., Ltd., taid off a large number of hands. The Milton Pressed Brick Co., Ltd., is doing so this week. The loss of work by so many men, though temporary, will be a serious matter for them and their families.—Champion.

Induction of New Elders Impressive indeed was the address the newly-elected elders at Knox Church last Sunday morning. The new elders whose induction took place are: Messes. Christmas Cantata Next Sunday The evening service in the Unite Church next Sunday will be devoted o the Christmas cantats, "The Light f the World." This splendid setting is very fitting for the Christmas season. The Church Choir has been working on it for some time, and the rehearsals have manifested an unusually fine rendering. The Christmas choruses last Sunday were regarded as exceptionally meritorious in their harmony and the reverent spirit predominating, but the cantata for next and his energetic staff of workers are Sunday evening-promises to be a most naturally pleased with the success of inspiring rendering of sacred song.
