THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1926 THE PRINTER.

t may bo sad, but still 'us true, . There's one thing all us humans do, And that is, blame the printer. He does his best, without our help, For all we do is stand and yelp, Then cuss, and blame the printer. We write our manuscript by pen, To read it is beyond our ken,

Yet we expect the printer To dope 4t out and get it right. We think not of his time or sight; If wrong-wo blame the printer. We hold our stuff until the last,

Then try to rush it through so fast The printer gets snowed under. But still we camp upon his trail, And prod him on with weeful tale, Or rant and roar like thunder.

He shoots it through, the proof we get Nell's bells! the job is not right yet, We chop that proof to splinters.

It takes two days before he knows Just what each helroglyphic shows-A dumb lot are those printers. The job's delivered. Some relief!

We ought to thank the printer. But no! The poor gink's out of time, He overcharged us one whole dime. nce mere we cuss the printer. -Edson S. Dunbar

WANTED A LITTLE PRAISE HIM-

Following a disasterous fire in Western city, many men and women gathered to look at the rules. Some of the men, seeing that a wall near which they were standing was toppling, made haste to get out of the way, and marrowly escaped being crushed. Johnny Brabison, a good Irish citizen, was so near the wall that he could not escape with the others. So whirling about, he made for a door in the wall, burst through it, and came out safe on the other side, and evidently very proud of his exploit. Women who had shut their eyes and shreiked when they saw his danger, now gathered round him in great joy, and cried out: "Praise heaven, Johnny, Brabison,
