—Mr. Garbutt Goodall, of Belwood, the efficient clerk and road superintendent of West Gt. Toronto, has resigned these positions, the same to take effect as soon as possible. Mr. Goodall has purchased a butcher business at Fort York and expects to leave almost any day.—Fergus News-Ticker.
—The group of Acton ball enthusiasts who were to witness the big double-header professional baseball game between Toronto and Baltimore, were much disappointed owing to the prevailing rain storm. They worked out their disappointment largely on the Exhibition midway, however.

POLICE COURT NEWS

A search warrant was issued last Thursday to discover quantity of equipment suspected of having been removed from the bankrupt Corke Yarn Mill, upon which a mortgage was recently foreclosed by the Corporation of Georgetown. Provincial Constable Owens and Chief Jackson found about 20 feet of leather belting, three 12 to 14 inch pulleys and other goods in the Georgetown Tannery, and Victor Higgins, an employee of the tannery, admitted having taken the articles from the Corke Mill. He was arrested and committed to the county jail for trial. On Monday morning he came before Police Magistrate Moore at the Court House, Milton, and pleaded guilty to the charges. He was fined $100, with costs, and committed to the county jail for 30 days. He was allowed out on bail of $1,500, given by himself, Morris Saxo and Mr. Higgins. Crown Attorney Dick acted for the crown.

Found guilty on two charges involving reckless driving and of not returning to the scene of the accident, Sam Snowman, of Toronto, driver of the White Star Bus Company, was fined $75 and costs by Magistrate Shields last week, at Oakville. Snowman was arrested on Sunday night, August 15, having forced a motorcycle driven by William Robertson, to block Avenue West at a short distance west of Oakville. Mrs. Robertson, who was riding in the sledcar, sustained such injuries that she was unable to make an appearance in the court room.—Star.

On Wednesday Burt Hodgson, a young man of Burlington, appeared before P. M. Crawford, charged with negligent driving. Late on the night of August 21 his car struck the standing car of the White Star Bus Company at the corner beyond Huttonville. Hodgson had been to the Huttonville Hotel for the night, and was returning in his car, was probably rather reckless and had a fit of "show off." He broke left's fender and running board, and turned himself about face on the road. The Bell party are said to have been showered with abuse and profanity for the rest of the ride, and were told to stay in the States. Hodgson was fined $75 and costs.—Brampton Banner.

The four cases against James Clark, of Georgetown, were remanded at his request, came up for trial before Police Magistrate Moore at the Police Court, Georgetown, last Wednesday afternoon. Clark pleaded guilty to unlawfully having liquor and was fined $100 and costs. He was committed to the county jail for 30 days. The charges against Clark were: (1) the care or control of a motor car, and three witnesses for defence, he was convicted and sentenced to seven days' imprisonment in the county jail. On the charge of manufacturing an offence in the discharge of his duty, Provincial Constable Owens agreed to withdraw the charge if Clark would apologize to the complainant, his name, and insulting language. J. M. Kearns, Crown Attorney, Guelph, James Haverson, K. O., of Toronto, for the prosecution.

LABOR DAY SUNDAY

Appropriate and Helpful Sermons in the Churches in Town

The approaching of Labor Day holds a special significance for the subjects of the sermons and the selections of hymns in the churches on Sunday, and numerous thoughts and aspirations, consistent with this well-timed holiday were the result of the church services of the day.
In the United Church Rev. R. E. Zimmerman, B.A., preached a very appropriate sermon at the morning service from St. Paul's exhortation to the working people of his day in Col. 3: 23, "And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men."
The closing hymn at this service, in which Henry Van Dyke, in his inimitable way, puts the experience and sympathy and fellow-feeling of Christ the Carpenter of Nazareth, into helpful verse, was a very timely feature.
They who tread the path of labor,
Follow where My feet have trod;
They who work without complaining,
Do the holy will of God;
Never more thou needest seek Me,
I am with thee everywhere;
Raise the stone and thou shalt find Me,
Cleave the wood and I am there.
Where the many toll together,
There I will be with thee;
Where the tired workman sleepeth,
I am with him in slumber;
I, the Peace that passeth knowledge,
Dwell amid the daily strife;
I, the Father who never broken,
In the sacrament of life.
Every task, however simple,
Sets the soul that does it free;
Ere the day is over,
Done to man, is done to me.
Born with a lowly stable,
Where the oxen found me stood,
Trained a carpenter—in Nazareth,
I have toiled and found it good.
At Knox Church Rev. A. C. Stewart, M.A., was the centrally preached by the members of his congregation, who braved the elements, after five weeks' absence. His topics were timely and encouraging. In the morning he preached on "The Unlifted Christ," and in the evening his theme was "The Successful Church." Naturally the rainy weather during the day reduced the attendance at both services.
Rev. J. L. Harton, of Toronto, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist Church on Sunday. His sermons were clear explications of gospel truth, and were especially appropriate to Labor Day.

HARVEST HELP WANTED

The Excursions Were Short in the Supply Taken West Last Month

There is a shortage of harvest help to garner the wheat and other grain crops in western Canada, even though wages as high as $5 a day with board are being paid.
Harvesting and threshing is now in full swing throughout the Canadian West and additional hands are very urgently wanted by the farmers in many districts. The contingents have not been nearly as large as expected, and consequently the shortage is causing much anxiety among farmers with large areas of high-grade wheat, oats, barley, rye and flax to cut and thresh before the arrival of the fall frosts.
In order to relieve the labor situation both the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway have announced that, commencing September 1st, and continuing to September 15th, inclusive, all points along the international border between the United States and Canada will be open to harvesters and that a charge of one cent per mile on the railways will be made between these points to collect the wheat harvesters, while the fare back to the border will be at the rate of two cents a mile.

BREAKING UP THE OLD HOME

A Pathetic Incident in Local Family History During the Week

More than twenty-five years ago Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, of Collingwood, established their home in Acton. Through the intervening years it has been the home centre of the family. "This was the happiest of childhood" the surviving members will always recall with happy memories of the past.
How fond recollection dwells, with each member, to dwell upon the events which marked the early pathway when unbroken home-circle presented scenes of pleasure rarely sought but in the bosom of a happy family. Intervening years have not dimmed the vivid coloring with which memory has adorned those joyous hours of youthful experiences. But with the passing of the years the declination of the family slowly but surely proceeded.
The oldest, went into business in St. Thomas; Percy got married and made a home for himself in Brandon, Man. Oscar has a flourishing business in Pontiac; Warren, a graduate engineer of Toronto University, went with the first contingent of Canadian engineers to the war in 1915, and now sleeps in one of the beautifully-kept Canadian cemeteries in France; Ernest has a good position in Toronto; Bertha is a member of the Teaching Staff of Toronto Schools, and Ray is B.A. student of the staff of Toronto University. He was the last to leave home and now has a home of his own on Indian Grove with Margaret Stewart, the eldest daughter of Principal Stewart, Milton, formerly of Acton School, as the matron presiding there.

Three years ago the beloved father of the home passed away, and last spring the devoted and adored mother was suddenly called home.
Since that sad event Miss Fern, the only member of the family remaining in Acton, who is Deputy Registrar in Acton Post Office and organist in the United Church, has been the only one left to care for the home. Some of the others were here on brief visits. The breaking up of the home was therefore inevitable, as Miss Fern could not, with any degree of satisfaction, keep house and perform the duties of her office. It was therefore decided to give up the home, and during the week-end the Toronto members of the family visited with Miss Fern for the last time. The house on Church Street has now been given up, the furniture and furnishings dispersed, and the home of this family of Brown is no more, and this place of refuge and of rest, of happy home-comings and pleasant social reunions, has been a fact which comes to all homes sooner or later. There is a pathos in the thought and genuine sympathy for the members of the family who will most keenly feel the breaking up of the home, which was so real to her for her lifetime.

HEROES OF PEACE

When the storm howls on a winter night, and from the shelter of a comfortable home one hears the snow or sleet driven against the window-pane, it is natural, at least for those who live near the sea, to think of the perils to which sailors are exposed. With this thought may well be blended some recognition of the brave men who are waiting to give succor to vessels in need.
From nearly two hundred stations on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, and from seventy more on the Great Lakes and the Pacific, the heroic men, who are saving service patrol the coast on such nights, keeping a sharp lookout for vessels in distress. It rarely happens when a ship goes ashore, which along the extended American seaboard that the life-savers are not at hand to give aid. Few know their names and their daring deeds are seldom mentioned in the newspapers; but they are as ready to risk their lives as if their names were to be gazetted for bravery.
In 1918, the serious work of the crews began early with the Atlantic blizzard which swept the Atlantic coast late in November. Nearly two-thirds of all the recorded icebergs on the coast for the year occurred in that single storm. Altogether, the crews saved nearly four thousand persons who were aboard vessels which had met with some disaster; and they saved more than six million dollars' worth of property.
There is little danger that the heroes of war will be denied the glory which their courage merits, but the heroes of peace, who risk and sometimes lose their lives to save others, deserve recognition also.

A GREAT CONVENIENCE

About three miles from his place of business lives Mr. Jones, and he goes back and forth every day in his automobile. Now, Mr. Jones has a kind, generous heart, and when he sees a pedestrian struggling his way, he will often offer the man a "lift."
One morning, shortly leaving home, he saw a large Irishman struggling along with a huge bundle. He stopped his car and said politely:
"Mayn't I give you a lift, madam?"
"In that thing?" she said. "I never rode in one in all my life."
"Well, jump in," he said; and when she had climbed in and deposited her bundle on the seat beside her, they started on.
After he had covered a mile, Mr. Jones became a little uneasy; but he kept on for nearly another mile, and then turned and said: "Where do you want to go, madam?"
She gave him a broad smile and a gracious nod of the head, and replied, "Anywhere you wish; it makes no difference to me."
"But where were you going when I took you in?" asked Mr. Jones.
"Oh," she said, "only to the next house!"
And kind Mr. Jones had to turn back and take her two miles to the "next house."

BEING REDUCED PIECEMEAL

A neglected street urchin was committed to Juvenile Hall, where he was given a bath and dressed in clean clothes. Then his hair was cut short and his finger nails trimmed. As his appearance seriously interfered with his breathing, they were removed. All this he stood without complaint, but when a little later the matron noticed a big unsightly wart on his hand and said: "Tommy, I'm going to have that wart off," a look of disgust spread over Tommy's face.
"Get!" he exclaimed. "Don't you let a feller keep anything here!"

UNTRUTHFUL MEN

A woman living on a lonely farm has taken great comfort for some years in the society of the numerous hens and chickens, some of which she thinks have almost human intelligence. Her hens are all named, and she speaks of them and their various peculiarities in such a manner as to almost deceive an uninitiated listener into believing that she regards them as human beings.
"There, Sarah Ann is making a great racket," cried a young neighborly visitor at the farm, one summer morning. "She must have laid an egg."
"Fshaw, child," replied the aunt, in an exasperated tone. "When you have known Sarah Ann as long as I have, you won't be so believe. She never lays an egg, and she may not, she lies so that you can't place a mite of dependence on what she says, not one mite!"

To the Electors of Halton County
15 years of the greatest era of progress and prosperity Canada has ever known (1896-1911) closed with the defeat of Laurier's Liberal Government in 1911. This was succeeded in 1911 by the Borden and Meighen Conservative Governments, which came to an end in 1921: The concluding years of this regime were characterized by indecision, inefficiency, extravagance, and huge additions to the public debt.
In 1921 the Liberal Government of Mr. Mackenzie King succeeded the Meighen Government.—The affairs of Canada were in a most chaotic condition—the going was hard—world affairs were at a low ebb. Since that time, with the assistance of the Progressives, the affairs of Government have again been put on a sound basis. Public expenditure has been cut down; the National debt is being reduced; the railways are being soundly administered, and will soon be on a paying basis. There is a revival of Agriculture; good prices are being obtained for all the products of the soil, and the farmers are again becoming prosperous. Immigration to Canada is again assuming splendid proportions, and in the first quarter of this year over 20,000 Canadians returned home from the U. S. Sales taxes have been reduced; the 2c postage is restored; and will save the people thousands of dollars in Halton alone; the duties on Agricultural Implements and Motor Cars have been reduced in a manner resulting in larger sales, and better profits to these industries, and at the same time giving cheaper implements and Motor Cars to the people. Mr. Robb has promised that further reductions in such taxation will take place, if the King Government is returned to power on Sept. 14th next. Its return will mean a continuation, and extension of those policies which have been so effective in restoring good times to Canada, and will bring in an era of prosperity undreamed of in past times. These are the real issues; to obscure them, and draw hearing across the trial, all kinds of petty scandals are being shouted from the houseposts; this is done to befog the issues, obscure the facts, and divert public attention from the achievements of the King Administration, and frighten the people into voting for Meighen Candidates.
