42; 10: 13-16,

The Text Explained 15. Unto her people and unto her God-This logical thing for either of these young widows to have done was to return to her father's home, resuming the worship of the Moubite Too Chesinosh (which apparently they had given up in order to worship Jehovah, the God of their husbands), and, in their father's house, await the possibility of a new marriage. 16-17- Love is greater than logic. Ruth renounces her home and allowits associations. She gives herself entirely to Naomi. 19. Bethlehem-Means literally "A House-of-Bread" or "Place-of-Food." 20-21. Naomi, in true Oriental spirit, accepts the misfortunes that have come to her. Of all that she has had, family and possessions, naught remains but her Moabite daughter-inlaw, who is as destitute as she. 22. The beginning of barley harvest-Early in April.

Lesson Themes The Unintending Missionary. Naomi had no thought of being a misstonary. She lived in a time when gods were thought of as belonging to the tribe or nation. Jehovah was the God of Israel. Chemosh was the god of Monb. The idea of seeking to convert a foreigner from the worship of his national gods had not yet occurred to anyone. But Naomi's love

Little Girls' Game Causes Heartache

To Lonely Mother Two little girls sit at a window playing a game. They make believe that every woman they see coming up that every woman they see coming up the street is mamma coming home to them. They shut their eyes until she gets almost to the door and then open them hoping it is really the one they long to see. They firmly believe that some day their wonderful dreams will come true. Mother knows of this game, and she is doing her best to make it come out right; but just at present she is having no small struggle to stay on this earth at all.

She is taking the cure at the Muskoka Hospital, but had allowed herself to become so greatly run down that there isn't much left of her for the kindly nurses and doctors to build upon. The wonderful quiet of the great hospital, and the care she is getting, are soothing to her worried mind and body. Some day she hopes to be with her little daughters again. Contributions may be sent to Hon. W. A. Charlton, President, 223 College Street, Toronto 2, Ontario.
